SOVIET CLEARS RAILROAD FOR ARMY FORCES

MAH IS HELD READY TO LEAD EXPEDITION

Russia Acts After Japanese Troop Movement Toward Siberian Frontier.

Tokyo, Wednesday, March 16 (U.P.). Soviet military activities along the Manchurian frontier were reported today by reliable foreign sources.

The Soviet authorities canceled regular traffic on part of the Ussuri Railroad, which runs along the Manchurian frontier, to make way for movement of military forces, the messages said.

The Russian officials were said to have declared the military required the use of the railroad as a result of Japanese troop movements toward the Siberian frontier of Manchuria on the pretext of subduing the Chinese mutiny at Heiho, or Taheiho, directly across the Amur River from Blagovestchensk.

Regular Traffic Halted.

All regular traffic on the railroad from Vladivostok, near the Eastern border of Manchuria, to Blagovestchensk, on the northern frontier, was halted.

Harbin, Manchuria, March 15 (U.P.).—Warfare in Manchuria, chiefly directed against the new pro-Japanese government of Henry Pu-Yi, appeared tonight to be spreading along the north and western frontiers adjoining Soviet Russia.

Ma Ready to Lead.

Gen. Ma Chan-Shan, the Chinese militarist who defended Tsitsihar from the Japanese and later joined the invading forces in setting up the new independent government, was understood to be prepared to lead an expedition against the "rebel" or anti-Japanese forces in the districts of Manchouli and Heiho.

Both Manchouli, on the western frontier, and Heiho, on the north, are near the Russian frontier, which is heavily guarded by the reinforced Soviet special Far Eastern army.

(United Press.)

The American Government last night found no reason for immediate alarm in the reported military activities along the north Manchurian border, although aware that the tension between Soviet Russia and Japan is potentially dangerous.

The State Department had no reports on military movements on the Manchurian border or of special arrangements for the transport of troops on the Ussuri Railroad. Official word reached Washington some time ago that Moscow was concentrating troops at Vladivostok, but further information as to their movements has been meager.

Fundamentally, all information available here indicates that Russia and Japan do not want war. The Soviet state is understood to be so intent on successfully finishing its five-year plan that it would make every effort to avoid permitting the economic inroads of war to disrupt it. Japan, on its part, is believed to be too fully occupied carrying out its South Manchurian program to court danger from Russia.

Italo-Spanish Treaty On Commerce Signed

Madrid, Spain, March 15 (A.P.).—The Ministry of State today announced the signing of an Italian-Spanish commercial treaty in Rome, to take effect on March 31, on which date the text will be made public.

Order for Six-Hour Day Inquiry Signed

Hoover Approves Plan for I. C. C. Probe of Its Feasibility.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday agreed with Congress that the Interstate Commerce Commission should ascertain what effect a six-hour day would have upon railroads and employment. He signed a joint resolution adopted by House and Senate ordering the commission to make an investigation as to the possibility of establishing the "short day for railway workers."

Under the measure a report must be made to Congress by next December 15. It must include estimates of the cost of establishing a six-hour day for "all classes and each particular class" of workers. The commission also is directed to determine what effect the shorter day would have on operation and service.

The resolution passed the House, where it originated, by a large majority, only Representative Blanton (Democrat), Texas, objecting to it.

House Farm Leaders Talk With Hoover

(Associated Press.)

Turning to agriculture's problems, President Hoover last night called in a group of House farm leaders, with Secretary Hyde, for a conference in the White House proper.

The conferees, acceding to the President's request, were silent upon the subject of the meeting as they left the Executive Mansion. Those present, besides Hyde, were Representatives Haugen of Iowa, Purnell of Indiana, and Clarke of New York, all Republican members of the House agriculture committee.

Speculation upon the White House talk was divided between the recent

29 in Institution Trussed; 4 Suspects Taken; Most of Cash Recovered.

Clinton, Iowa, March 15 (A.P.).—Five bank robbers in hoods that made them look like medieval desperadoes, robbed the City National Bank today of $106,000.

State authorities captured four suspects three hours later, recovered $100,500 of the loot and returned it to the bank, which had been open for business as usual during the interim.

Janitor Clyde Willits came down early to start the furnace in the bank, which had deposits of more than $5,000,000. The hooded bandits tied him to a chair in the directors' room. Soon employes began to appear for the day's work.

As each arrived, he was bound, gagged and tossed into the makeshift prison. President G. L. Curtis was dumped unceremoniously on the floor. So were Vice Presidents W. A. Anderson and O. P. Petty, Cashier L. H. Nisser and 25 other employes. Stenographers, messenger boys, elderly financiers, all got the same treatment.

One of the robbers inadvertently cut his own leg severing the fish cord which bound the janitor. They decided to force the latter to continue his dusting, to allay possible suspicion. While the janitor flicked his broom, the bandits smoked cigarettes through the slits in their hoods until 8:30 a. m., when the time locks opened the vaults. Then they freed three assistant cashiers, who unlocked the inner doors.

The robbers pawed over stacks of securities, threw them aside and took only currency, most of it in bills of large denomination, which they put in a pillow case. They sped away in a sedan, which had a collapsible top. The three cashiers immediately rang the alarm and the chase began.

Sheriff E. R. Cooke's men traced the sedan to a farm, after a neighbor reported seeing the bandits throw the loot away. At the farm they abandoned their hoods and their guns and changed their clothes. The deputies gathered up the cash, hurried to Bettendorf, where they arrested one man and then went on to Shafton, where they captured the three others. The suspects said they were Clifford Edwards, Earl Sheakleff, J. M. Moose and Leo Starley.

The bank announced yesterday that it was ready to pay $1,620,000 to depositors of the defunct Peoples' Trust & Savings Bank after having taken over 50 per cent of that institution's assets.

The robbers apparently had hoped to engineer another "bank robbery of the century," only to find a fraction of the money they had hoped for.

Jahncke Says Hoover Has Fulfilled Pledges

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 15 (A.P.). Ernest Lee Jahncke, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, said tonight President Hoover had carried out all the pledges of the 1928 Republican platform and would stand on this record in seeking reelection in November.

Addressing the University of Michigan Union, the "little Cabinet" officer praised the administration emergency relief program and inquired: "Who among the Democratic potentialities would have had the vigor, the courage and ability, and the intelligence to formulate and carry through the Hoover program?"

Wife of Gov. Pollard In Critical Condition

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Mrs. John Garland Pollard, wife of Gov. Pollard, is in a critical condition and is attended by four nurses at the executive mansion.

Mrs. Pollard, for many years a semi-invalid from arthritis, has been confined to her bed for several weeks and her condition lately has been giving her friends great anxiety.

FRANCE AGREES TO ADMIT FRUIT FROM AMERICA

EXCEPTIONS COVER APPLES AND PEARS

Cargoes En Route Favored; Some Shipments to Be Inspected in Port.

Paris, March 15 (U.P.).—American exporters to France won an important concession from the government tonight, when it was decided to amend the fruit embargo to permit almost unrestricted entry for United States products.

The Official Journal tomorrow will announce the amendments to the embargo, favoring American fruit.

Previously, American fruit exporters had been threatened with the loss of almost $10,000,000 trade, and United States Ambassador Walter E. Edge protested to the ministry of agriculture against the restriction which chiefly affected apples.

Rules Under Decree.

The Journal will publish a decree under which fruit from countries affected by the San Jose scale will be permitted to enter on certain conditions:

1. If the shipments are accompanied by a sanitary certificate from officials of the country of origin guaranteeing the fruit is not contaminated by the scale.

2. If sanitary inspectors at French ports verify that the fruit is not contaminated.

The embargo was declared on the ground that pests in imported fruit threatened French orchards. Thousands of barrels of American apples have been held up at Le Havre, but it was understood that all shipments from the United States would fulfill the requirements of the French government.

Entry Ports Named.

Fruit will be permitted to enter only at Le Havre, Bordeaux, Marseille, and Dunkirm. It must be packed in cases, barrels, or sacks.

Edge also induced the ministry of agriculture to lift in part the restrictions on shipments of fruit now en route, or already in port. Thus all fruit shipped before the embargo was announced will be permitted to enter, with the exception of apples and pears.

California, Oregon, and Washington box apples and pears will be permitted to enter without restriction because of stringent sanitary measures in those States. The Virginia, West Virginia, New York, and New Jersey apples and pears will be inspected and if found to be contaminated will be destroyed at the docks.

(Associated Press.)

Lifting of the French embargo against fruit from the United States and other countries last night means reopening of a rich market to Shenandoah Valley apple growers.

In the period from July, 1931, to January, 1932, the United States shipped 301,584 barrels, most of which came from Virginia, and 367,010 boxes. Apple exports to France have been increasing steadily in the last few years.

Word of removal of the ban was not received here officially yesterday, but dispatches from Paris indicated fruit would be admitted under certain regulations intended to prevent introduction of the San Jose scale, a disease that attacks apple trees and other plants.

No protest was made by Virginia growers against the French order, issued last week, because of advices from Paris that regulations would be forthcoming under which the Shenandoah shipments might be admitted.

Former Senator Reed Is Reported Improving

Rochester, Minn., March 15 (A.P.). Improvement was reported by his physician today in the condition of James A. Reed, former senator from Missouri. He was operated on Friday for gall bladder trouble.

The physician said the 70-year-old political leader was taking some nourishment and that his general condition was satisfactory. He asserted the patient was not out of danger but that he looked for no complications. Improvement was shown throughout the day.

Edinburgh, Scotland, March 15 (U.P.).—The university decided today to confer an honorary doctorate on Andrew Mellon, who will be the new United States Ambassador to Great Britain.

North Dakota Casts Heavy Primary Vote

Murray in First Test Since Announcing, While Balloting is Initial Measuring of Roosevelt's Strength Outside New England.

Fargo, N. Dak., March 15 (A.P.).—Early returns in today's presidential primary showed Govs. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma and F. D. Roosevelt of New York running close in their race for the Democratic preference vote. Eleven of the State's 2,235 precincts gave Roosevelt 357, Murray 344.

Indications that a record presidential primary vote had been cast were contained in early reports.

For the Oklahoman it was the first election test since his candidacy was announced. For the New Yorker it meant the initial measuring of vote strength outside of New England.

Favorable weather, local elections and interest in a proposed State constitution amendment to move the seat of government from Bismarck to Jamestown combined to bring out a heavy vote. At Bismarck indications were a record vote was cast.

In this normally Republican State, a larger than usual number of Democratic ballots were called in many communities, election judges said.

At Fargo, early reports showed about 25 per cent of the votes called for Democratic ballots, while four years ago returns from the same precincts showed 13 per cent of voters cast Democratic ballots.

Roosevelt and Murray contested for the State's Democratic preference vote and for control of ten delegates to the national convention.

The preference race on the Republican ticket was between "General" Jacob S. Coxey mayor of Massillon, Ohio, and former Senator J. I. France of Maryland, but neither had instructed convention delegates on the ballot.

President Hoover had a pledged slate of eleven national convention delegates, but was not entered as a candidate in preference voting, which merely revealed the attitude of election participants toward candidates whose names were presented. Convention delegates need not be governed by the outcome of the preference voting.

CANNED FOOD SAVED FROM SALES TAXES

House Leaders, Harried by Opposition, Announce Change in Bill.

By J. B. M'DONNELL.

House leaders, hard pressed by bitter opposition, both in the House and outside, to the manufacturers' sales tax yesterday agreed to exempt canned fruits, vegetables and meats and canned and smoked fish from the tax in their drive to make certain of enough votes to keep the tax in the new $1,096,000,000 revenue measure.

Agreement of the ways and means committee to exempt canned foods was announced by Representative Charles R. Crisp (Democrat), of Georgia, acting chairman of the committee.

The amendment, he estimated, would mean a loss of $11,000,000 in the $596,000,000 revenue it was estimated the sales tax would produce, but Representative Henry T. Rainey (Democrat), of Illinois, majority floor leader, estimated that the agreement had added to the support of the tax the votes of some 25 members who otherwise would have voted to eliminate it.

Mr. Rainey, however, refused to make any estimate of the total votes there would be for the tax on the Democratic side when the question was brought to issue. It is no secret that Democratic leaders are a bit worried over the opposition strength, and it is likely that enactment of the tax will be made possible principally by Republican strength.

Representative Bertrand H. Snell (Republican), of New York, minority leader, told President Hoover yesterday that he was confident that the tax bill would be passed pretty much as it was reported out by the ways and means committee. His estimate, he said afterward, was based on the result of a canvass of the House

ROOSEVELT BACKERS INVITE REPUBLICANS

Boston Mayor Makes Open Appeal as Bay State Slate Is Formed.

Boston, Mass., March 15 (A.P.).—A slate of candidates for delegates-at-large to the Democratic National Convention pledged to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, was placed in the field today in opposition to the slate pledged to Alfred E. Smith announced last week.

The Roosevelt slate, announced tonight by Mayor James M. Curley of Boston, was headed by Mayor Curley and James M. Roosevelt, son of the New York Governor, and marked the beginning of what observers predict will be a bitter contest between the rival Democratic forces for the Massachusetts vote in the primary on April 26.

Coincident with announcement of the Roosevelt-pledged slate, Curley made a frank appeal for Republican support in the primaries.

Curley, who has split with Gov. Joseph B. Ely and United States Senators David I. Walsh and Marcus A. Coolidge because of their support of former Gov. Smith, announced he would advertise in Boston newspapers tomorrow to advise Republicans they have until March 26 to change their party affiliations.

Included in the twelve candidates for delegate-at-large announced by Curley was one woman, Mrs. Nellie M. Sullivan, of Fall River, Democratic national committeewoman.

Political observers regarded the Curley-Roosevelt ticket as a concentration of strength toward capturing the Boston vote. All of the candidates, both delegates at large and their alternates, hail from Greater Boston communities.

The newly-opened Roosevelt headquarters bustled with activity as Mayor Curley sent 300 workers scurrying through the State to obtain signatures for Roosevelt. The law

Report Col. Fawcett Lives Comes From Brazil Jungle

British Official Impressed by Story of Trapper Who Claims to Have Talked With Explorer Lost Since 1926.

Sao Paulo, Brazil, March 15 (U.P.). The British consulate general tonight announced the most definite clew yet disclosed regarding the fate of Col. P. H. Fawcett, the famous British explorer, who disappeared into the trackless wilds of the Brazilian jungles seven years ago while searching for a lost civilization.

Col. Fawcett is alive and held by Indians in the rough jungle lands between the Xingu River and the Madeiro River, in Matto Grosso, the great forest of Brazil, according to the information received by the consulate and in which Consul General Arthur Abbott said he placed "every confidence."

Stephen Rattin, a jungle trapper, told the story of seeing Col. Fawcett.

"I have thoroughly questioned Rattin, who spent fourteen years in the Brazilian jungles," Abbott said. "He tells of conversing with a man who claimed to be Fawcett. Rattin said he came to an Indian encampment approximately six weeks' journey from here.

"It was somewhere west of the Xingu River and east of the Madeiro River. There a white man, dressed in skins and wearing a long beard, approached him, saying he was Fawcett and asking that a report be made to me."

The Xingu and Madeiro Rivers have their headwaters somewhere in the desolate interior of Brazil, a region which is almost impenetrable and in which there are no signs of modern civilization. The rivers flow northward to the great Amazon.

Fawcett, accompanied by his son, John, and an English youth, Raleigh Rimell, went out from Rio de Janeiro in 1925, pressed westward through the hinterland to Fort Bakairi and thence on to the region of Cuyaba, in 1926.

Col. Fawcett was a veteran of Brazilian exploration and he was confident that he would find a superior white Indian civilization in the mountainous interior country—the land "from which no one ever comes back." For many months no concern was felt for the little party of explorers. Then came a report from the Cuyaba region to the effect that an

PITTS' LAWYER IS INDICTED ON FOUR CHARGES

ACCUSED SURPRISED AT ACTION OF JURORS

Partner of Donovan Is Due to Be Allowed to Post Bond Today.

With G. Bryan Pitts playing the role of a Government witness, the District grand jury yesterday broke a record in returning, within two hours of the start of its investigation, an indictment charging Frank G. Raichle, of Buffalo, law partner of William J. Donovan, former Assistant Attorney General of the United States, with subornation of perjury and with obstructing justice.

The indictment is in four counts. The counts charge, first, subornation of perjury; second, obstruction of justice; third, subornation of perjury, and, fourth, obstruction of justice.

Raichle was astounded when newspapermen informed him that he had been indicted. He had waited in the corridors just away from the grand jury room in expectation of being called as a witness, and when told that an indictment had been returned against him, without giving him a chance to appear, he was surprised.

Asks for Reopening.

The Buffalo lawyer said he had been assured that no action would be taken without first giving him a chance to tell his side of the story. Even when the indictment was filed in Justice James M. Proctor's court, he approached the bench and asked permission to reopen the investigation. Justice Proctor told him such a procedure was unusual and could not be done.

Despite his denial that he had made a "deal" with the Government, Pitts is known to have written a statement of what his testimony would be before the grand jury, and the fact that he was closeted in the jury room indicated he testified.

John H. Edwards and C. Elbert Anadale, both now serving jail sentences for their part in embezzling money from the F. H. Smith Co., also were witnesses. Others who testified were Napoleon T. Rinfert, Helen L. Schneider, E. J. Armbruster, Louis Loebl, Emory L. Coblenz, H. O. Hart, and Theodore L. Weed, a former president of the Smith Co.

False Testimony.

The first count charges that Raichle got Miss Schneider to testify falsely; the second, that he obstructed justice by filing a plea in abatement based upon Miss Schneider's alleged false story; the third, that he suborned perjury in getting Pitts to produce spurious authorizations at his trial; and the fourth, that he obstructed justice by offering at Pitts' trial alleged spurious notes.

Raichle had not posted bond for his release at a late hour last night. It was understood that he would be allowed to go to the courthouse at his convenience today to put up a bond to guarantee his appearance when wanted.

Raichle was Pitts' chief counsel when Pitts was tried in December, 1930. Pitts was found guilty and sentenced to serve 14 years in the penitentiary and on March 9 last, he withdrew his appeal after having spent 14 months in jail, for which he got no credit as time served while awaiting appeal does not count in the sentence.

Roosevelt to Attend Leaders' Session Here

Albany, N. Y., March 15 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D Roosevelt, of New York, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, will join the gathering of nationally prominent Democrats at Washington on April 13, he said tonight. The meeting is one of a series sponsored by women members of the party.

Mr. Roosevelt's trip to Washington will be one of two to carry him beyond the borders of New York within the next month. He will go to Richmond, Va., on April 24, to attend the annual meeting of the governor's conference, a three-day session.

Clothing Firm Employe Is Robbed of $24,565

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Frank Rosenbloom, a messenger for a Fifth avenue clothing firm, was forced into an automobile by several men at Fifth avenue and Fourteenth street today, robbed of $24,565, which he was taking to a nearby bank, and driven to Queens, where he was thrown out.

FOREIGN BOND LOSS PUT AT 2 BILLIONS

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The unholy combination of popular avarice, banking greed and governmental indifference were yesterday denounced as the causes responsible for the "wildcat" investments of more than $3,000,000,000 American money in foreign securities by Senator Hiram Johnson (Republican), of California, author of the recent investigation into the operations of international bankers. These same securities have depreciated almost $2,000,000,000, the Senator declared in summarizing the findings of his investigation.

The senator from California was constrained to read his speech which thereby lost a great deal of its effectiveness. The astronomical maze of figures which evoked to portray the extent of the financial debacle caused him to slow up the dynamic force of his customary eloquence. He spoke carefully and deliberately and the plastic gestures which usually interlard his speeches were yesterday sober and few.

Out of the findings of Senator Johnson will probably come a general move to correct the abuses in foreign financing. It became known at the same time he was making his speech in the Senate that various attempts have recently been made to enlist the approval of the State Department in the formation of organizations similar to the famous British Council of Foreign Bond Holders to protect the interests of the American investor in all future foreign financing. One of the latest has been tentatively proposed by a New York economist, Max Winkler, and the well known international legalist, Dr. Thomas H. Healy of the Foreign Service School of Georgetown University. William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, is also reported to be organizing another.

A further consequence of the Johnson revelations will probably be Congressional approval of the bill of Senator Glass to disassociate the investment and bond selling activities from the legitimate banking activities of all banks in future.

The whole history of foreign bond buying was sketched by Senator Johnson from its comparatively postwar popularity up to the last melancholy detail of the investigations which he organized. Throughout the entire

Roxy Goes Under Knife For Undivulged Illness

Physicians said his condition was good but declined to disclose the nature of the operation. He has been in the hospital since Sunday.

Recall of Atlanta Mayor Is Defeated

Opposition to Key Beaten by 4,837 Votes; Count Nearly Complete.

Atlanta, Ga., March 15 (U.P.).—Mayor James L. Key of Atlanta, an avowed modificationist in a purportedly dry city, today won a decisive victory in his defense of a recall movement instituted by prohibition and labor organizations.

The bitterness of the controversy, which started with the mayor's anti-prohibition statements while with a good-will tour in France, and increased in intensity as labor groups joined the action on other grounds, resulted in the heaviest vote in the city's history.

Twenty-nine of the 32 boxes in the city gave the mayor a comfortable majority of 4,837 votes. The count was: Against recall, 14,412; for recall, 9,575.

More than 29,000 citizens registered for the election.

OLD LINDBERGH KIDNAPING PLOT PROVIDES LEAD

QUIZ POSSIBILITIES IMPRESS OFFICIALS

Prisoner Quoted as Declaring Contact Had Been Made With Betty Gow.

Jersey City, N. J., March 15 (A.P.).—A lead in the two-week-old Lindbergh kidnaping case, described as "important enough to be taken seriously," was being tracked down tonight by detectives as they investigated the story of an old plot to steal the famous flier's son.

The importance of the clew was stressed by Joseph Fishman, deputy commissioner of corrections of New York City, after he had brought a prisoner from the Tombs Prison in New York City to Jersey City to confront two persons he charged with being in on the plot.

Early in the evening Deputy Commissioner Fishman and a number of guards returned with their prisoner to new York.

The prisoner, who has been a mysterious figure in the case for days and was interviewed in the morning by a confidential representative of Col. Lindbergh last week, was identified today as John Smith when he left New York. It was learned, however, his real name is Charles Fitzgerald.

Details of Alleged Scheme.

Present at the conference of Jersey City and Newark police officials were William Gleason and a woman, identified as Mrs. Catherine Danusek. They were taken into custody for questioning yesterday.

Fitzgerald's story is that he, Gleason, Mrs. Danusek and two others planned to kidnap the Lindbergh boy months ago; that Mrs. Danusek

Effort to Kidnap Girl Is Confessed by Pair

Poplar Bluff, Mo., March 15 (A.P.). Two Negroes were arrested, and confessed today, officers said, to the attempted kidnaping March 10 of Molly Horton, 11-year-old daughter of Will W. Horton, local newspaperman.

The child was struck over the head while gathering wood in the rear of her home and carried to a nearby park, where her hands and feet were bound. The Negroes fled, leaving her unconscious, when an automobile turned into a driveway a short distance away. Neighbors heard the girl's cries an hour later when she regained consciousness.

Missing Physician Is Held Kidnaped

Auto Found Abandoned and Police Forecast Ransom Demand.

Peoria, Ill., March 15 (A.P.).—Police tonight said they were confident that Dr. James W. Parker, 65, a physician, had been kidnaped and that his family soon would receive ransom demands. His automobile was found abandoned this morning near the Municipal Golf Links.

Dr. Parker's wife told police that shortly after her husband left in his automobile Monday night, she received a telephone call from a man who told her she would find Dr. Parker's car near the links and that the doctor would not be home that night.

Mrs. Parker said that when he was taking the car from the garage the lights were turned on and then suddenly switched off and the car proceeded in darkness.

SENATE'S WETS POINT FOR ROLL CALL ON LIQUOR

HOUSE BLOC'S GAINS PROVE BIG SURPRISE

Liberals Believe Ranks Will Be Enlarged as Result of Reapportionment.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Overshadowed for many months while Congress wrestled with the acute economic situation, national prohibition again is to the forefront as a great issue. The 227-187 vote in the House Monday, indicating a strong wet trend in Congress, was the principal topic yesterday wherever politicians gathered.

Wets in the Senate prepared to bring about a showdown in their chamber similar to the one that took place in the House.

The prediction was made that a substantial number of wets will be added to the House membership by reapportionment alone.

Representative Thomas H. Cullen (Democrat), of New York, compiled a table showing that the 187 House members who took the liberal side in Monday's prohibition vote represent a combined population of 52,039,949 persons.

Held Wet Plank Argument.

Influential wets in the Republican party cited the House vote, which revealed more Republican than Democratic wets, as another argument in favor of a liberal prohibition plank in the next party platform.

Certain of these party leaders talked of "ditching" Vice President Charles Curtis because of his dryness and the aridity of his home State of Kansas, but at the same time they admitted that there was little chance of denying Curtis another nomination.

In the House, the members began receiving messages of praise and condemnation for their votes on Monday. Meanwhile, wet and dry organizations, at last in possession of a definite record showing where members stand, prepared to aid them or fight them in their campaigns for reelection.

Senate Step in Doubt.

The Senate has no well-organized wet bloc such as exists in the House. Consequently, it has not yet been decided what kind of a measure will be used to bring about a showdown, or record vote in that body.

It may be a resolution similar to the Beck-Linthicum resolution on which the House wet bloc sought action. This measure provides for the submission to the States of an amendment to the eighteenth amendment, one permitting the States to be either wet or dry, with Federal protection for those choosing to be dry.

Repeal resolutions have been introduced by several senators, including Tydings, of Maryland, Blaine, of Wisconsin; Wagner, of New York; Barbour, of New Jersey; Lewis, of Illinois; Bingham, of Connecticut, and Hawes, of Missouri. It may be decided to have a record vote on one of these.

Or it may be that the first vote will come on a bill to modify the Volstead act and legalize beer and wine. Such a bill, written by Bingham, of Connecticut, is expected to be reported out by a subcommittee of the manufacturers committee this week. If the full committee should fail to report it out, Bingham will try, by various parliamentary methods, to get it to the floor for a roll call vote.

Tydings Plans Amendment.

Senator Tydings is threatening to offer an amendment to the billion-dollar tax bill which would legalize 4 per cent beer and place a tax on it of 3 cents per pint bottle.

Nearly all of the wets, however, would rather have a record vote on a change in the eighteenth amendment itself.

"The last unofficial poll of the Senate showed 33 senators would favor resubmission of the prohibition question to the States," Tydings said yesterday. "I believe today that the number has grown to at least 40. At all events, we are determined to find out."

Senator George Norris (Republican), of Nebraska, dry chairman of the judiciary committee, which passes on all measures proposing a change in the eighteenth amendment, said yesterday that nobody should deny the wets the right of getting a vote, and added that such a vote seemed inevitable at this session.

Wets Claim Benefits.

Under the reapportionment act passed by the last Congress, 21 States, which have not kept pace in population, lose a total of 27 representatives, and 11 States, which have grown in population, gain 27.

The wets claim that they will be the beneficiaries of this shifting of seats.

The States which lose, together with the number they lose, are as follows: Missouri, 3; Georgia, Iowa, Kentucky and Pennsylvania, 2 each; Alabama, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia and Wisconsin, 1 each.

The States which gain are: California, 9; Michigan, 4; Texas, 3; New Jersey, New York and Ohio, 2 each; Connecticut, Florida, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Washington, 1 each.

California's nine additional districts will virtually all be set up in wet territory. So, too, will Michigan's additional four, and the additional two each in New York, New Jersey and Ohio.

Lacked 21 of Majority.

In Monday's vote in the House the wets—or "liberals," as many prefer to be called—came within 21 of a majority of the votes cast.

However, wets like Linthicum (Democrat), Maryland, insist that after the next election, they will have not only the two-thirds vote necessary to adopt a resolution for a change in the eighteenth amendment, but a majority of real wets that will be able to do what they want with the Volstead act or with the prohibition appropriation bills.

Since only a third of the Senate come up for election every two years, it will not be possible to effect a turnover in that body at one election. The House wets, however, expect that the Senate will reflect whatever sentiment is voiced in the biennial congressional elections.

Solution to Cosmic Riddles May Be Found by Continued Study of Electricity Linked With Astronomical Observations, Prof. Kennelly Says.

(Associated Press.)

Mysterious forces out among the stars were pictured last night as traffic cops of the radio air lanes—sometimes speeding programs on their way, sometimes snarling them in annoying tangles.

Radio reception, especially for programs coming long distances, is affected by forces from outside the earth that are not understood but whose influence can be felt, said Prof. Arthur E. Kennelly of Harvard, speaking at the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

Radio reception, sun spots, magnetic storms and the height of the layer of ionized air from which radio waves are reflected all have a definite but unexplained connection. Scientists seeking a reason, Prof. Kennelly said, suggest that "there may be cosmic influences at work more remote than the sun."

Sunspots, he explained, are associated with outpouring of ultraviolet light from the sun. This light, reaching the outer layer of the earth's atmosphere, splits the air molecules into "ions," making the air layer a good conductor of electricity. Prof. Kennelly was one of the discoverers of the layer to which science has attached his name.

The layer keeps radio waves from flying off into space. Hanging from 50 to 300 miles up, it reflects the waves back to earth. Radio reception seems best when the layer is highest.

Sunspots and the eruptions of ultraviolet light on the sun rise and fall through an eleven-year cycle, astronomers have found. Forces from outer space beyond the sun, Prof. Kennelly said, may cause the cycles.

"Radio waves of different length respond differently to the influence of the ionized layer in the sky," he asserted. "By carefully studying their behavior, it may be possible to learn much about the nature and constitution of the upper air. At present our exploration of this region is limited to about 30 kilometers, the height to which recording instruments can be lifted by 'sounding balloons.'

"Radio waves can be sent up to much greater heights and be made to tell the story of what happened on their journey up and down by the condition of the wave when caught on its return. By continued studies of terrestrial magnetism, electricity and radio, linked with astronomical observations, we may well hope in time to find the solution for the great cosmic riddles of our world."

CANNED FOOD IS EXEMPTED FROM SALES TAX BY HOUSE

membership. He estimated that the sales tax would have a minimum of 160 Republican votes when it came to a vote.

How many votes will be necessary to put the sales tax over remains to be seen, but several leaders estimated that a little over 200 votes would do it. With 160 Republicans ready to vote for it its approval seems to be assured, inasmuch as the Democratic leaders can certainly corral more than a corporal's guard with their argument that as terrible as the sales tax may be it is not nearly so objectionable as various substitutes which have been proposed for it.

But the opposition is not going to give up without a bitter battle. Representative Robert L. Doughton (Democrat), of North Carolina, has assumed the role of leader of the Democratic opposition and has called a meeting of his cohorts for tonight.

The fiery Mississippian, Representative John E. Rankin, Democrat, has joined in the battle, voicing his condemnation of the sales tax on the floor yesterday as violating every principle of Democracy and putting a tax on the shivering man in the bread lines.

Opposition Heard in Senate.

Representative Fiorella H. LaGuardia, Republican, leader of the liberals and other Republican opponents of the tax are planning to have a meeting of their own to map out their campaign.

Opposition to the tax already has been heard in the Senate and the American Federation of Labor and the National Grange publicly condemned the sales tax yesterday. President William Green, of the A. F. of L., said his organization was traditionally opposed to all forms of sales tax legislation. Fred Brenckman, representative of the Grange, said that a general sales tax would meet with the unqualified disapproval of the farmers.

Announcing his committee's agreement to exempt canned foods, Representative Crisp said study was being given to possible substitutes to make up the $11,000,000 loss in estimated revenues and that these substitutes would be presented by the committee after it had offered on the floor the canned food amendment. This, he said, would eliminate from the tax practically all foods used by the ordinary man.

Cannon Offers Substitute.

Representative Clarence Cannon (Democrat), of Missouri, offered a rather extensive program as a substitute for the sales tax. His seven-point program called for excess profits taxes, increases in the higher tax brackets beyond committee recommendations, elimination of consolidated tax returns by corporations, elimination of credits allowed Americans for taxes paid to foreign governments, a super tax on foreign investments by Americans, a tax of $5 on each $100 face value of stocks or bonds issued, and material increase in the inheritance taxes.

His securities tax, Mr. Cannon estimated, would yield something like $6,000,000,000 and would have the effect of slowing down reckless issuance of securities and react to the public good. Elimination of consolidated tax returns he estimated would yield $100,000,000. Repeal of the credit allowance for foreign taxes would yield $25,000,000, he estimated.

The oil import tax came in for further mention in the course of the discussion. Representative Joseph Martin (Republican), of Massachusetts, denounced it as a mere political gesture. Representative Carl R. Chindblom (Republican), of Illinois, defended the oil tax, and urged that one of the ways to balance the budget would be to cut out unnecessary governmental agencies. Mr. Chindblom said that taxation on bonds was necessary to a balanced budget and a bond issue would mean, in the end, only an increased Government debt.

Reapportionment Case Hearing Set March 24

(Associated Press.)

The petition for review of the decision of the State courts holding the New York reapportionment law invalid was granted yesterday by the Supreme Court and the case was advanced for hearing on Thursday, March 24.

Who's Who Publisher Protests Beer Indorsing

Chicago, March 15 (A.P.).—A. N. Marquis, publisher of Who's Who in America, issued an open letter today protesting against the recent action of the Chicago Association of Commerce executive committee in indorsing a return of 2¾ per cent beer.

Marquis, a member of the commerce association, charged that no poll was ever taken of the membership on the prohibition question and that a commitment by the executive board was unwarranted. He said he would seek redress by court injunction if the stand is not retracted.

Former Jeweler Faces Trial in Trunk Murder

Atlantic City, N. J., March 15 (A.P.).—Louis Fine, former Philadelphia jeweler, was indicted on a charge of first degree murder today in connection with the death of his landlady, Mrs. Mattie Schaaf, 31.

Fine, who will be arraigned Friday, was accused of shipping Mrs. Schaaf's body to Philadelphia in a trunk after strangling her to death.

Labor Unions in Poland Order General Strike

Warsaw, Poland, March 15 (A.P.).—Labor unions, influenced by Socialists, have proclaimed a general strike throughout Poland tomorrow as a protest against several labor bills recently introduced in the Parliament by the government.

Taking extreme precautions, authorities decreed that alcohol would not be sold tomorrow and that severe punishment would await strike agitators. Railways, posts and public utilities were expected to funtion normally.

Importance of a Minute Boosted by Comparison

By JOHN J. DALY

ONE minute, please!

It sounds like a small request, but it may mean a lifetime.

Take, for instance, a motorist 35 years of age who steps on the gas to save a minute. He is risking 16,819,200 minutes of his life—for at 35 he may reasonably expect to live an additional 32 years, according to vital statistics.

As this business of stepping on the gas to save a minute is now the most popular of outdoor sports, one of the larger motor clubs has started a campaign against it, advancing the fact that there is more lost than gained.

The plea is put up in the form of a financial equation: Few, if any, motorists, pedestrians, horse-back riders, trolley addicts, motorboat owners, soldiers, sailors or marines would care to risk $16,819,200 in order to gain $1.

* * * *

OF course, there are very few motorists, pedestrians, horse-back riders, soldiers, sailors or marines—even newspapermen—who have $16,819,200. Even if they had, it is doubtful if they would risk it to gain the one dollar cited. "Yet," says the president of this big motor club—"many of our members risk that number of minutes in order to gain one."

And, it might be asked, even if they gained that one minute, what good would it do them? Forsooth, it has sped away before it is ever captured.

Old Time, the fugitive, will not wait even for a motorist stepping on the gas, rushing pell mell past red lights, in order to save a minute.

Tempus fugit, they say. Tempus fidgets. Tempus won't even stand still. If only Time would wait for man, there would be some sense in gaining that extra minute—but neither Time nor Tide will wait, ever on the go, making the Green Lights on the Lane of Eternity.

* * * *

THIS, of course, is why racing to save a minute seems like such a sporting event. It has about it all the excitement of the chase. After the chase is over, the runners are usually spent, out of breath, panting. While the race is on it seems like good fun.

So, the boys will continue to step on the gas, trying to beat old Father Time, striving to get around in front of him, to catch his forelock; but all in vain. They might just as well pause for the stop signal, and go only when the traffic officer blows his whistle. There is no chance to save that minute, speeding like a shot into eternity, five jumps ahead of itself.

GRAND JURY BEGINS INQUIRY IN LYNCHING

102 Witnesses Are Called in Maryland Quiz Into Mob Slaying.

Salisbury, Md., March 15 (A.P.).—Investigation into the lynching of Matthew Williams, Negro, here December 4, was started today by a Wicomico County grand jury. One hundred and two witnesses were summoned to testify.

The jurymen had before them a charge by Judge Joseph L. Bailey for a sweeping inquiry, not only into the lynching of the Negro who had murdered Daniel L. Elliott, prominent lumberman, but also into the activities of an "outside organization" preceding the murder. The judge did not name the organization to which he referred.

Williams was hanged on the courthouse green by a mob which had dragged him from a hospital bed where he was recovering from bullet wounds, received in his flight from the scene of the murder.

Louis Berger, of Baltimore, said the "outside organization" referred to by Judge Bailey was his organization. He telegraphed Judge Bailey criticizing the make-up of the grand jury which has no Negro members.

He also sent a communication to Gov. Ritchie demanding the impeachment of Judge Bailey because his charge to the jury "diverted everybody's attention to the organization and not to looking for the criminals responsible for the death of Williams." He said the charge was an insult to his organization.

Gov. Ritchie and Judge Bailey made no comment on the communications.

Help of Citizens Asked for Birds

Game Warden in Fairfax Will Supply Food for Distribution.

An appeal to sportsmen and farmers of Fairfax County, Va., to assist in distributing food to the thousands of quail and small birds has been issued by Game Warden A. B. Carter, of Burke. The birds' food supply has been jeopardized by the recent snows.

Warden Carter says wheat and grain will be supplied free to persons who volunteer and know the ranges of local covies if they will agree to carry the feed to the birds. Sportsmen declare that the fact the snow has been hard and icy has contributed materially to keeping the birds alive. If the snows had been soft, they state, the birds would have floundered and been smothered instead of being able to obtain seeds from weeds above the top.

The Virginia Inland Game and Fisheries Commission has been making a great effort to restock the quail in the county during the last few years.

Annapolis Would Double Defense Highway Width

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, March 15.—The Annapolis Chamber of Commerce is marshaling its forces in the movement to have the width of the Defense highway between Washington and Annapolis increased by 20 feet, making it a 40-foot boulevard.

The matter was brought before the business group in a formal way by John M. Dennis, State treasurer of Maryland. Mr. Dennis, who is prominent in financial circles of Baltimore, and a director of the Claiborne-Annapolis Ferry Co., directed special attention to the fact that during the summer motor traffic over this highway averages nearly 3,000 cars daily.

Underwood, of Ohio, Taken Suddenly Ill

(Associated Press.)

Representative Mell G. Underwood, of Ohio, was taken suddenly ill at the Farm Board yesterday and taken to the Naval Hospital in an ambulance.

Capt. P. S. Rossiter, of the Naval Hospital, said Mr. Underwood's condition "apparently is not very serious at present. He had a slight fainting spell at the Farm Board, and was brought down here right away," he said. "So far as we have been able to tell, he is practically all right now."

POLICE INVESTIGATE OLD KIDNAP PLOT

was to take care of the baby after he had been abducted, but that he (Fitzgerald) was arrested and jailed before the plan materialized.

He was quoted as saying one "contact" had been made with Betty Gow, the Lindbergh child's nursemaid.

State police at Hopewell, however, a short time before had reiterated an almost daily statement—that "so far nothing has been discovered that would connect Betty Gow with this crime." The State police said she was remaining on the Lindbergh estate voluntarily.

Woman Denies Plotting.

Fitzgerald told the police officials and detectives that Gleason was in the Hudson County Jail at Jersey City when the plot was hatched.

Mrs. Danusek, with whom Gleason is said to board, disclaimed any knowledge of the scheme.

Under police questioning she told how Fitzgerald called on her while Gleason was in jail, expressed anxiety of how he was going to secure his friend's release and said he was going to retain a New York lawyer to try to "beat the case."

The names of the two other persons Fitzgerald said were involved were not made public, but it was known an intensive hunt for them had been launched.

There were reported to be discrepancies in Fitzgerald's story, but as the second week since the abduction drew to a close with the stolen child still missing, authorities were seeking diligently for some clew that might lead them somewhere, and this one was being pursued with vigor.

Malone Gives Up Plan To Aid Mrs. Fortescue

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Dudley Field Malone, international lawyer, tonight announced that pressure of his business affairs in New York had forced him to withdraw as an associate of Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, in the defense of Mrs. Granville Fostescue and three others on second-degree murder charges in Honolulu.

He added, however, that he had enlisted for the defense in the case George S. Leisure, former chief of the criminal division of the United States district attorney's office in New York and at present a law partner of Col. William Donovan.

OUSTED CLERIC GETS MORALS CASE FINE

Danville, Va., Jury Returns Verdict of $50 Penalty in Trial of Winn.

Danville, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—J. Arthur Winn, former pastor of Mosely Memorial Methodist Church, was fined $50 today after a corporation court jury had found him guilty of making improper advances to a member of his congregation.

The woman, Mrs. Ada Hailey, testified Mr. Winn, her next door neighbor, made improper advances to her in her home here last July and that she threatened to stab him with a pair of scissors if his attentions were continued.

Defense attorneys tonight had not decided whether an appeal would be noted. The former pastor was acquitted yesterday on charges of improper conduct brought by Miss Bertha Mabes. Similar charges brought by Mrs. Ben Hailey, a relative of today's accuser, will not be pressed, the Commonwealth's attorney said.

The jury had heard the case in a courtroom from which all but relatives of the former minister and court attaches were barred.

Mr. Winn, who was expelled from the church by a trial committee last autumn, denied the charges, asserting that the relations existing between himself and Mrs. Hailey were only such as were usual between pastor and parishioner.

Mrs. Hailey's 8-year-old daughter also was called as a witness.

Bigamy Is Charged To Virginia Man

Fredericksburg Resident Is Accused of Having 3 Living Wives.

Special to The Washington Post.

Richmond, Va., March 15.—Alleged to have taken two extra wives when he had a lawful wife and three children here, Joseph Stewart Kuper, automobile mechanic, 37, of Fredericksburg, today faced a charge of bigamy.

He was brought recently from Fredericksburg to answer a charge of failing to support his family here. While the case was pending in court, complaint was made that he had a wife in that city, whom he had married in Rockville, Md., September 10, 1931. She was Ruth Lee Harrison, of Ashland, Va. Further inquiry disclosed, according to the police, that he had married a Rocky Mount, N. C. girl a year previously. She was a daughter of J. M. Meacham, of that city.

The first wife was Nora Estelle Johnson, of this city. She was married to Kuper here November 16, 1917. Alleged wife No. 3 is eager to prosecute Kuper, police said, and he will be tried in Ashland, where he is alleged to have lived with her for a while before they moved to Fredericksburg. Alleged wife No. 2, they said, had declined to appear against him. He is alleged to have married her under the name of Joseph E. Ryland.

Rosser on Trial Again As Slayer of Deputy

Lynchburg, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—"I just shot to defend myself after I was fired upon," said Richard W. Rosser, 27, of Campbell County, from the witness stand in Corporation Court today, where he is on trial a second time for allegedly killing Jesse B. Hanks, a deputy officer, who, with Prohibition Officer W. Hamp Steele, pursued the young man into Lynchburg December 5 in an effort to apprehend him on a liquor charge.

With the completion of Rosser's testimony, the defense rested and Judge Frank P. Christian, presiding, adjourned the court until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and ordered the jury locked up for the night.

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been. Just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry, whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travels, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power. Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay. Copyright Apr., 1931.

REVISION OF POSTAL RATES WINS I. C. C.

Changes in Parcel Charges to Offset Deficit Will Be Made by Brown.

(Associated Press.)

Postmaster General Brown yesterday was given the assent of the Interstate Commerce Commission to a revision of parcel post rates in an effort to reduce the Postoffice Department deficit.

The commission did not pass on the sufficiency or insufficiency of the proposed new rates, saying the law left that to the discretion of the Postmaster General. The Postoffice Department estimates they would yield about $7,500,000.

The changes would include increases and decreases for parcels of all weights. Rates to nearby zones where most of the business is handled will be higher, but decreases are planned for large packages to the more distant sections.

Yesterday's decision concluded the second of two Postoffice Department actions instituted thirteen months ago in an effort to wipe out a portion of a $15,000,000 deficit claimed for handling parcel post. The Postmaster General asked consent of the commission for an increase in the maximum size of packages, as well as to the rate revision.

The commission last fall approved the increase in size. Opposition from large mail users and express companies, however, was so strong that time was given for cost studies and further evidence before the rate changes were approved.

All of the commissioners concurred in the opinion written by Commissioner Tate except Commissioner McManamy. The latter held that the record does not show that the cost of operating the service is permanently in excess of the revenues.

It has not yet been decided when the new rates will become effective.

Crippled Freighter Is Towed to Halifax

Halifax, Nova Scotia, March 15 (A.P.).—The German freighter Harburg, whose distress calls drew nine steamers into the storm area of the Atlantic last week, docked here today.

She was towed to Halifax by the tug Willett. The freighter sent out her call for help when her rudder shaft was broken. Accompanying the two ships to port today was the tug Foundation Franklin, which broke her steering gear March 9 while bucking heavy seas in an effort to reach the Harburg.

JOUETT SHOUSE.

REGARDING the Democratic party as it stands today, lusty, militant and confident of victory, it seems difficult to believe that a wake was being held over it just a little more than three years ago. Yet it is a recorded fact that after the disastrous defeat of Alfred E. Smith by Herbert Hoover in 1928, there were many who thought that the Democratic party was dead.

Not so John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee. In the opinion of that determined little millionaire, all that the party needed was to get a grip on itself and a fighter to lead it on an offensive.

The man Raskob picked was Jouett Shouse, a native of Kentucky. Shouse was possessed of a thorough political background, gathered as reporter, lawyer, State legislator, member of Congress, and a member of Woodrow Wilson's little cabinet.

Raskob remained as chairman of the Democratic national committee, but Shouse, as chairman of the national executive committee, a new post, took active command. Later Charles Michelson, star political writer of the New York World, was appointed as the party's publicity director.

The Raskob-Shouse-Michelson triumverate thenceforward proceeded on the theory that there was no closed season in politics. At a time when, ordinarily, national committees are in the doldrums, Shouse and Michelson were hammering away at the Republicans.

True, hard times set in and helped them in their crusade. But when the Democrats scored their sweeping gains in the 1930 elections, the party leaders were unanimous in according Shouse a large part of the credit.

CABINET MEMBER RESIGNS IN TOKYO

Nakahashi, Home Minister, Rapped for Holding Post After Bomb Plot.

Tokyo, March 15 (A.P.).—Home Minister Tokugoro Nakahashi, who was severely criticized for remaining in office after the bombing attempt on the life of Emperor Hirohito, January 8, resigned from the cabinet today.

His resignation was announced after he had conferred with Premier Suyoshi Inukai. Political observers interpreted it as an attempt to strengthen the cabinet in preparation for the opposition's attacks when Parliament convenes in special session March 18.

The Japanese home minister is head of the police. According to custom, M. Nakahashi should have assumed responsibility for the attempt on the emperor and, accordingly, should have resigned immediately.

On the basis of news from Manchuria, Japanese officials predicted that Soviet Russia soon would recognize officially the new Manchurian state headed by Henry Pu-Yi, former boy emperor of China.

A Rengo (Japanese) News Agency dispatch from Changchum, capital of the new state, said Russia "informally indicated" that it would accept Pu-Yi's nominees for places on the board of directors of the Chinese Eastern Railway, which is jointly owned by Russia and China. According to this dispatch Russia would accept these nominees in place of the directors appointed by the Chinese government at Nanking.

Supporters of the Pu-Yi regime asserted that such action by Russia would be equivalent to de facto recognition.

A dispatch from Manchuli said 70 Japanese women and children living there had been sent to Harbin because of fear that Chinese insurgents against the new Manchurian regime would renew their attacks. The 90 Japanese men in the town, the dispatch added, were prepared to defend it.

Assailant of Daughter Of Bishop Is Sentenced

San Francisco, March 15 (A.P.).—An attempted criminal attack recently on Miss Barbara Burns, 16, daughter of Bishop Charles Wesley Burns, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, today brought a one-to-fourteen-year prison sentence for Victor Perez, 19, a part Hawaiian.

Perez admitted the charge. The sentence was given on a technical charge of parole violation, Perez having pleaded guilty to a similar case involving an 8-year-old girl a year ago. Bishop Burns pleaded his daughter had "suffered enough," and asked the charge in her case be dismissed, allowing Prez to be imprisoned on the year-old complaint.

HITLER DENOUNCES CITIZENSHIP QUIZ

Shots Are Fired at His Train While He Is on Way to Hearing.

Weimar, Germany, March 15 (A.P.).—Adolf Hitler, rival of President von Hindenburg for leadership of Germany, appeared as a witness at an official hearing revolving around his citizenship today and said he took the inquiry as a personal insult.

After answering questions regarding the administrative methods of Wilhelm Frick, former National Socialist minister of the interior in Thuringia, he told the officiating commissioner to take his hands out of his pockets when speaking to him (Hitler) and stalked out of the courtroom.

Questioned as to whether he had approved Frick's scheme to make him a citizen, one of the issues at stake, Hitler trembled with rage and roared that he had refused to accept citizenship from the Bruening regime.

He denied he had authorized Frick's measures but asserted it was monstrous that a man who had fought four years at the front should have been refused naturalization while thousands of East Galician Jews had been made citizens.

The Nationalist Socialist leader was admitted to citizenship several weeks ago by his acceptance of an appointment as counselor to the Brunswick legation in Berlin.

Berlin, March 15 (U. P.).—Shots were fired at a train in which Adolph Hitler, Fascist leader, and his two chief lieutenants, Deputy Joseph Goebbels and Deputy Wilhelm Frick, were riding near Jena, en route from Munich to Weimar.

None was injured. It was believed, however, that the shots were fired at Hitler, who will be President Paul von Hindenburg's opponent in the second presidential ballot, April 10. Hindenburg led Hitler in the first vote Sunday by more than 7,300,000 votes, but failed to win a majority.

CALLAN GETS YEAR ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., March 15.—Pleading guilty to an indictment of bigamy, James W. Callan, 25, 1529 M street northwest, Washington, was sentenced by Judge Arthur D. Willard in the circuit court today to one year in the Maryland House of Correction.

At his trial several days ago Callan entered a plea of not guilty but when faced by his two wives, Mrs. Anna H. Callan, Washington, whom he married five years ago, and Mrs. Billie B. Bowman Callan, 21, 1009 Ninth street northwest, Washington, whom he married in this city shortly before midnight, January 7, after a courtship of 24 hours, he withdrew his plea of not guilty and admitted his guilt.

A forceful plea was made by his attorney for a parole on the ground of his youth, the fact that his mother, who appeared in court was on the verge of a nervous collapse and could not testify, and on account of wife No. 1 having declared that she would seek a divorce and wife No. 2 about to start proceedings for annulment of her marriage.

Testimony on Record.

Sentence was deferred until his previous record in Washington could be obtained. Today State's Attorney Walter E. Sinn produced a letter from Leo A. Rover, U. S. District Attorney, Washington, showing that Callan had a bad record.

The letter disclosed that in 1923 Callan was committed to the National Training School until 21, but was released after he served 13 months. In 1926 he was convicted of robbery and senteneed to the penitentiary for three years, but was paroled. In a murder case he was held in jail for six months as a witness and at another time he was charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of a woman in an automobile accident, but this case was not prosecuted. He was also fined $50 on a liquor charge This record precluded any consideration as to a parole.

In his own defense Callan told the court his side of the bigamy charge He said he met Miss Billie B. Bowman, a waitress in Havana Joe's Restaurant and took her home that night. The next night he took her to a dance where both had a drink. After the dance they decided to get married and he secured a taxi and he and Miss Bowman went to Rockville.

Bad Checks Reported Given.

They arrived too late and continued to Frederick where they aroused a deputy court clerk, obtained a license, and aroused a minister and were married. Returning to Washington they went to an apartment and two days later his bride went home for her clothing but her parents would not permit her to return to him. It was brought out that he gave bad checks to the clerk of the court for his marriage license, to the minister as a fee and to the taxi driver.

Miss Bowman testified that she met Callan in Havana Joe's and the next night they went to Frederick and were married. She said she was afraid of him as he threatened to kill her unless she married him.

Mrs. Callan, No. 1, did not testify. Her brother-in-law, Raymond J. Roach, an employe in the Government Printing Office, gave some testimony in reference to Callan's police record in Washington. Callan said he started divorce proceedings in New York against his first wife, but the proceedings were not completed. He was married the first time by the Rev. Father Dallan, pastor of the Holy Name Church, Washington.

After being sentenced he was placed in the custody of the sheriff and will be taken to the Maryland prison tomorrow.

FOREIGN BOND LOSS PUT AT 2 BILLIONS

story, runs the indictment of the so-called international bankers. The senator from California, however, scrupulously excepted from the general report of fiduciary short comings the two foremost international banking houses of J. P. Morgan and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Thomas W. Lamont, of the Morgan firm, and Otto H. Kahn, appeared during the course of the Johnson investigation and testified before the committee.

Senator Johnson said:

"The blame for what has happened may in part be laid at the door of the American public. The international banker excuses himself because the public was over rich and mad to invest its money, and the banker asserts he but offered the opportunity. But Americans have been taught not only confidence in their bankers, but something like reverence for them . . . came the rude awakening, the smash of October, 1929, the repeated breaks thereafter, the ruin and devastation all about, and the international banker stripped of his glamour and his pretense stood stark and naked before an astonished and a horrified people."

The senator then made public a list of loans which had been made by American bankers who had "implored" the privilege to make the loan. There were nineteen European countries in the list and it revealed a total investment of $1,500,000,000 and a depreciation of $742,000,000. The European nations included Austria, Bulgaria, Denmark, Estonia, Finland, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Ireland, Italy, Norway, Poland, Roumania, Russia (before the war), the Saar territory, Jugoslavia.

Bankers Again Blamed.

The sphere of the Latin American bond market was treated at great length by the senator. He said:

"It is utterly inconceivable that international bankers did not know what the best informed public opinion of Latin America was cognizant of. The bankers simply did not heed the facts. They gave no thought to the impoverishment of American citizens who trusted them. They acted apparently only for the profits. They were perfectly willing by their loans to maintain dictators in power and to be party to the suppression of every natural right of citizens of South American republics. Indeed they contributed the money, in some instances, for the destruction of liberty itself, and heavy upon them is the responsibility not only for the financial ruin of a vast number of American citizens, but for the destruction of personal and political rights in Latin American states.

"Some of our international bankers not only concealed the facts and violated the fiduciary relationship, which should have been held inviolate, but to give a false appearance to the value of some of their loans they deliberately 'rigged' the market."

Some Concessions Made.

The senator made some concessions to the bankers who had acted in rare cases for the best inetrests of their customers. He said:

"In speaking as I have of international bankers it should be observed, of course, that all are not guilty of the practices which are related and which we condemn. Necessarily we must speak in generic terms, but so far as Latin America is concerned, and in no less degree Europe, it would be difficult to overdraw the picture."

The senator also made a lengthy reference to the details of the famous Barco concession, in Colombia, which figures in the investigation. He said:

"Whatever excuses may be made, however, tightly the lips of American representatives abroad may be sealed, despite the pretense of protecting confidential communications that only international banks may know, we find the controversy about the Barco concession running side by side with the controversy about the withheld money of the National City Bank, and the concluding episode of the controversy, the passage of the Barco concession and the payment of the amount of the loan withheld."

"Thus," he declared, "the Mellon interests received their due, the Colombian government gots its money, and the State Department kept its secrets."

HOUSE FARM CHIEFS TALK WITH HOOVER

activity on Capitol Hill in behalf of the equalization fee and export debenture relief plans and the farm resolution adopted yesterday by the Senate.

This would make the $200,000,000 farm fund of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's authorized credit immediately available for crop loans without waiting for the sale of additional debentures.

President Hoover generally is listed as opposed to both the equalization fee and the debenture. Both the Senate and House agriculture committees during the present session, however, have listened to pleas in behalf of these recurring plans by leaders of national farm organizations.

Haugen has sponsored the equalization foe, which Chairman Jones, of the House agriculture committee, has introduced a debenture bill.

President Hoover has made no statement as to his attitude on the Senate resolution now in House hands to make the $200,000,000 agricultural allotment immediately available.

Now, only $50,000,000, or 10 per cent of the capital subscribed by the Treasury, is ready for use. The Department of Agriculture is lending it to farmers to raise crops. The department will get 10 per cent of the securities sold by the Reconstruction Corporation, but as the situation now stands must wait until they are sold to get the money.

old and fever-stricken man had been seen there. He was believed to be Fawcett.

In 1928, Commander G. M. Dyott, of England, headed an expedition to the rescue of Fawcett. He did not find him but came back with what Dyott believed was proof that the natives had murdered the three explorers.

Later reports, however, tended to contradict this conclusion and it was recalled that Fawcett was confident of his ability to make friends with the Indians, some of whom are extremely hostile. The most widely circulated conclusion was that he was captured and held by Indians who refused to permit him to return to civilization.

Spanish Marine Budget Approved.

Madrid, Spain, March 15 (A.P.).—The National Assembly today approved the budget of the ministry of marine. Of a total of 230,954,865 pesetas ($17,552,570), 226,757,475 pesetas were for actual expenditures and the remainder was set aside for payment of past obligations.

MARYLAND GRANTED CRAB BILL HEARING

Virginia's Governor Delays Signing Until Objections Are Considered.

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Gov. Pollard wired Gov Ritchie today that Maryland conservation authorities and other interested parties would be given a hearing before he signed the Cadmus bill permitting the taking of sponge crabs from Virginia waters.

The message to the Maryland executive was in response to a telegram from Gov. Ritchie received at the capitol here today, saying that he had just learned that the Virginia Legislature passed House bill 371 relating to sponge crabs. He added that the Maryland conservation authorities "feel the passage of the bill will do great injury to the crab industry of the Chesapeake Bay in Maryland as well as Virginia." The Ritchie message concluded with the assertion that the conservation authorities of his State would appreciate an opportunity to appear before Gov. Pollard to give their reasons for "urging the veto of the bill."

Under the present act it is unlawful to catch sponge crabs at any time, but under the provisions of the Cadmus measure, catching them would be permitted between April 1 and June 30, with provisions that the commissioner of fisheries may close the season at any time with fifteen days notice.

Commissioner of Fisheries Richard Armstrong said that the bill was introduced in view of the excessive number of crabs in Virginia waters, due to the series of warm winters since 1918.

The Virginia commission has assumed the attitude that Maryland should not object to the new law since there is no law in Maryland prohibiting the taking of egg-bearing crabs, and that Maryland should not insist on the prohibition in Virginia "simply because when the crabs arrive in Virginia waters the 'sponge' has formed."

Arguments Set May 2 On Power Plant Row

Norfolk, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Judge Luther B. Way in the United States District Court today set May 2 for the arguments on a motion by the Appalachian Power Co. to enjoin permanently the Federal Power Commission from interfering with the company's plans to build a hydro-electric plant on New River in Montgomery County.

The date was fixed after a hearing of preliminary motions that followed the power company's attack on the authority of the Federal Commission to deny it a license for the proposed project.

Gunston Hall Bill Signed by Pollard

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Gov. Pollard today signed the bill conveying Gunston Hall to Virginia, to be kept "sacred to the memory of George Mason."

With affixing of the governor's signature to the bill the estate was deeded to the Commonwealth, according to the provisions of the measure. It is the gift of Louis Hertle, who retained a life interest in the estate, and provided the appointment of a board of regents to include the president of the Society of Colonial Dames, and others to be appointed by the governor upon the recommendation of the National Society of Colonial Dames. In addition to these the governor is to appoint a board of visitors to be composed of three men.

Other bills signed by the governor today included one ratifying the incorporation of the town of Toms Brook, another designating a bridge on Route 16, connecting Rappahannock and Madison Counties, as the James H. Fletcher Bridge, another designating a part of Route 419 as the Huguenot highway and still another amending the State banking act to avail receivers of defunct banks to avail themselves of Federal aid funds for the reimbursement of depositors.

Annapolis, Irked, Will Curb Sale of Misleading Extras

Police to Pass Upon Merits of Editions; Wrathy Residents Complain of Newsies Shouting in Foreign or Unintelligible Language.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—The wuxtree—you know: "wuxtree! wuxtree!"—found itself today in a bit of a jam.

At Annapolis, Md., the city council announced itself last night as sick and tired of having irresponsible newsies shattering the calm of the night with their uncultured baritones bawling "wuxtree!" when there really was no wuxtree at all.

At Dover and Dennison, both in Ohio, a similar public repugnance for such street hawking has been manifested.

The indignation at Annapolis crystallized to the point where the council decided that from now on no "extra" edition of a newspaper can be hawked until the police have passed upon it. If the police feel, after scanning headlines and text, that the news is of "extra" merit, the paper may be shouted in the streets. Otherwise, no.

Annapolis citizens complained that newsies have made the nights hideous by "yelling in foreign languages." They further pointed out that the yells, though unintelligible, were vibrant with excitement, indicating that the hawker was offering for sale news of the very first magnitude.

Some residents said the call of the "wuxtree" had lured them often from their warm firesides, into the cold streets; that, at the risk of pneumonia, they had purchased the "wuxtree" only to find it contained no news of transcendental import. This, they said, had a tendency to make them wrathy.

Others complained that the newsies should be compelled to "shout their wares in English"—a complaint that will come as a severe shock to newsies, many of whom are very vain about their articulatory ability.

Both the complaining citizenry and the city council made it clear that the legitimate "extra" editions such as are published by the home-town newspapers are welcome. The Annapolis complaint was made against sellers of unnamed "out-of-town" papers whose cries aroused the public to a high state of enthusiasm which, after the paper had been frantically perused, fell with a sickening thud.

The Dover, Ohio, city council recently instructed the mayor and chief of police by resolutions to "take the necessary means" to curb the "misleading" sale of "extras."

The mayor of Dennison, Ohio, in the same county, went further. He ordered two venders of out-of-town "extras" to leave Dennison without further ado. He said they were guilty of "disorderliness."

$3,000,000 Saving On Byrd Plan Seen

Estimated Tax Relief as Result of Road Levy Abolishing.

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Tax officials at the Capitol today estimated that local tax relief, as the result of the enactment of the Byrd plan abolishing local road levies, will amount to $3,138,228.

The estimate was based on a study of the levies for 1931. The figures were considered the best available. It was pointed out that 1929 figures were used when the plan was first advanced during the session of the Assembly. They were prepared by Dr. William H. Stauffer, economist of the department of taxation, who said that counties in 1931 cut real and tangible property taxes approximately $1,000,000.

He pointed out that with these reductions local taxes should be more than $4,000,000 less next year than in 1930. The General Assembly has just provided $400,000 additional for schools to be distributed on the basis of school population, and likewise an additional $500,000 for school equalization, which will be available to the poorer localities.

Mrs. Freeman W. Jones Will Be Buried Today

Charlotte, N. C., March 15 (A.P.).—Mrs. Freeman W. Jones, widow of a prominent Petersburg, Va., tobacco manufacturer and mother of Eddie E. Jones, vice president of the Independence Trust of Charlotte, will be buried in Petersburg, Va., tomorrow. She died here last night.

Mrs. Jones had made her home here for the past 15 years. She was a native of Lawrenceville, Va. Surviving children are: Mrs. Peter Epes, of New Orleans; Mrs. C. M. Bakerville, Corbin, Ky.; Mrs. B. L. Hume, of Nokesville, Va.; Freeman Jones, of Columbus, Ohio, and E. E. Jones, Charlotte.

J. P. Harmon, Retired Banker, Is Dead at 82

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., March 15.—John P. Harman, 82, retired bank official and one of the city's oldest residents, died yesterday at his home. The funeral was held at the home this afternoon, conducted by the Rev. C. C. Bell, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

Mr. Harman was born in Petersburg, Va. He retired from active business life about 15 years ago. Mr. Harman never married.

Pollard to Name Police if Needed

Says He Will Not Act Until Local Enforcement Has Collapsed.

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Commenting on Senate Bill 79, empowering the governor to send special police to cities, counties and towns for enforcement of criminal law, Gov. Pollard said today that he did not regard himself as a "police chief."

He added that he would make no effort to use the special police power until satisfied that there was a collapse in local law enforcement, but that should it become necessary to appoint special police and assign them to a particular locality, he would act without notification to the local officials.

Senate bill 79 was humorously referred to during the legislative session as the "Virginia Beach bill" because of the governor's announcement last summer that alleged gambling at the resort constituted "open rebellion against the laws of the Commonwealth." The statement followed the report of a Princess Anne County grand jury which found no evidence of open gambling.

Gun Permit Is Refused After Threat on Phone

Permission to carry a pistol has been refused to Edward F. Simpson, of Mount Rainier, by Prince Georges County State's Attorney Alan Bowie on the ground that the law makes no provision for a permit.

Simpson, who is a deputy inspector of barbers, says his life was threatened in a phone conversation after he made a speech advocating lower prices for shaves and haircuts. Mr. Bowie told him he could carry a weapon if it were necessary to carry out his official duties.

FOURTH DEATH TRIAL GRANTED CAROLINIAN

Garland Smith, Convicted of Two Murders, Allowed Further Chance.

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Garland Smith, a young North Carolinian, today was granted his fourth trial on murder charges preferred against him as the result of the murder of two officers from ambush in Mecklenburg County December 29, 1929.

The new trial was granted today by the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals after the Commonwealth confessed error in the case in which Smith was appealing from the judgment of the Mecklenburg County Circuit Court convicting him in the killing of Deputy Sheriff Bernard H. Puryear, and sentencing him to twenty years in the State Penitentiary.

He also is under sentence of twenty years for the fatal shooting of Mack Tuck, Clarksville chief of police. The two officers were members of a raiding party returning from the capture of a still when it was fired upon from a thicket.

In confessing error in the case, the attorney general admitted that the Mecklenburg court had committed such errors as to preclude any justification for asking the higher court to affirm the judgment.

The case was one which the supreme court previously had reversed, when a Mecklenburg jury had convicted Smith and sentenced him to die. When Smith came to his second trial, for the killing of Tuck, a Charlotte County jury gave him twenty years, and in his last trial, the second in the Puryear case, a Greensville County jury reduced the sentence to twenty years, and Judge Needham S. Turnbull ordered that the terms run consecutively for a total of 40 years.

The petition in the last case alleged numerous errors, among them being the charge that neither the prisoner nor his counsel were present at some stages of the trial procedure.

Methodist Women Attack Dry Critics

Mission Council Meeting in Atlanta Voices Faith in Prohibition.

Atlanta, Ga., March 15 (A.P.).—Opposition to any movement to weaken the eighteenth amendment through legislation was spoken here today by the Woman's Missionary Council of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. The prohibition resolution was adopted by viva voce vote of the delegates representing 300,000 women.

The resolution said that comparison with the methods of liquor traffic control tried in other countries convinced the council members that national prohibition was the best method yet devised and they recorded again their faith in "governmental control in the United States as provided in the eighteenth amendment and its supporting laws."

Before taking up the prohibition question, council members pledged $980,301 for home and foreign mission work this year, $87,689 less than promised last year. The Virginia Conference pledged $61,500, the largest sum subscribed.

Charges Dropped In Rum-Ring Cases

Other Defendants Enter Pleas on Indictments; 2 Individuals Jailed.

Baltimore, March 15 (A.P.).—A nolo contendere plea to a charge of conspiracy to convert industrial alcohol into beverage channels was entered in Federal Court here today by the Amazon Industrial Chemical Co., New York; the American Oil & Supply Co. of New Jersey, and Nate Scharlin and Joseph J. Darvin, New York, officials of the Amazon company.

At the same time the Government dropped similar charges against Arthur P. Jell, secretary-treasurer of the American Solvents & Chemical Co. The company pleaded nolo contendere to the charge with several other companies March 1. All of the firms and individuals charged were indicted last July by the Federal grand jury, in which the Government described the case as the largest alcohol conspiracy ever uncovered.

Two firms, both located in New Jersey, and two individuals were tried in Federal Court last week on the charge and convicted. Five individuals were acquitted. The convicted firms were fined $10,000 each and the individuals sent to jail for two years.

15 Indictments Found In Shenandoah County

Special to The Washington Post.

Woodstock, Va., March 15.—Fifteen "true" bills and one ignoramus were brought in by the March term of the Shenandoah County grand jury which convened here yesterday. Thirteen indictments were for felonies and two for misdemeanors. The two misdemeanors were the only liquor violations in the number. W. W. Bird was foreman of the jury.

The charge of shooting and the subsequent death of Frank Strickler, by Mrs. Lola B. Walton, both of New Market, Va., on November 11, 1931, was dismissed. Evidence showed that the defendant shot Strickler in her own home in self-defense after she had repeatedly ordered him from the Walton home.

U. S. Padlock Is Sought On Hotel in Marlboro

Padlock proceedings against Wilson's Hotel in Marlboro, Md., were initiated yesterday by the Federal Government when Thomas Wilson, the proprietor, was ordered to show cause why the hotel should not be adjudged a nuisance.

A court order instructing Wilson to appear in Federal court in Baltimore on April 4 was served yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Eugene Snook. The order, signed by Judge Calvin W. Chestnut and Simon E. Sobeloff, United States District attorney, is based on a raid made on January 19. The hotel will be closed for a year unless Wilson can disprove the Government's contentions.

$250,000 More Is Given For New York City Quiz

Albany, N. Y., March 15 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight signed the Republican Legislature's bill appropriating $250,000 more for the legislative investigation of New York City's Democratic administration.

He gave his approval, he explained, only because the investigation was the strict business of the Legislature and not to be interfered with by the executive department.

NORFOLK MARSHAL AGREEMENT MADE

G. O. P. in Second District of Virginia Ends Row by Naming Pitman.

(Associated Press.)

After months of arguing about who should be United States marshal at Norfolk, Second District Republicans got together on George S. Pitman, described as a "career man," and yesterday sent his name to the Justice Department.

It was indicated in all quarters that Pitman's name would be forwarded to the Senate with dispatch. The Justice Department, which is advising President Hoover in the matter, has approved him, and both Virginia senators, Glass and Swanson, are favorable to him.

Pitman now is the acting marshal. He has served as deputy marshal since the term of John Saunders, who was appointed marshal by President Wilson. Pitman was elevated to "acting" head of the office by Judge Luther Way soon after the death of Marshal C. C. Smithers, of Cape Charles.

Has Been Dark Horse.

Throughout the long controversy, which bloomed into full vigor last November, when C. Bascom Slemp, Republican national committeeman, returned from a trip to Europe, Pitman has been the "dark horse."

While Representative Lankford was promoting first Walter Nye and then Paul White, both residents of Norfolk, for the office and L. S. Parsons, the party's district chairman, was supporting H. T. Cruser, Pitman's name still entered into the discussions.

The announcement that party leaders had turned to Pitman was made following the refusal of George H. Lewis, a Norfolk capitalist, to be a candidate for the nomination.

Lewis Refuses.

Lewis was called in last week, after the factions backing White and Cruser had shown signs of holding out indefinitely for their candidates. He asked time to ponder the matter and made his answer yesterday morning.

Soon afterward Slemp called on Senator Glass, and the announcement was made of Pitman's selection.

Lankford said leaders of all factions in the party informed him Saturday night that Pitman's appointment would be acceptable to them. The representative called them together on a week-end visit to his district.

The dispute which raged over five months was chiefly between two elements of the party, those who had been Republicans a long time and those who joined in recent years, principally during the Smith-Hoover campaign.

Cruser was backed by the first and Nye and White by the second. Some Democarts joined in the opposition to Nye and White, calling them "anti-Smith Democrats," and an effort was made to have the senators say whether they would fight either nomination. This Glass and Swanson would not do.

Lankford Backed White.

Lankford persisted in his effort to recognize the new element in the party, and only a few weeks ago issued a statement that he was backing White.

Lankford indicated yesterday that White "stood aside" in the interest of party harmony and Slemp revealed that Cruser probably would be rewarded with another Government job. He declined to say what the job was.

White was offered a Government position last week, but declined it.

It was with evident relief that a disturbing situation was over that the leaders told of Pitman's selection. Lankford, Slemp and Parsons all expressed pleasure that the decision was made.

Tribute to Three Men.

Parsons said he was "delighted the matter is settled, but I won't say it was settled to my satisfaction," mentioning his support of Cruser until the compromise was necessary.

Lankford paid a tribute to White, Cruser and Pitman.

"Both White and Cruser are fine men," he said, "and appointment of either would be agreeable to me. However, in view of the deadlock among my friends and the unanimous agreement on Mr. Pitman, I felt it best to recommend his appointment. It is a fitting reward for long and faithful service."

Injuries in Sled Crash Prove Fatal to Man, 35

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., March 15.—Injuries suffered last night when his big bob sled carrying seven others went down an icy hill, at Rowlesburg, and crashed into a moving automobile caused the death of Clarendon L. Heaton, 35, former truck driver, today in a hospital.

All the other passengers on the sled were injured but none seriously. Arless Knotts, 29, night policeman at Rowlesburg, and Miss Lottie Nestor, 15, Rowlesburg school girl, were treated at a Grafton hospital.

Page Reduces Budget Fourth Due to Byrd Plan

Luray, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—State operation of the county roads as a secondary highway system has enabled the Page County board of supervisors to make a 25 per cent cut in the tentative budget advertised for the coming year.

The cut will mean a savings of approximately $23,000 in taxes.

TOWN'S TREASURER ACCUSED IN PETITION

Boulevard Heights Property Owners Ask Injunction in Tax Wrangles.

Charging irregularities in the office of the treasurer of the town of Boulevard Heights, Md., George W. Walker and his wife, Jayne, yesterday petitioned the Marlboro Circuit Court for an injunction to restrain the treasurer from selling property for unpaid taxes.

William B. Peterson, acting treasurer of the town, is named defendant in the suit. An injunction to prevent his spending any more of the town money and a court order for him to produce his books and account for funds is also asked in the suit.

The bill filed by the Walkers says that Peterson has refused them access to the town records and that threats have been made to burn the books before they will be shown. For this reason, they say, they believe, but are not sure, that John Harris was elected treasurer of the town in July, 1930.

If a tax levy was made, their bill states, it was not done at a duly called meeting of the town commissioners, and no list of delinquent taxpayers was posted, as called for by the town charter. Furthermore, they claim, some lots appear twice on the published list, two persons being assessed for taxes on the same land, other properties on which taxes have been paid are on the list, and lands on which taxes have not been paid are not on the list.

The bill, which was filed through Attorney W. Carroll Beatty, also states that Peterson has received rebates from county taxes for building roads and has received the town tax money, but that no statement has ever been published showing the use to which this money has been put.

Loudoun Republican Mass Meeting Slated

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., March 15.—A mass meeting of the Republican voters of Loudoun County will be held in the town hall of Purcellville next Tuesday at 2 p. m. to elect delegates and alternates to the Republican congressional district convention, to be held in Purcellville March 29.

Shirley Piggott, Purcellville, is the Republican chairman for Loudoun County, and N. C. Nichols, Leesburg, is secretary.

Court Is Asked to Stay Execution of Powers

Elkins, W. Va., March 15 (A.P.).—The United States district court was asked today to stay the execution of Harry F. Powers, West Virginia mass slayer, sentenced to be hanged Friday night.

J. Ed Law, attorney for Powers, said the former matrimonial agent had been denied his constitutional rights; that he was not given a fair trial, should have been given a change of venue, and he asked a writ of habeas corpus to prevent the hanging. Judge William E. Baker said he would hand down a decision at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

WEALTHY STOCKMAN FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

Winchester Police Believe Scott Grant May Have Been Attacked.

Winchester, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Scott Grant, wealthy Frederick County stockman, was found unconscious at his home near here today, his head severely injured. He had not regained consciousness early tonight, and physicians said his condition was critical.

The discovery was made by relatives, who recalled they had not seen him since Saturday night, when he complained of not feeling well. The furnace fire had died out, and Grant's body, clad only in underclothing, was cold.

James S. Grant, a brother, said apparently his brother had become ill and had fallen when he tried to make his way to the telephone. Police, however, were of the opinion the wealthy stockman may have been attacked, and based this theory on a gold cuff button engraved with the letter "B" which was found on the floor.

Police found all doors and windows locked. Relatives said Grant seldom kept any great amount of money in his home.

The stockman is unmarried, and for a number of years has lived alone in a fashionable residential section. Besides his extensive stock and farm interests he is a bank director and a member of the county board of supervisors.

Hotel at Hagerstown Is Bought at Auction

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., March 15.—Hotel Alexandria, on the public square, and one of the largest hotel buildings in western Maryland, was sold at public sale this afternoon to the Antietam Hotel Corporation, of Richmond, the present operators. The sale price was $25,000.

The sale was under second-mortgage proceedings, subject to first mortgage bonds of $524,500 and taxes, sewer and water rentals, amounting to $28,881.62. The hotel, a modern ten-story brick building, was erected five years ago at an approximate cost of $1,000,000. The Antietam Hotel Corporation will continue the management.

Frank Wolford, Retired, Dies Near Wheatland

Special to The Washington Post.

Wheatland, Va., March 15.—Frank Wolford, 75, retired merchant, died yesterday at his home near Wheatland after an extended illness. He was a native of Loudoun County, the son of the late John Wolford. He formerly conducted a general merchandise store at Wheatland and was also engaged in farming.

Four daughters survive, among them being Mrs. Alice Arnold and Miss Edith Wolford, at home, and two married daughters in Washington. He is also survived by two brothers, Silas and John, of Lovettsville. Funeral services will be held from his late residence tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in the Hillsboro Cemetery.

Virginia Still Digs In Snow Blockade

Workers Toil on Roads Nine Days After Big Blizzard.

Floyd, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Nine days after the blizzard which practically paralyzed traffic and communication throughout western and northern Virginia, four snow plows and a force of aproximately 40 men with picks and shovels were moving huge drifts on route 23, a short distance north of Riner, in Montgomery County.

After several days of hard work, highway employes were able to cut a single track through the drifts and the workmen now are widening the passage, thereby reducing hazards. The snow in some places is banked nearly 12 feet high and is melting slowly.

In Floyd County, schools will reopen tomorrow morning, after having been closed a week, but county roads, almost without exception, continued blocked, and it was necessary for Judge Thurston Keister today to continue the March term of court until May. It was impossible for witnesses and jurors to reach the courthouse. A meeting of the board of supervisors scheduled for today has been postponed until Friday.

John H. Stokes' Funeral Held at Virginia Home

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., March 15.—John H. Stokes, well known resident of the western end of the county, who died yesterday at his home near White Hall, after a brief illness, was buried this afternoon, the body being taken to his old home in Fluvanna County for interment.

Mr. Stokes was a native of Fluvanna, a son of the late Benjamin Stokes, and was 76 years of age. He is survived by one son, H. H. Stokes, of Ivy, this county, and one daughter, Mrs. K. D. Dowell, of Newport News, Va.

UTILITY COMMISSION UPHELD BY RITCHIE

Charges on Public Service Group By Annapolis Chamber Discounted.

Annapolis, Md., March 15.—Gov. Albert C. Ritchie today notified Annapolis Chamber of Commerce that there is not only no reason for him to request the resignation of members of the Maryland Public Service Commission, but on the contrary they "are entitled to the confidence of the community."

These statements by the governor were contained in a letter addressed to David S. Jenkins, president of the chamber, and represented the executive's answer to a letter and petition recently presented to the governor by Jenkins in behalf of the chamber, in which charges were made that the commission's members are "proutility," unsympathetic and unresponsive to public demands, and unwilling to grant fair hearings and render fair decisions.

Back of the chamber's complaint and request that the commissioners be ousted from office, is the fight that has been waged in Annapolis for several years, to secure a reduction in gas and electric rates charged by the Annapolis and Chesapeake Bay Power Co. It is charged that consumers in Annapolis and vicinity pay a much higher rate than is charged in either Washington or Baltimore.

Gov. Ritchie, in answering Jenkins' letter, inclosed a lengthy statement from Harold E. West, chairman of the service commission, setting forth investigations that have been made of local conditions, and asserting that the charges are untrue.

In the meantime, however, John H. Lewin, people's counsel before the Public Service Commission, has assured municipal authorities of Annapolis, as well as the chamber that a thorough investigation of affairs of the local power company will be undertaken as soon as a similar survey of the Potomac Edison Co. is completed.

Inscription Drawn For Davis Tablet

Gov. Pollard Finishes Task for Memorial Marking His Inauguration.

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Gov. Pollard has prepared an inscription to mark the site of the inauguration of Jefferson Davis as President of the Confederate States of America, it was learned today.

The site is between the Jefferson and Mason figures at the eastern side of Crawford's equestrian statue of Washington in Capitol Square. It is to be marked by a bronze tablet inscribed as follows: "Inauguration of Davis. On a platform erected on this spot Jefferson Davis was inaugurated as the regularly elected President of the Confederate States of America, February 11, 1862."

The governor also is preparing formal inscriptions for the busts of John Marshall and Matthew F. Maury in the old hall of the House of Delegates.

Art Museum Proposes Date.

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Gov. Pollard announced today that April 7 has been set as the time for the art commission to receive proposals for the State of Virginia Art Museum toward which John Barton Payne has contributed $100,000. Judge Payne in offering the fund to the State suggested that in the event no satisfactory site is offered the building should be placed on the Lee Camp Soldiers' Home property here.

MISSING FRANKLIN BANKER IS LOCATED

Special to The Washington Post.

Franklin, W. Va., March 15.—Information received here from the State Road Commission said the automobile owned by Irving Ritchie, of Franklin, missing cashier of the closed Farmers Bank of Pendleton, has been found near Libby, Mont. A deputy sheriff forwarded license, body and serial numbers to the commission, all of them the same as on Ritchie's car. State police wired the Montana officers, asking for more information.

Ritchie disappeared from his home here February 1, by motor saying he was going to Baltimore and Richmond in reference to a plan for reopening the closed bank.

Since his disappearance a partial audit of accounts of the bank by an assistant State bank commissioner has shown a shortage of approximately $50,000, it is learned.

Libby, Mont., March 15 (A.P.).—Irving Ritchie, former Franklin, W. Va., banker for whom authorities of fifteen States have been searching since February 1 at the request of a brother, arrived in Libby last Wednesday. Apparently he is contemplating establishing his home here, where he was engaged in banking several years ago.

He refused to discuss his departure from Franklin, where he had been cashier of the closed Farmers Bank of Pendleton, or his future plans. He told friends he had driven West along a Southern route to California and north to Libby, making the trip by easy stages.

He is understood to be in correspondence with his wife. He asked renters to vacate a house which he owns here and said he might bring his family here to live.

Manager Is Named In Charlottesville

Williamson Is Appointed to Fill City Office Temporarily.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., March 15.—Mayor Fred L. Watson has appointed City Engineer S. L. Williamson, jr., as temporary city manager to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Henry A. Yancey, who today became city manager of Petersburg, Va.

Mr. Williamson, who has been with the city for about one year, will act until the commissioners choose a permanent manager. There have been 75 applications for the job. It was learned from a reliable source today that a selection will be made at the next regular meeting of the council, and that the members are already agreed on the new manager.

The temporary city manager is a graduate of Virginia Military Institute, and before coming with the city was associated with the firm of Lee H. Williamson, now merged with Allen J. Saville, in Richmond. Mr. Yancey left Charlottesville yesterday afternoon. He will, however, keep in close communication with local authorities until a number of important matters are disposed of. His resignation was accepted by the council three weeks ago. He takes the new job in Petersburg at a salary of $6,000, an increase of $1,500 a year over the position here.

City Officers Reelected In Shepherdstown Vote

Special to The Washington Post.

Shepherdstown, W. Va., March 15. Shepherdstown's annual election yesterday brought out only one ticket—that composed of the present officers—and it went through unopposed, with a very light vote.

The slate is composed of: Mayor, J. L. Waldeck; recorder, A. S. Lucas; councilmen, J. H. Robinson, W. E. Rutherford, F. R. McQuilkin, W. W. Waddy, Russell White.

Woman's Pocketbook Is Stolen in Church

Mrs. Faith Stanley, of Hyattsville, Md., yesterday reported to police that her pocketbook, containing $840 in checks and valuable papers, was stolen from a pew in Epiphany Church, 1317 G street northwest, while she was attending services.

ROAD TAX BOOSTED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Cut From 23 to 18 Cents Is Rescinded and Rate of 20 Cents Is Fixed.

Reconsidering their action several weeks ago in cutting the Prince Georges County road tax from 23 to 18 cents on $100, the board of commissioners yesterday tentatively set a 20-cent rate for roads in this year's levy.

The change was made in view of the large number of roads which have been requested and in deference to a general feeling on the board that 18 cents would not produce sufficient revenue to keep the highways in good condition. Need for road money is made more pressing by the fact that only about $35,000 is coming to the county from State road funds, about one-third of the sum usually received.

At the 20-cent rate approximately $120,000 will be available for roads and about $45,000 of this will be returned to the incorporated towns, which keep up their own streets on a rebate of 75 per cent of the road tax they pay. The bridge fund and salaries will call for another $5,000, so that about $70,000 will actually be spent on county roads. During 1931 $78,000 was spent.

A petition from the Oxon Hill Parent-Teacher Association was received, asking the commissioners to do nothing to impair the efficiency of the schools. No action was taken on a request from the Laurel Welfare Association for aid, as the county has no funds available. The board agreed to take over a part of Charlotte avenue in Riverdale if the right-of-way can be obtained.

JUDGE WILKERSON.

A few weeks ago the whole country turned its eyes to Chicago, where Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson faced a crucial test of fidelity and courage. He had before him the most notorious gangster in the country, who had completely cowed local authorities and whose gunmen boasted that no court dared to send him to prison. There is reason to believe that the judge's life had been threatened, and that threats had been made against his relatives. It is believed that he was ordered to deal gently with Al Capone or suffer the penalty of death or the death or kidnaping of his loved ones.

Little has been made of the threats against Judge Wilkerson, because he did not quail under them or reveal them to the public. In view of what has happened to the Lindbergh child, the deadly meaning of the messages to Judge Wilkerson may be appreciated.

This judge could have bartered his honor in exchange for personal safety. By betraying the public he could have made sure that assassins would not touch him or his family.

Judge Wilkerson met his test like an American. He was the law in the flesh. With heroic courage he administered the law, resolved to sacrifice his life, if need be, in loyalty to his oath.

In recognition of Judge Wilkerson's excellent record as a jurist, and with special appreciation of his devotion to duty in the Capone case, President Hoover nominated him to a higher court. The country applauded this honor to its faithful servant.

Judge Wilkerson's nomination has been held in the grip of a few senators who happen to have power to block a report. Weeks have passed, and the Senate has not had an opportunity to reward this faithful public servant by approving his promotion. Gangsters, gunmen, and kidnapers everywhere are encouraged to hope that their Nemesis will be robbed of honor and be so discredited that other judges will become discouraged and bargain with them for personal safety rather than risk their lives in performance of duty.

The diabolical crew that snatched the Lindbergh baby from his crib can not but rejoice in the prospect that the judge they most feared may be punished by the Senate. Gangsters, racketeers, gunmen, kidnapers and all other criminals are encouraged by the news that Judge Wilkerson's nomination is blocked. The President of the United States, it seems, must not dare to recognize the fidelity of a judge who is faithful to his trust. The Senate must not be permitted to ratify the President's choice of an upright and fearless judge. By hook and crook a vote must be postponed so that Judge Wilkerson may be discredited, if possible.

Why does the Senate permit a subcommittee to block a vote on the confirmation of this nomination? How much humiliation must be dealt out to Judge Wilkerson, before he is to be rejected or accepted by the Senate?

A shameful delay has occurred in this case—a delay that brings public resentment against the Senate itself. It is inconceivable that the Senate will reject the nomination by its vote, but the delay in reaching a vote is becoming equivalent to rejection in the public mind. Judge Wilkerson is being punished, virtually with the consent of the United States Senate. What a spectacle, at the moment when Al Capone brazenly demands freedom under the plea that his power among kidnapers and murderers may enable him to rescue the Lindbergh child! What a boon to the crime power that is terrorizing the country, when the Senate fails and refuses to stand by a judge who could not be terrorized!

The people suffer long, and patiently wait for law to protect them. But they will not patiently witness the crucifixion of their faithful defenders.

SLAVE-MADE IMPORTS.

American interests which are trying to bar all slave-made imports from Soviet Russia have once more run into difficulty. The law specifically says that articles made in whole or in part by involuntary labor shall not be shipped into the United States, unless the supply in this country is insufficient to meet the consumptive demands. The fact that forced labor is used extensively in Russia is not open to question. Yet imports from the Soviet are increasing rapidly.

Secretary Mills can not declare a general embargo against Soviet goods because some imports from that country are exempt by the joker referring to the sufficiency of the domestic supply. Consequently, he has laid down the policy of dealing with each shipment as it arrives. But there is no way of proving that any specific cargo was produced by slave labor, because this Government has no relations with the Soviet and no agents in Russia to furnish the needed information. The result is nonenforcement of the law, damage to American industry and competition between slaves and free American labor.

Forced labor is the rule and not the exception in Russia. The Soviet constitution makes labor a duty of all citizens, and criminal penalties are invoked against any one refusing to perform "work of national importance." Abundant evidence has been gathered by officials of this Government to show that forced labor—slavery—is a fundamental part of the Soviet system.

In view of this fact, why should the Treasury take upon itself the burden of proving that each cargo from the Soviet consists of forced-labor goods? It is well known, for example, the labor is mobilized for the production of lumber and coal. Why should not those products be excluded, unless ample evidence is furnished to prove that they are not subject to the embargo? Why should not that prohibition be extended to all imports which are produced in sufficient quantity in this country to supply the domestic market?

Congress has given the Secretary of the Treasury authority to set up what regulations are necessary to put the ban against slave-made goods into effect. It does not seem that Mr. Mills has made use of all the resources at his disposal to carry out this section of the tariff act. It is true that the law contains a joker, but indications are that the regulations set up by the Treasury are even weaker than the law.

A new appeal to Congress will be made. But it is by no means certain that a tariff amendment of this character can be enacted in this busy session. Pending the outcome of that effort the Treasury ought to tighten up its regulations, to throw the burden of proof upon the importer and, in case of uncertainty, to give American enterprise and free labor the benefit of the doubt.

BEWARE OF GENIUS.

Prof. Howard T. McClusky, of the University of Michigan, is the most recent pedagogue to develop a phobia against genius. Special education for gifted children, he has said, may be just as much a menace to civilization as a benefit.

If little Junior exhibits signs of interest in engineering discourage him. If his small sister manifests a talent for the piano slap her hands. Prof. McClusky is afraid that they may develop into public enemies.

This seems ridiculous, but permit the professor to speak for himself. "Let us admit," he argues, "that society desperately needs a cure for cancer and dementia praecox and that some gifted child grown to maturity will discover those cures and become a benefactor. But we must also admit that some gifted child may some day invent some poisonous gas, or electric ray, or means of wholesale transmission of disease germs which, placed in the hands of some other gifted child at the head of some government, might mean the end of civilization."

In other words, teaching a child to write is risky because certain persons who were taught to write became professional forgers, and cultivating a child's aptitude for drawing is dangerous because certain persons who were encouraged in this respect became counterfeiters.

Prof. McClusky would not have cultivated the gifts of Leonardo da Vinci, Beethoven, Dante, Shakespeare, Milton, Goethe, Tolstoi, Pasteur or Fabre. In his zeal to institutionalize mediocrity he would have discouraged the benefactors of mankind; all, that is, except a mere handful to whom he pays the doubtful compliment of implying that they never were "gifted children."

"To make a mistake with a person of mediocre talent is serious," he admits, "but to make a mistake with a person of genius may wreck the progress of years." His meaning is doubtful, but apparently he imagines that safe progress depends upon cautiously cultivated stupidity.

HAZING THE FARM BOARD.

Critics of the Farm Board are horrified at the paper losses that organization has sustained in trying to stabilize agriculture. In 1930 the board lent money to cotton cooperatives, advancing them 9 cents per pound on cotton. Now cotton is selling for about 6 cents a pound. Such lack of foresight enrages the critics of the Farm Board.

No one feels inclined to chide the financier whose investments have shrunk to one-half, or in many cases to one-third of their value. As a matter of fact, the whole country slipped into the depression with confident expectations that a turn toward improvement was just around the corner. Private investors who have lost millions—and these include the great financiers of America—are given sympathy. But public officials who did not foresee the depths to which the depression would carry commodity prices are generally denounced as stupid and negligent.

The one vital mistake that the Farm Board made was in trying to peg prices without any check upon production. Perhaps this error in judgment should be laid at the door of Congress, which gave the board extensive powers and sent it forth to experiment in agricultural relief. At any rate, the board seems to have operated entirely within the law. If it had not used every legal method of aiding distressed farmers during the critical period of falling prices and contracting markets the board would doubtless be subjected to more severe criticism than is now accorded it.

The effect of the depression upon agriculture unquestionably has been mitigated by the Farm Board's activities. Millions of dollars have been lent to cooperatives, thus saving them from bankruptcy. Organization of farmers for the control of production and marketing has been encouraged. The severe decline that has taken place in commodity prices has come about in spite of and not because of the Farm Board's work.

There is a disposition in Congress to make the Farm Board a scapegoat for all the farmers' ills. Already Congress has donated to the Red Cross Farm Board wheat that cost about $32,800,000. Since no appropriation was made to pay for this wheat, that sum is automatically deducted from the board's revolving fund at a time when it is needed most. While prices are low and the markets are glutted the board hesitates to liquidate any of its wheat, cotton or coffee holdings. Hence, its activities will have to be curtailed for lack of capital. The generous gift of wheat for the unemployed thus becomes a slap at the farmer, who is also in trouble.

Congress may be called upon to reimburse the board for the wheat it has given away. Congress can not well be placed in the position of subtracting from the aid previously allowed to agriculture while extending aid to banks, industry and labor.

A DISTRICT ESTATE TAX.

In its first report to the Senate District committee the Bureau of Efficiency discusses the least controversial of the District tax bills passed by the House. The estate tax as adopted by the House would not impose a heavy new burden upon residents of Washington. For the most part it involves the transfer of taxes now paid to the Federal Government to the credit of the District. Federal revenue would be reduced by about $600,000, while District revenue would be increased about $750,000.

Under the present set-up the Government collects all of the estate taxes paid in the District. Since the law allows 80 per cent of all estate taxes paid to local government units to be deducted from the Federal levy, the additional tax to be collected under the House bill would be small. The measure would tap for the District a source of revenue to which it is fully entitled, and which is now being used by Congress to supply part of its meager contribution to the maintenance of the National Capital.

After eliminating the inequities of this bill, as pointed out by the Bureau of Efficiency, the Senate should by all means pass it. This is the only measure in the program outlined by the Mapes committee that is designed to do justice to taxpayers of the District. The others are calculated to relieve Congress of its share of responsibility for maintenance of the Federal City. They would make no substantial addition to the revenue available to the District, because the Federal contribution would be cut down in proportion to the higher taxes. In effect, the House seeks to impose these new taxes upon the people of Washington for the benefit of Uncle Sam.

Results of the other investigations conducted by the Bureau of Efficiency on the House tax bills are awaited with a great deal of interest. The bureau has manifested a keen insight into problems of the District as well as a disposition to be fair. It may be assumed that the findings of the bureau will have a far-reaching effect upon the Senate District committee. Taxpayers of Washington are relying upon the logic of these reports and the common sense of senators in charge of District affairs to save them from the punitive expedition launched by Representative Mapes and his confreres.

If the torture of filling in income tax returns could only be capitalized the Treasury would be overflowing.

BACK TO THE FARM

By ARTHUR POUND, in the Atlantic Monthly.

Since misfortune hit the towns farmers are feeling more contented in their adversity. For eight years after the war the farmers had to take prosperity on faith, because they never saw any of it. What is more irritating than to read of irresponsible town laborers getting increased wages while one's own time and care bring less than before?

Now a balance has been struck; the farmer realizes the sorry plight of the out-of-work who has no hold on the land, who loses his job without notice and is left without a grubstake between himself and hunger.

In a quiet way the farmers are already doing quite a sizable relief work. Their out-of-work boys and girls have moved home in large numbers to wait for better times in an area where, as long as seeds sprout and buildings hang together, the bell rings for meals three times a day, a roof fends off rain and a wood lot provides fuel.

The extent of the recent migration from town to country must be enormous. Industrial cities have lost heavily in population, some of them as much as 25 per cent. Starvation has not overtaken the departed, since vital statistics show that the death rate is down. Those who have left the towns must be on the farms; there is no other refuge large enough to accommodate such throngs with so little confusion.

A gnarled veteran of the soil told me it seemed like old times to have the children back. "Sure, I make them work, but it isn't the work I'm thinking of. There's somebody to talk to now. You know a farm can be a dreadful lonely place sometimes with so much machinery and just two old folks on it. I haven't had a hired man to swear at since 1912."

—Kansas City Star.

POST HASTE.

"The ides of March are come."
"Ay, Caesar; but not gone."

It is hardly necessary for us to add anything to the first-page warnings on the danger of being a multimillionaire.

There was one glaring inconsistency in the twin broadcast of the La Follette brothers. Senator Bob proved the necessity of Federal doles, and Gov. Phil demonstrated how a State can take care of itself.

Twenty more drys voting wet would have tied the House resubmission ballot. They might have done it if they had known it would smoke the Speaker out to decide a tie.

Two hundred heirs fighting for the Wendel fortune seem determined not to leave a bone for the dogs that were brought up to enjoy a million-dollar Fifth avenue playground.

Polar weather has made it difficult to get the bears out of their hibernating caves, so the senatorial stock exchange investigation had to be postponed.

The Japanese physiognomy will stand the shock of relinquishing a strip of land around Shanghai when effective domination of a territory as large as France and Germany combined is assured.

Free traders will see in the French embargo on American fruits a direct retaliation for the perfumery duty.

Henry Pu-Yi, the dictated-to of Manchuria, has lived most of his life in a Japanese legation, so Tokyo will have little difficulty in having him recognized.

Advocates of starting industry with a dole evidently do not know that machinery runs backward when you twist the belt.

At least it can be claimed for the proposed tax on nonexistent beer that it will produce as much revenue as a tax on oil that will not be imported.

Wheat prices dropped 3 cents following defeat of the wet resolution in the House. That wheat speculators could not foresee this result confirms suspicions that have existed for some time about wheat speculators.

U. S. Steel's annual report shows production at 24 per cent of capacity, but finds cheer in the fact that 1931 output "was so far under the average of the past ten years that pent-up demand should soon begin to be felt." With such an example no company should bruit pessimism.

Old John D. doesn't take an active part in business any more, but if he drops a stroke at golf, or gives two dimes by mistake to the same caddie, it is sufficient excuse to "unsettle" the stock exchange.

The beer movement is getting in some good propaganda. Lawrence Tibbett's broadcast of the "Stein Song" was fine. PAUL HUDSON.

Stop the Raid.

Louisville Courier Journal.

Congress, ever timorous, is fearful of a showdown on another veterans' raid on the Treasury. It voted a billion dollars which accounted for the deficit. It will no doubt vote for $2,500,000,000 this year, doubling the deficit for the present twelve-month period. It will override President Hoover's veto believing that its reelection is dependent upon this squandering of the people's money.

The American Legion can do much toward stopping this illogical extravagance. Since it prides itself on saving the Nation, it should not lend itself to a grab that would well nigh ruin it.

Reward of Mountain Climbing Is Not the View at the Top

By ROBERT QUILLEN

LET us be grateful for adversity. It keeps us from getting the things we want, and thus enables us to keep on wanting.

There is a popular belief that happiness is a result of getting the things we desire; but the truth is that happiness is a result of desiring, and each individual's life affords abundant evidence to establish it.

The truth, in this as in other instances, is obscured by a superficial plausibility that is accepted as truth merely because it seems obvious.

Consider the card player. He will say that his chief desire is to win. But if his opponent is unskilled or stupid, so that winning offers no difficulty whatever, he will lose interest in the game and quit. His desire is not to win, but to match wits with a worthy adversary. It is the effort to win that affords pleasure.

The average man who has a wife loves and enjoys her, but without any disloyalty he may confess that his pulse does not quicken at her approach. The madness and ecstasy of courtship are gone. She has become a commonplace of existence just as his hands and eyes are commonplaces of existence. He values his hands and eyes, as he values his wife, but he is not consciously happy because of them. He accepts them as a matter of fact.

People who long for play-pretties they can not afford will not accept this philosophy. They are constitutionally incapable of seeing the truth of it, for nature tricks us all to keep us striving and pushing forward.

But whatever prizes man may win, whether great or small, inevitably seem rather trivial once he has grown accustomed to possessing them.

It isn't variety that is the spice of life, but uncertainty. The happiest people are those who desire much and labor in hope to win it. If any man could win the world and no longer desire anything at all, or so much as hope for anything beyond his reach, he would be the most miserable of creatures.

PRO AND CON

How It Works.

Chicago Tribune.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, caused $27,136 for a market news service to Boise to be restored to the appropriation bill from which it had been trimmed by the House of Representatives. Idaho in the fiscal year of 1931 took $2,682,000 in Federal subsidies and paid $723,000 in internal revenue.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, had $25,000 restored for farm management work in his State. Montana received $4,430,000 in Federal subsidies and paid $1,793,000 into the Treasury.

Senator Stephens, of Mississippi, had the appropriation increased for the extermination of the buffalo gnat. Mississippi took $400,000 more from the Federal Treasury than it paid in internal revenue.

Secretary Wilbur, California, of the Interior Department, persuaded the senators to add $2,000,000 to the Boulder dam (California water) appropriation. California real estate is the principal beneficiary of this Federal project—current estimate of expense $165,000,000.

The House of Representatives, a house of proportionate representation, did a little, and little enough, to reduce some of the Federal subsidies of the mendicant States. The Senate, without proportionate representation, is the citadel of the waste lands. It is there that the almshouses get their handouts.

Cooperation.

Kansas City Times.

House Democrats still seem excessively sensitive as to whether they or the President should be mainly credited with the achievements and progress of the emergency program.

Whose Head to Hit?

Nashville Banner.

The Democrats are evidently full of fight, but the dangerous uncertainty is whether they'll finally decide to scrap one another or the Republicans.

Senatorial Fairness.

New York Sun.

Senator Harrison continues his assault on bureaucratic waste of printer's ink. With high zest he returned last week to the fray, using for text a remonstrance from the Secretary of Agriculture, who charged that he had been unfair and had ignored pertinent facts and figures. Some faint impression of senatorial fairness may be gleaned from Mr. Harrison's retort in which he reminded his colleagues that former Senator Reed, of Missouri, had once described the Secretary of Agriculture as "the steam whistle of a fertilizer plant." When the statesman from Mississippi also used the phrase "dumb as is the Secretary of Agriculture," he no doubt was appealing to that peculiar sense of forensic sportsmanship which considers it proper to humiliate an opponent in debate.

Hoarders Bears.

Topeka Capital.

The elder J. P. Morgan's saying which has often been quoted that "any man who is a bear on the United States will go broke," is just as good today as it ever was, and it was always good. The hoarder is a bear on the United States. He is not betting for it but against. His influence is against recovery. And if there were enough hoarders, they, along with others, would go broke. The appeal to patriotism comes down to the appeal to take a chance on the United States.

Expensive Business.

Kansas City Star.

The country's entire cost of government—local, State and Federal—is estimated at about 13 billion dollars; about 31 per cent of it being Federal, about 15 per cent State and the rest, about 54 per cent, local. One of America's biggest jobs right now is throwing off a sizable part of the taxation burden and of so distributing that burden that it will fall equitably upon all the people.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Steady Theatergoer Discourses on Movies and the Possibility of Improvement, With Increased Profits.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is devoutly to be wished that the survey by the motion picture industry to find out what movie entertainment the public wants will have good results. Inasmuch as it does not seem far from the fact to say that every family in the United States is represented in the moviegoer ranks, it is doubtful whether moving picture patronage can be very greatly increased. But no doubt many who now frequently visit and enjoy moving picture shows as a mental relaxation feel that there is room for artistic and to some extent moral improvement in screen drama. I think that by means of that improvement it might be possible to increase the price of admission, with much greater profit than at present for the producers.

Inquiry as to what class of play has the strongest appeal to the public at large may prove interesting, but is not of great practical importance. Variety is the spice of things theatrical as it is of real life. The general run of theater-goers have no special choice as to whether a play is comic, tragic, realistic or romantic, so that it impresses them as good of its kind.

Plays in the past were as a rule subject to sincere criticism. It may sometimes have been too severe. The mood of the audience itself was critical. But our movie audiences are uncritical. The world of movie fans consists for the most part of high-school girls and their more or less emotional mothers. They are more interested in the personality of the actor or actress than in the goodness or badness of his or her acting. Ridiculous situations such as only a raw movie director could think up are tolerated if they are sufficiently mawkish and passionate, while the cinema heroine, who is a fine dresser and appears in evening dress in all sorts of inappropriate places, seems to be a prime favorite.

Under the circumstances the critics of the press are not much to be blamed if they assume that the prospect of teaching the movie public to pay any attention to the rudimentals of play construction is hopeless. Our chief hope is that the screen producers, catering less to an unregulated and sickly sentimental taste, will in the future try to fix a more artistic balance by means of plays a little more acceptable to the masculine element. I think this would prove helpful to motion picture enterprise. Certainly The Post is right when it says:

"It is difficult to believe that the motion picture, theaters would lose any patronage by substituting a higher quality of art and drama for much of the rubbish that is shown on the screen." H. M.

Reader Believes Proposed Referendum Would Lead to Anarchy.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A "referendum" on the Constitution of the United States! What would you think of a lawyer's taking an important case to the court green and submitting it to the vote of the irresponsible crowd there? Such a vote would be useless. That is exactly what the proposed referendum is; only, of course, the Constitution is infinitely more important than any case.

The Constitution is the supreme law of the land, above all other law, and must be respected and obeyed by citizens and foreigners within our gates, even by the highest courts. It is the firm foundation of our Government, the protector of our lives and liberties. The great men who framed it safeguarded it from insult and injury, providing the only way it can be changed. Every citizen or class has the right to move, in due and orderly manner, for repeal of the whole or any part.

Any other way is illegal, decides nothing, is incapable of removing any clause of the Constitution, and simply makes a football of the Constitution, to be kicked around in politics.

This referendum of our Constitution is a cunning and disreputable effort to lynch it, to assassinate it. Practicing such vicious methods, we would soon destroy respect for law and reach a degradation comparable to that of the Crusaders, who in their beginning organized "to teach juries not to convict in prohibition cases."

Respect for and obedience to law are the real test of civilization. As civilized people, let us, if changes are to be made, make them in the orderly and only lawful way and not seek, by encouraging disrespect for law, to bring on anarchy.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE "GOLF LOAD'S" PRAYER.

All I ask for the coming year
When the grass grows green again
From my partner's lips I may not hear:
"Come on, you ball and chain!"
I would do my share as a golfer should
And play to the sportsman's code;
When the game's close let my shots be good,
I don't want to be the load!

I do not ask for an expert's skill
Nor a round in seventy-two.
I'm quite content with the spot I fill
And the commonplace things I do.
But this I pray when the game is tense
And the chance to win is mine,
That I may play with some common sense
And not take an eight or nine.

'Tis not for a champion's style I ask
Nor a scratch man's medal score;
I can be content with the commoner task
Of making ninety-four.
But here's my prayer for the season new,
That my partners shan't complain;
With help in the pinches let me come through
And not be a ball and chain.

W. King and Assistant Surgeon General C. C. Pierce.

Mrs. Hoggatt Clopton has out invitations for luncheon on March 30, at the Shoreham Hotel in honor of Senora de Alfaro, wife of the Minister of Panama.

This is the first of a series of luncheons Mrs. Clopton will give, the next one being on April 12, when she and her daughter, Mrs. Leland Dotson Webb, will be joint hostesses.

Miss Helen Phelps Stokes, accompanied by Miss Mary R. Stanford and Miss Betty T. Cahill, arrived in Washington yesterday from Old Bennington, Vt., to make an extensive stay at Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. Shouse to Inaugurate Democratic Victory Teas.

Mrs. Jouett Shouse will inaugurate the first of the series of Democratic victory teas to be given this spring in her home, 2230 Massachusetts avenue northwest, this afternoon from 4:30 to 6. Mrs. Shouse will be assisted by Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Mrs. Arthur O'Brien and other prominent Democratic women.

These teas are given to help raise the District of Columbia's victory fund quota. There will be a surprise for the guests in the nature of the presence of an internationally known artist who will give a few numbers. The next tea will be given by Mrs. J. Borden Harriman at her home, Foxall, on the Ridge road, Georgetown, March 23. Mrs. Arthur O'Brien will entertain with a bridge party at her country home on March 30.

The "District Night" Horse Show, which will be given by the Riding and Hunt Club on Friday at 8 p. m. will have the District officials as guests of honor.

The invited guests are Dr. and Mrs. L. H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, and Maj. and Mrs. C. A. Davidson, Gen. and Mrs. Herbert Crosby, Capt. and Mrs. H. C. Whitehurst and Capt. and Mrs. Hugh P. Oram.

This is the last adult indoor horse show of the season, and the joint chairmen, Maj. Harry Leonard and Mr. Melvin C. Hazen, have planned a most attractive program consisting of seven classes, including hunters, 4 years old and under, open jumping, saddle horse, park or road; bareback class, hunters, Corinthians and championship, in which the grand championship will be awarded to the horse winning the greatest number of championships for the season.

Schooling for nonmembers will be permitted today between 12 noon and 2 p. m., and at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

Mrs. F. Lawrence Walker will entertain at luncheon today at Wardman Park Hotel, and her guests, who will number sixteen, will play bridge afterward.

Fort Myer Society Circus April 1 and 2.

Washington society is showing its interest in the Fort Myer Society Circus by making early reservations for the boxes and choice seats in the large indoor riding arena, where this event will be held on the afternoons and evenings of April 1 and 2. Featuring the famous Fort Myer exhibition riders, assisted by an outstanding group of young horsewomen from the Capital, the circus with its colorful setting and bright costumes yearly attracts a most distinguished audience.

Among those who have subscribed for boxes are Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Mrs. Cary D. Langhorne, Mrs. J. Henry Lancashire, Mrs. E. St. John Greble, Senator and Mrs. David A. Reed, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Guy V. Henry, Mrs. Henry B. Carpender, Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, Mrs. Keith Merrill, Brig. Gen. Francis Le J. Parker, Mrs. George R. Cecil, Mrs. George B. Pillsbury, Mrs. James S. Parker, Mrs. Clarence E. Hancock, Mrs. I. S. Whitehouse, Col. and Mrs. Harry N. Cootes, Mr. Katsuji Debuchi, Maj. Gen. George Van Horn Moseley, Maj. Gen. J. L. Chamberlain, Maj. George S. Patton, jr., Maj. Reginald L. Foster, Col. R. R. Wallace, Mrs. A. M. Balaley, Mrs. Eleanor Patterson, Col. and Mrs. M. E. Locke and Lieut. Col. G. R. Allen.

This year a substantial part of the proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the District of Columbia unemployment relief fund, which is an enlargement in the scope of welfare work for which the circus has heretofore been held.

Mrs. Lynn Ramsay Edminster and Mrs. James Austin Stone, of Wesley Heights, were joint hostesses at luncheon and bridge yesterday at the clubhouse of the American Association of University Women, when the guests were Mrs. Roy D. Adams, Mrs. William M. Ballinger, Miss Mary Louise Brown, Mrs. Carl C. Crampton, Mrs. Morris D. Ervin, Mrs. J. C. Freeland, Mrs. Charles C. Gager, Mrs. H. Laurie Garrett, Mrs. Wesley M. HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

MENTAL HYGIENE.

DR. H. S. HULBERT, addressing a meeting of superintendents, foremen and personnel officials of industrial concerns employing many thousand men and women, gave his hearers some explanations of the prejudices, behavior attitudes and opinions of those under their direction. The following quotations are taken from his four lectures:

The penalty of discouragement follows self-disappointment from failure to attain improbably high self-expectations.

Ignorance of hidden mental mechanisms is responsible for the misjudgments of what humans may be expected to do.

A working knowledge is not too difficult to obtain, and is really an interesting study.

Day dreams are very expensive to the personality. Whenever an "if," "when," or "I wish" thought comes into the mind, examine it carefully. If it is fantastic, abandon it. If it is practical do something more about it.

There is an emotional budget. If we overspend we become emotionally tired. If we vastly overspend we become emotionally fatigued. If we enormously overspend we become emotionally exhausted.

Worry does no good. The rule is—do something, or else abandon that line of thought.

When you find persons worrying about things that have already happened, beware of their mental stability.

The reason we are not afraid of criminals when they come out of prison is that they have spent so much time plotting revenge that they have exhausted themselves emotionally. They come out listless, inactive, harmless.

When a person has been hurt at work, and feels disgruntled, return him to work as promptly as possible. Pick tasks that he can certainly succeed at. Occupation and success are great personality tonics.

The happy moments in our lives are those in which we are working with our hands, at tasks that we are thinking about and taking pleasure in.

Unhappiness provides fatigue.

An official can not make his workmen obey rules which he himself disobeys. The workmen put themselves in the superior's place. If he cheats by coming to work late so will they.

If you must base your actions on inferences then cultivate the habit of inferring favorably. If you go out to sell something and infer unfavorably, expect to be turned down—you will be. Good salesmen infer favorably.

Do not criticize others. If you must blame, mix some praise with the blame.

Go slow with self-forgiveness. Properly used, it improves personality. But if you err and then forgive yourself with the full intent to err again in the same way, you are indulging in something that ranks with dope in its disintegration of personality.

You must do nothing that will hurt yourself or others, and you should demand the same rule of conduct of others.

NONE KNOWS THE CURE.

S. E. H. writes: What is the cause of the skin disease known as ichthyosis? Is it readily curable, especially in the less severe stages?

REPLY.

Ichthyosis goes by the name of "fish skin." It is a chronic disease. No one knows what causes it or how it can be cured.

B. S. writes: Please print this for the benefit of sufferers from winter itch, bath itch, or any burning or redness of the skin:

4 ounces glycerin.
2 ounces rose water.
2 ounces camphor water.
10 to 12 drops carbolic acid.

NECROSIS.

R. M. C. writes:

1. Is necrosis contagious?
2. What can cure it?

REPLY.

1. The word necrosis means death. There is no disease with that name.
2. You have misunderstood your physician. Ask him to tell you again and at the same time ask him to tell you whether the disease you are interested in is contagious, how it is treated and whether it can be cured.

HEART IN NO DANGER.

W. C. writes: I am troubled with pleurisy, which causes a sharp pain in the heart. How can I cure it?

REPLY.

The pains in the chest wall that most people call pleurisy pains are due to rheumatism of the muscles or neuritis. The heart is in no danger. Most people can cure such pains with porous plasters or liniments.

PUFFS UNDER EYES.

E. M. writes:

1. I have slight puffs under my eyes and have been told that the cause is uric acid.
2. What is uric acid?
3. What causes it?
4. How can it be gotten rid of?
5. Is it serious to have it in the blood?

REPLY.

1. There is more than one cause for puffing under the eyes. You probably have the wrong cat by the tail. Try again.
2. An organic acid remotely akin to urea. It is found normally in the body.
3. It results from the breaking down of cell nuclei—at least, in part.
4. Eat less pepper, beef tea, meats, and especially roe, sweetbreads and kidney. Eat more potatoes and bananas.
5. No.

Jane Corbett INTERPRETS the MODE

Grey crepe marocain frock with the darlingest skirt, which shows scalloped inverted pleats and a bolero with scalloped edges worn over a long-sleeved gray chiffon blouse. (Dah-rays pet make-over.)

NEW YORK, March 15.—How the humble glove has progressed! How civilized it has become, how luxurious and elegant!

Originally a protective covering for hands, gloves without fingers were almost universally used by the Germans and Scandinavians during the eighth and ninth century—remember that this is the twentieth century, please!

In the thirteenth century, gloves came into use in England, worn by ladies for ornament only, and were first made of linen, reaching almost to the shoulder. But it remained for Queen Elizabeth to set the fashion of wearing gloves richly bejeweled and embroidered.

And today gloves are still a sign of elegance and distinction, quite as much as a protective covering for delicate hands. From being an accessory that was almost a staple, made in staple colors and styles, the glove has become a distinctive and individual, not to mention indispensable accessory to Miladi's toilet. And with her approval. Because gloves as they are made for her today have such limitless chic, such harmonizing possibilities, that selecting a glove for her outfit has become one more test of a woman's good taste. And the wearing of the correct glove one more proof of her elegance!

Beige seems to be the leading spring glove color, and tight at the wrist styles more popular than pull-on, which have led the race for so long.

And novelty gloves have absolutely come into their own, due entirely to the fact that novelty gloves are now distinctive, and not just novel. The novelty of gloves is aschieved this season in their cut and style, and their colors and trimmings are calculated to fit in to the ensemble with which they are worn, rather than to stand out from it—an achievement, my dears.

I couldn't wait to show you the dress just made over! It was one of those dress tragedies * * * or nearly one, rather. Last summer, when I got home from that important appointment on that very hot day, I certainly thought it was another dress tragedy in high life! And ever since almost, I've been wondering what to do with the dress, it being one of my favorite Paris frocks, with the darlingist skirt which shows scalloped inverted pleats * * * if you can imagine it. The dress is gray crepe marocain, and the damage was done under the arm and on the upper part of the sleeves, under the arms, too. Well, I just ripped that blouse right off and all up, and cut out the discolored part, and then went to work with what was left and some matching gray chiffon. The result is as you see, because I had to sketch my new Paris frock for you today, with its blouse all raised and made into a bolero with scalloped edges, and the new material making a blouse effect and long sleeves. What's your pet makeover? I'd love to know! Won't you write and tell me so I can pass it on?

* * * *

FRENCH FASHION.

Beret pronounced (bay-ray) literally means "turban" although it applies especially to the little "tam" which is so very popular. There are two berets, the Basque, which is small, and the Breton beret, which is ample, rather like a tam o'shanter.

* * * *

If you can't find exactly the shape or the size or the color or the price button you want, why, make 'em yourself! How? Well, the first step is to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet which tells you how to make several different kinds of buttons. And the next step is to make 'em, and the last step is to wear 'em and have all your friends remark about how clever they are and you are and, ahem, we are. No foolin' though, the button leaflet is interesting—better send for it.

The Homemaker

By NANCY CAREY

STEAK ESPAGNOLE IS DELICIOUS.

MID-MARCH, the season of high winds and changing colors both as to countryside and the fresh food marts! Spring vegetables advance upon us these days in veritable hosts, so now I hope we shall all begin to see new interest in our menu planning, not that we are letting the advance delicacies influence our column very much as yet! We are conservative here at Institute, and we feel justified in our cautious planning and avoidance of costly foodstuffs, for it is our mission in life to provide economical meals for the small budgets which, for the most part, do not allow for "first comers" to the foodstalls as the seasons change. Therefore, we shall go on much as usual for a few weeks to come and today offers a nice sensible steak espagnole with usual but well-balanced accompaniments.

MENU FOR THURSDAY.

Clear Soup
Saltines
Steak Espagnole
Baked Potatoes
String Beans with Piquante Sauce
New England Apricot Pudding
Tea of Coffee

Steak Espagnole.

Purchase a steak 2 inches thick from the top of the round (or, if one prefers, sirloin). Place it in a roasting pan and cover first with a layer of onion, then a layer of green pepper cut in rings. In the center of each pepper ring place a small amount of hot canned chili. Over this spread a layer of lemon cut not too thin. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and turn over the whole a medium-size bottle of tomato catsup to which has been added half a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Place in a moderate oven without covering and cook for two hours. Serve on a hot platter, and garnish with pimiento and sprigs of parsley.

String Beans With Sauce Piquante.

Sauce.

Chop one medium-sized onion and saute it in one teaspoonful of butter until lightly browned. Add two tablespoonfuls minced ham, one cupful stewed tomatoes (or tomato sauce), a half teaspoonful salt and one teaspoonful sugar. Unless the tomatoes have been previously seasoned, add a dash of cayenne. Cook for fifteen minutes, stirring frequently. Add two cupfuls of the beans, simmer for fifteen minutes or longer and add a tablespoonful of butter and serve. The ham may be omitted.

New England Apricot Pudding.

½ pound dried apricots
½ cupful sugar
Cinnamon toast

Soak the apricots overnight. Cook until tender in water in which soaked and add the sugar. Arrange squares of cinnamon toast in bottom and around sides of pudding dish. Pour in the hot apricots, cover dish to prevent steam from escaping and cool gradually. Chill and cover the top with meringue garnished with jelly.

Meringue.

Beat two egg whites until stiff and add gradually three tablespoonfuls of sugar.

THE WEIGHT GUIDE.

For individual assistance, write to Nancy Carey, sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope and give age, weight, height and habits of life.

Answers to Readers.

Dear Miss Carey—Will you please send me some reducing menus? Would a diet of four quarts of milk a day for four days help me to lose weight? I am about fifteen pounds too heavy. HULDA.

If you will let me have your address, Hulda, on a stamped envelope, I shall be very glad to send you some reducing menus and further suggestions for reducing.

A liquid diet, such as you suggest, is very often recommended at the outset of a reducing regimen. It rests the stomach and tones up the system, ridding it of any collected poisons which may have accumulated. This is especially the case where fruit juices or buttermilk are the liquids taken. However, it is not wise to continue such a diet for any length of time, more than one or two days at the most, without a doctor's consent. Also care must be taken to return to a normal diet very gradually after such an experiment. To overburden the stomach in any way might very likely cause trouble.

In order to reduce safely and surely, then, it is best to follow a well-balanced, normal diet. Eat everything in moderation and watch your calories. Exercise moderately each day in the open air and try to cultivate a cheery outlook on life in general. A cheerful disposition, coupled with good health and its accompanying qualities, is, or should be, our chief goal. Nothing else matters very much. And when we weigh what we should for our age and height, no more, no less, then we will be healthy and happy. You couldn't present it if you tried, it's just the "weigh" of things.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

NIGHT STUDY AND SUCCESS.

DEAR Francis McDonald:

Maybe I am foolish and maybe I shouldn't use my time to write, but somehow I want to tell you about my husband and me. It may encourage that young wife whose husband is at medical college.

We were married in 1916. I was 18, he was 21. He was working for his father on a farm in northern Pennsylvania, getting $15 a month. Soon after we were married he saw some engineers at work on a bridge near his home and right then he said, "There, that is what I want to be." His folks discouraged him, telling him he would never make anything of it. But I told him to go ahead and try. So he took an I. C. S. course in civil engineering. Winters he worked in Elmira, N. Y., and summers we helped his dad, always on a very small salary. My oldest boy was born in January, 1918. Then another boy came in April, 1919. There was trouble and sickness and poverty and struggle, but I was too busy to wish for anything different. Then I had an operation. Next daddy was sick for nearly a year. My husband at last started at $100 a month as rod man; now he is getting $175 a month. We are buying our home. Our boys are well enough behaved that the neighbors voluntarily come to me and speak of their good behavior. I do not mingle much with the neighbors because I don't want them to say, "That woman and her boys are always bothering me," and besides I am busy.

My husband and I are happy. We never go to shows because we don't care for that kind of amusement, but we have a car and like to take trips with our boys. Daddy and the older boys go hiking and take along food to cook out of doors. We love to go to church together. We go every Sunday morning just as regular as Sunday comes, and quite often on Sunday and Wednesday evenings. I don't say it to brag, but I am better looking today than when we married.

We have been through all kinds of troubles together and we love each other more today than ever in the past. You know horses have to be broken in to pull together, but finally get down and pull just fine, especially if the load is heavy.

Somehow I believed that with marriage the heavier the load, the easier it is to get adjusted to pulling together when the load is light. Each one thinks, oh, I am not needed, and one or the other becomes a parasite, letting the other do all, or else both lay down on the job and neither one gets anywhere.

I have observed in many cases a woman who shoulders the responsibility of motherhood is a far better looking woman and has a much greater depth of character than one who shirks that responsibility.

You can say all you want about women who work outside the home being so wonderful, but the woman who makes a home for a husband and raises several children up to be responsible citizens has a bigger job by far than any office worker could possibly have. I am, sincerely,

A PROUD MOTHER OF SIX BOYS.

Fine work! And we just hope the little girl whose friends are urging her to leave her young husband unless he gives up his medical school will read your letter and look ahead into the future a bit. Had you been afraid to take a chance away from the farm or unwilling to allow your young husband to give his evenings to study, you would now be trying to make $25 a month feed a family and clothe and educate half a dozen sons.

Life is just an opportunity to become worthwhile. Some do and some don't. One day we were loafing on the sands. Two children came along. One said, "I love the beach, watch me make things." She took sand and made dolls, cups, loaves of bread, everything she had ever seen. If we failed to name the thing she had made, she carefully perfected it until we recognized her effort, at which she laughed so joyously we envied whoever had her always to delight their days. The other child sat by, idle, bored, at length jealous. "I hate the beach," she cried, and kicked at the sand that supplied her companion with such varied delights. So with life. Some of us fashion of it all sorts of experiences, all sorts of success. Some sit idly by and sulk. Simple.

Archbishop of Canterbury to Rest.

London, March 15 (A.P.).—The Archbishop of Canterbury was ordered by his physician today to take a month's rest in the sunshine in order to shake off a "slight but persistent form of rheumatism." His general health was said to be excellent.

STARTING SNAPDRAGONS.

SNAPDRAGONS have come up in the world. Not so long ago they showed a close relationship to "butter and eggs," the delightful weed that bedecks our roadsides and meadowlands in all portions of the country. Unless you know the origin of the cultivated antirrhinum, however, you would not be apt to trace the relationship.

The snapdragon is usually listed as a half-hardy perennial, but we are so often disappointed in the results when we leave it in the open in the winter that I think it is better to treat it as an annual. The seeds of the snapdragon should be sown in the house in March. It is best to sow them as early in the month as possible, so that they have a fine start before we place them in the open.

Sow the seeds in shallow wooden boxes and wait patiently until they have formed a double set of leaves before attempting to transplant them. They should be shifted twice before they go into the garden. From the shallow box where they germinated transplant them into 2½-inch pots. In about a month shift them into 4-inch pots. Sometimes, if they do not do especially well, they have not outgrown their first quarters when garden time arrives, but this is unusual.

The plants should not be set out until the latter part of May. If they are sturdy, brushy specimens, they will begin to send up tall spikes rather well filled with florets shortly afterward and will remain in bloom until late in the fall. The early blossoms are never so large or so fine as those that start coming in July, so don't expect too much at first.

Now for a word of warning: Never allow the seed pods of even one blossom to form if you would have more flowers, but cut the flower stalk back as soon as it reaches the passing stage.

Those persons who are fortunate enough to have a cold frame can make this work much easier by sowing seed outdoors about August 1 and transplanting the young plants into the frame in October. The only protection such young plants require during the winter is a sash. In localities where there is no frost they will, of course, grow in the open border.

Do not forget that there are three types of anthirrhinum—the tall varieties, 3 feet high; the intermediate, about 2 feet, and the dwarf, which rarely attains a height of more than 1 foot. The latter makes an excellent plant for edging borders, and the taller varieties are excellent for cutting.

Culbertson on Contract

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

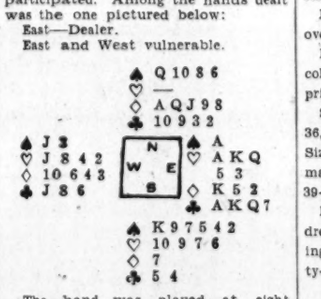
255.

SUCCESSFUL DEFENSIVE BIDDING.

FAVORABLE distribution is a tremendous element in the making of many contracts, as unfavorable distribution brings many a well-bid hand to grief in the actual play. Generally when one side has most of the honor strength, the defending players, even though they have long suits, enter the bidding only with the hope of accepting a smaller penalty than the game or Slam equivalent in the hands adversely held. Defense, to be effective, must be elastic, as in war a mobile defense usually is much more effective than the taking up of a certain position and stubbornly resisting until overwhelming forces bring about the inevitable end.

Recently in Columbus, Ohio, a city-wide Bridge tournament was held in which a large number of players participated. Among the hands dealt was the one pictured below:

East—Dealer.
East and West vulnerable.



The hand was played at eight tables and at seven of the tables East played the contract at four hearts, which he made without difficulty. At one table, however, the North and South players, holding one Ace, one King and two Queens, put up the bidding defense given below:

The Bidding.

East	South	West	North
2♡	Pass	2NT	3◇
Dbl.	3♠	Pass	4♠
Dbl.	Pass	Pass	Pass

When the contract reached four spades, East, holding a beautiful hand, including 5½ honor tricks, decided that he had had enough of such foolishness and doubled. South restrained himself from redoubling, but proceeded to make the contract, losing one spade and two club tricks. On this occasion a very smart Contract barque had been wrecked on the reefs of distribution. Peculiarly enough, four hearts is the limit of the trick-taking ability of East's strong hand against the diamond opening. If a diamond is not opened, five can be made.

TODAY'S POINTER.

While ordinarily honor tricks furnish a safe measure of defensive strength against any declaration, distribution plays an important part and sometimes neutralizes entirely the natural power of Aces and Kings.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

A SLENDERIZING MODEL.

Here's a delightfully wearable dress. It is navy blue flat crepe, so generally becoming and flattering. The white crepe vest contributes much to its charm.

It's a model, too, that disguises overweight in such a splendid way.

It may also be carried out in gayer colors. A black and red crepe silk print is very smart.

Style No. 669 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inch bust. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch material with three-eighths yard of 39-inch contrasting.

Price of pattern is 15 cents. Address Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-third street, New York City.

WHEN any member of the family has a cold, his handkerchief is a menace to everyone in the house!

It teems with germs. Spreads disease germs through the air every time it's used. Pollutes laundry bags and clothing.

Self-infects user

The old-time handkerchief spreads contagion. It carries germs back to the face, making recovery slower and more difficult.

Avoid this danger, as thousands of other progressive people are doing! Use Kleenex! Insist that the whole family use Kleenex! Each tissue need be used but once. Then you can destroy it, germs and all.

More comfortable, too

Kleenex is infinitely more comfortable than any handkerchief during a cold. It is softer than either cotton or linen, and much more absorbent. Kleenex costs lessthan having handkerchiefs laundered! Ask for Kleenex at any drug, dry goods or department store.

GEORGETOWN PLANS $500,000 BUILDING

University to Construct at Once White-Gravenor Recitation Hall on Campus.

Dollars slowly accumulated in the reserve building fund of Georgetown University were being put to work today to provide a new recitation hall for the college of arts and sciences, and at the same time to give employment to several hundred men for the next 9 or 10 months.

The decision of the university directors to start building at this time, as communicated in a letter to President Hoover, was for the purpose of cooperating in the unemployment relief and to extend the credit of funds which the university has on hand. As Dr. W. Coleman Nevils explained, the university's funds at this time are limited and it was necessary to have an agreement with the builders, the Charles H. Tompkins Co., of Washington, which would enable the university to suspend operations should it be unable to meet expenses. This situation, however, Dr. Nevils hopes to avoid, through the assistance of university alumni. The company has informed him that the building program should provide steady work during the time for an average of 395 men every working day.

Cooperates With Hoover.

Under any other circumstances, it was pointed out, the university would have postponed building operations until later in the year. In his letter to the Chief Executive, Dr. Nevils explained that the project was being undertaken at this time "as a pledge of Georgetown's confidence and to assure you of our 100 per cent cooperation in the efforts of your administration to meet the present national emergency."

The estimated cost of the new building, which will form the north end of the Andrew White Memorial quadrangle, was placed at $500,000, all of which will be devoted to the unit, since the university already owns the land. The location is on the site of the old athletic field and when this second unit is finished, the quadrangle will be two thirds completed.

As designed by Emile G. Perrot, Philadelphia architect, the building will contain five floors and will conform in architecture to the senior dormitory which forms the west side of the quadrangle. The type is Neo-Gothic scholastic. It will house the geology department on the top floor and provide also 20 classrooms. There will be offices for the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, the registrar and fireproof vaults for the university's valuable archive collections.

Esplanade for Commencement.

The building will be 90 feet by 190 feet. Along its entire front, with a width of 40 feet, will be constructed an esplanade set in flagstone capable of seating 900 persons. This is intended for use during outdoor commencement exercises and similar fetes.

The old biology building, in the rear of the college group, is to be converted into a tennis clubhouse for the student body.

The new recitation hall will be known as the White-Gravenor building, after Fathers Andrew White and Althan Gravenor, two of the first Jesuits to come to this country with the Lord Baltimore colonists in Maryland. Through their early efforts to establish a Catholic school nearly 300 years ago are traced Georgetown's earliest associations.

Philadelphia's Finances Are Declared Clearing

Philadelphia, March 15 (A.P.).—Philadelphia's financial skies are beginning to clear, Mayor J. Hampton Moore said today, as the result of increased tax receipts in the first two months of his administration.

"If these taxes continue coming in," the mayor told the Knights of Columbus Luncheon Club, "we will come close to our budget, push over the deficit of $6,000,000 allotted to the unemployed, and face a good year in 1933." More taxes have been received in the last two months, he said, than ever before in the same period in the history of the city.

Pantages Making Plans For Huge Theater Chain

Hollywood, Calif., March 15 (A.P.). Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, announced today that within the next few months he would assume control of between 200 and 500 theaters scattered throughout the United States and produce his own motion pictures.

Pantages, who at the height of his career in the amusement business owned 60 theaters and had an operating agreement with 40 others, said his son-in-law, John Considine, jr., and his elder son, Rodney Pantages, would be associated with him.

Town Marshal Held as Robber.

Homer, La., March 15 (A.P.).—Indictments charging he was an accessory in the $17,000 robbery of the Planters Bank, of Haynesville, La., January 8, were returned here today against H. B. Burley, Haynesville's town marshal. He was also charged with conspiring to rob another bank last August and with participating in the robbery of a store at Haynesville last October 10.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL.

AILY old reynard, this George Bernard Shaw.

Through a great deal of the length of "Too True to Be Good," at the National, the Great White Beard bewails the passing of the Victorian idealism, to which he never subscribed, and ponders over the outcome of an era in which, the laying bare of the body having become commonplace, the laying bare of the soul will cause mankind to stand aghast—as he pretends to be doing at regular intervals in his play.

These passages must have been written with the forefinger against the nose, after the manner of an artful old deceiver, because in the midst of his confusion over the sacrilege that characterizes the age in which we live he introduces into his own work the raucous note he so earnestly laments.

I mean to say that the venerable sage in shedding his crocodile tears perpetrates more of the unbridled license which occasioned them. This is no lily white treatise that Shaw unfolds before us, but a frequently ultramodern commentary on sex relationships couched in the frankest of terms. Occasionally the author has seen fit to use the naughty word, not, presumably, because he could not summon one more gently synonymous, but simply to be in step with contemporaneous theatrical style.

Shaw has ever been paradoxical in this transparent manner. It is one of his stocks in trade. And in no way does it lessen the charm of his writing or the cleverness of the man in making absurdities seem logical and logic grotesque.

Whether one agrees with the Shavian arguments advanced in "Too True to Be Good," or not, there can be no gainsaying the catholicity of their author's interests or the fascinating verbiage in which he is able so becomingly to cloak them.

During the three-day conclave of the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America, at the Mayflower, Carter Barron, managing director of the Loew interests in the Capital, is hosting Col. E. A. Schiller, vice president of Loew, Inc., and Charles C. Moskowitz, ditto. In addition to their convention duties, both have paid frequent visits to their theaters—which they found all ship-shape under Mr. Barron's careful guidance.

Incidentally, Mr. Barron devoted a considerable portion of yesterday afternoon to piloting Mr. Eddy Gilmore, the new director of advertising and publicity for the loewcal Loew houses, about the Capital, with particular regard to the newspaper offices. With the luck which customarily clings to this department, your reporter was absent from his desk when Mr. Barron called, but some slight information concerning Mr. Jim Lundy's successor has percolated to these precincts.

Eddy Gilmore is an Atlanta newspaper man, formerly on the staff of the Atlanta Journal. He is, I believe, making his first venture into the field of theater publication at Mr. Barron's urgent solicitation. He is a native of Talladega, Ala., and has been on the Journal staff, which he joined after a course at Carnegie Tech, in Pittsburgh, and a brief business career in New York City, since 1928.

Mr. Gilmore arrived in Washington yesterday morning at 8, fresh from a farewell banquet tendered him in Atlanta by the commissioners of Fulton County, Ga.

Welcome, stranger; I hope soon to meet up with you socially!

Among the other old friends attending the M. P. T. O. A. Convention I discover Harold Flavin, with whom Washington conventions are getting to be a habit.

Four years ago this spring, Mr. Flavin was here with the Paramount forces as a valued member of the publicity staff functioning under the expert direction of Charlie McCarthy. He resigned from Paramount to enter Wall street just in time to take it on the chin along with everybody else, when it was made apparent that there was, after all, a top to the market, but no bottom. He is now associated with Mayfair Pictures and as a pulchritudinous symbol of his presence at the Sanhedrin is sponsoring "The Sweetheart of Mayfair Pictures."

And don't you think she isn't!

As a special Easter week attraction at the Fox Theater, Managing Director Harry W. Crull announces the appearance as an extra added stage attraction of the George Washington University mixed chorus of 75 voices.

Under the conductorship of Dr. R. H. Harmon, this chorus has become one of the best known organizations of its kind in the East.

To add luster to this engagement, special settings are being secured from New York. The Fox Orchestra, under the baton of Al Mitchell, will, of course, furnish the accompaniments.

Definite denial has reached this department of the rumor prevalent among dramatic and radio editors of Washington that the Washington Auditorium has been bought out for the entire engagement of George White's "Scandals," beginning Sunday night, March 20, by Miss Isabelle M. Parks, the most indefatigable, if not the original, of the Rudy Vallee rooters. Miss Parks states that she is merely going to occupy a front row seat at every performance!

"Sisters of the Skillet," the NBC radio program which comes to the Fox Theater Friday, in which Ed East and Ralph Dumke, two 250-pound funmakers, play the leading roles, proved to be the headline act at the recent tenth annual dinner of the White House Correspondents Association. And what is more, it was these two "Sisters" who gave President Hoover, the guest of honor, more laughs than any other act on the bill.

How do you mean, the year without any winter?

Paris Opera's Director Quits; Closing Rumored

Paris, March 15 (A.P.).—Jacques Rouche, director of the famous Paris Opera, resigned today, and the old rumor that the opera may be closed because of financial difficulties circulated again.

The director reported a $10,000 monthly deficit and said only an immediate grant of $300,000 for complete modernization of the opera house would enable continuance of the company. The ministries of public instruction and beaux arts declined to comment on the resignation.

"Proxy Bride" Is Wed To Argentine Army Man

Buenos Aires, March 15 (A.P.).—Miss Dorothy Payliss, of Washington, D. C., today became the bride of Lieut. Oscar Rumbo, of the Argentine army, in a ceremony at La Plata.

She arrived last night from the United States where she had previously been married by proxy to Lieut. Rumbo to enable her entry into Argentine.

Decision on Fate of Man In Kidnaping Due Today

Warren, Ohio, March 15 (A.P.).—The fate of the first of two men tried for the kidnaping of James DeJute, jr., 11-year-old son of a wealthy Niles contractor, probably will be decided by Common Pleas Judge Lynn B. Griffith tomorrow.

The trial of Dowell Hargraves, 31, Youngstown, alleged to be one of the two men who abducted the boy near his home March 2, ended in speedy fashion today with only four hours being spent in the courtroom. Judge Griffith, who heard the case without a jury at the request of the defense, indicated he would announce a decision tomorrow.

CRONIN'S THIRD HIT WINS FOR NATS IN NINTH, 5 TO 4; J. C. C. DEFEATS K. OF C., 37 TO 28, IN POST'S TOURNAMENT

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Biloxi, Miss., March 15.

FOR the past eight seasons the managers of the Washington baseball teams have assigned Ossie Bluege to third base and then promptly forgotten about the position, so secure have they been in the knowledge that the post was well taken care of in Bluege's presence.

Third base is still a closed issue with the Nats. Manager Walter Johnson may have entertained doubts as to every other position on the team, but he has not been burdened or annoyed with third base. The quiet Mr. Bluege, the Nats' silent sentinel at the far corner of the diamond, remains so far ahead of any prospective competition for the berth that he is a fixture.

The Nats this season, for the first time in years, boast a capable substitute for third base in Johnny Kerr, late of the White Sox, but Kerr has about as much chance of ousting Bluege from the position as Tokyo has of absorbing China's 450 millions. Kerr comes to the Nats as a third baseman, but his only chance to play the sack is possible injury to Bluege, or to Cronin, in which latter case Bluege will move over to short.

Bluege's play at third base is the poetry of motion, the pinnacle of art in baseball. None among the American League third basemen can compare with the work of the Nats' nonpareil in fielding. Willie Kamm, now slipping fast, was the last of the great third basemen to precede Bluege, an honor previously held by Joe Dugan, of Yankee fame.

The best compliment to Bluege is that he is a ball player's ball player. The ease with which he plays his positions, making the sensational stops look easy by the very art of his play, may be lost upon the lay fan in the grand stands but to the players on the field and the benches it is the work of a master at the position.

They call Bluege "The Cat," a soubriquet gleaned from his actions on the infield as he drifts to his right or left, weaving in and out as the ball is pitched and snaring all and sundry that comes his way, and some that don't. Possessed of an iron arm, he has that happy faculty of being able to throw from all positions and is as near death to bunts as any third baseman since Joe Dugan.

Bluege came to the Nats from Peoria of the Three-Eye League in 1923 as a shortstop, but by the end of the season had ousted Howard Shanks from the third base job and was a salient factor in the infield composed of Judge, Harris, Peckinpaugh and himself, which won pennants for the Nats in 1924 and 1925.

He still wants to play shortstop. He likes the action the shortstop gets, and thinks it's an easier position to play despite the fact there is more work to do. But he fits the Nats' needs at third base where he is fated to play until a superman comes along or his underpinning fails him.

One of the best commentaries of Bluege's value to the team is his batting average, always below the .300 mark except for one season, and sometimes shrinking as low as .250. But his value afield offsets his hitting weakness. He is renowned throughout the league as a sucker on a curve ball, and President Griffith has all but fined him for his habit of swinging on the hooks and letting the "cripples" go by, but his weakness remains.

Bluege plays a deep third base, as third basemen go, but he plays it smartly. He will tell you that the territory that the third baseman must protect is funnel-shaped from home plate down toward shortstop, and that the ideal third baseman is the man who can play closest the diamond. But in his own case, with his ability to go far either to his right or left, he is able to play back and thus relieve the shortstop of some vulnerable territory.

When the game is close in the later innings, Bluege shades third base by several feet on the premises that any ball hit between him and the bag is usually a double, while a ball hit to his left is rarely better than a single. Thus, he hopes to knock down at least the potential extra-basers that might pass over the bag and help the winning run around.

Joe Judge saw Bluege's debut in Tampa in 1923. He saw him cavorting about third base as a raw rookie and said to President Griffith: "There's your third baseman—fifteen years from now." Judge admitted his mistake long ago. He's Bluege's roommate and greatest admirer.

Bob Goodwin Winner On Technical K. O.

Bob Godwin, Southern lightweight champion, displayed power last night in battering Eric Lawson for four rounds before Referee Short awarded him a technical knockout by stopping the uneven fight. The bout, staged under the auspices of the Alexandria Day Nursery, drew 2,200 fans. In the semiwind-up, Billy Schwartz gained a decision over Joe Finazzo. Patsy Lewis won over Jack Quigley on a technical knockout, Bob Goldboro and Jessie Belt battled to a draw, Roddy Davis won from Leroy Vinkham and Harry Groves gained a decision over Bob Portna.

Caseys Bow; 1,000 See Struggle

Center Girls Victors; 100-Pounders Lose to Iowans.

St. Martin's, Capital Towers Remain in Tourney.

JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER and Knights of Columbus met last night in the feature game of the District A. A. U. championship tournament, sponsored by The Post, and the contest added as a magnet which drew 1,000 fans, the largest crowd of the tournament, into Tech High gym. The Community lads copped, 37 to 28.

Despite the J. C. C. margin of victory, the game lived up to advance press notices. In the first half, the lead changed hands no less than three times, a Community Center rally after the count was 12-all, netting a 17-12 advantage at the half.

When play was resumed, a K. C. rally, which saw Tommy Nolan, after making a free toss, follow with a pretty long shot, knotted the string at 19-19. At this point, Gubisch, one of the Casey stars, rushed onto the floor only to discover that he was ineligible to return to the line-up and the K. C. stock immediately went on the decline.

At one time, the Jewish tossers were in front, 35-21, but Webb and Anderson featured a belated rush which netted 7 points in short order just before the final gun sounded.

Nolan was the outstanding star for the Caseys, with Hickey not quite up to his usual standard. The Sigman boys and Coady Shapiro were outstanding for the winners. They were particularly quick getting down the floor following up long shots and scored several times after taking the ball on the rebound off the blackboards.

St. Martin's Midgets Trounce Noel House

Noel House tossers proved no match for the St. Martins, being routed to the tune of 43-16. The Saints displayed great team play and a smartness which marked them as just about the class of the 100-pounders. Noel House was held scoreless in the first period, but pulled up to 12-9 at the intermission. After that, however, it was a walkaway for the Saints, who put on speed and scored almost at will.

J. C. C. Girls in Victory Over Satellites, 17-15

Jewish Community Center girls were extended to the utmost to down the Satellites in the unlimited class last night, 17 to 15. The game was a thriller throughout with the J. C. C sextet always a slight margin ahead until near the finish. The Satellites trailed 7-4 at the quarter, 11-8 at the half and 13-11 at the end of the third period.

With two minutes left to go, Nettie Rice sank a one-hand shot to tie the score at 15-15 and the teams fought evenly until the last 20 seconds, when Betty Teplitz eluded her guard and scored what proved to be the margin of victory.

Capital Towers Five Beats Whitestones, 38-11

The Whitestones, Alexandria's lone entry in the tourney, found the going mighty rough last night and were eliminated by the Capital Towers five, 38 to 11. The Alexandrians were unable to register a field goal during the first two quarters, two free tosses keeping them from being whitewashed. They trailed, 19-2, at the intermission, and 28-7 as the third period ended.

Iowa Midgets Upset J. C. C. 100-Pounders

The Iowa Midgets registered a mild upset by setting back the Jewish Community Center 100-pounders. The latter, handicapped by the absence of their best player—Izzy Nemerofsky—put up a game fight, but finally succombed, 25 to 20. Iowa led, 10 to 8, at the half, but the J. C. C. tossers managed to knot the string, at 15-all, in the third period and to be tied, at 18 to 18, as the quarter ended.

Iowa appeared to be a little stronger than its rivals and stepped out in the final quarter to win going away.

BLAZING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

San Antonio, Tex., March 15 (A.P.).—Smead Jolley's bat gave the regulars a 3-to-2 victory over the "Goofs" in a tight eight-inning ball game today. The big fellow, reformed from an outfielder to a catcher, drove in two runs with a home run in the fifth and then sent out a long fly to enable a runner to score easily from third with the winning tally in the eighth.

"Sad Sam" Jones and "Bump" Hadley worked four innings each and pitched well.

San Francisco, March 15 (A.P.).—The Pittsburgh Pirates cut loose with their bats today and hammered out an 8-to-2 victory over the Missions.

The Bucs gathered in fourteen safeties, many of them for extra bases, and they hit when hits meant runs.

The Pittsburgh infield gave another brilliant exhibition.

Savannah, Ga., March 15 (A.P.).—Warm weather returned to the Boston Red Sox training camp today and Manager "Shono" Collins put his regulars through a nine-inning game with the scrubs. The veterans pounded Sy Slaalien, rookie, who gave them an unpleasant session last week, for a 6-to-2 victory.

Johnny Crimmins, who started for the regulars, held the rookies to one hit in five innings.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 15 (A.P.). Two hits in the second inning preceded by Bruce Cunningham's error, payed the way for the New York Yankees' 3-to-2 decision over the Boston Braves today. The Yankees were held to five hits by Cunningham and Betts, but the three runs made in the second inning proved to be enough to Win. Huffing held the Braves scoreless and allowed only one hit for the first four innings. Paul Andrews was touched for six safeties and both of Boston's runs.

A. A. U. FRAYS PROMISING TONIGHT

Grays Vs. Scholastics Feature; Business, St. John's Play.

ONE of the greatest individual District A. A. U. basket ball nights is promised between 7 and 11 o'clock tonight, when ten well known local clubs, ranging from 100-pounders to proficient veterans, fight for the right to advance toward District championships in four weight classes.

Capping the night of play is one of the court features of the year, bringing together Tech High's Maroon Scholastics and the United Typewriter Grays, two well-nigh irresistible forces in the unlimited section of play.

Preceding this game, St. John's Victors, choices in the 130-pound section, will stack up against the Jewish Community Center's 130-pounder entry, the A. Z. A. Fraternity five. St. John's is out for revenge, for on the same court, same night and same hour last year, they were eliminated by the A. Z. A.'s by a cruel margin of 26-25.

St. John's Plays at 7 o'Clock.

The St. John's-A. Z. A. affair will be at 7 o'clock, together with the 100-pound struggle between the Brookland Eagles and Georgetown Boys Club. At 8 o'clock, Business High's crack 145-pound team meets the Olmstead Grill five, followed by the first appearance of the Y. M. C. A. Big five in the tournament, against the Clifton Barbers.

The Maroon Scholastics, composed of the same cocky group of scholastic stars who carried Tech to high honors this year with exhibitions of superb basket ball, will find the going tremendously hard tonight against the Grays, in whose ranks are Oscar Sells, Reds Olsen and Lionel Dick, of the sensational American University Team this past season.

Tech, in its best shape of the year, will have its complete array of schoolboy stars ready for the game, including Everett Russell, Artie Willison, Waverly Wheeler, Bernie Reichardt, Jim Reed, Carrol Daly and Fred Thomas. In the first round the Maroons defeated Swann's Service, 67 to 20, the largest score of the tournament, while the Uniteds were turning back healthy opposition in Company F, 40 to 31.

All for two bits.

11 Quantico Marines Win Letters on Court

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., March 15.—With the closing of the basket ball season eleven Marine players will receive their letters for their part in the basket ball games. The basket ball season ended last Saturday for the Quantico Marine passers, when they played a two-game series with the Carlisle Medical School.

The Quantico Team was handicapped at the end of the season when it lost two stars, Locke and Carrington, who were unable to play, as they were in the Naval Hospital at Quantico with the flu.

The season has been quite successful. Of the 37 games played, they won 25 and lost 12. The list of players who won the coveted "M" are: Lieut. Gulick, Coach, Locke, Gann, Zeher, Shelton, Slight, Boyer, Carrington, Posik and McIntyre.

Ring, Mat Bouts Listed At Quantico on Friday

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., March 15.—The Quantico Marine boxing team will meet the U. S. Army team from Fort Monroe at a smoker to be held at the post gym next Friday. The Marine team met the Army team last month and lost. This time the Leathernecks are out for revenge.

The card includes six boxing matches and two wrestling matches. The way the teams stack up:

WRESTLING—Mullins (Marines), vs. Cerstner (Ft. Monroe), 145 pounds; Harding (Marines), vs. Hitt (Ft. Monroe), 185 pounds.

BOXING—Tebo (Marines), vs Tamalunas (Ft. Monroe), 126 pounds; Turner (Marines), vs. Brown (Ft. Monroe), 134 pounds; Jackson (Marines), vs. Smith (Ft. Monroe), 147 pounds; Zeher (Marines), vs. Skriner (Ft. Monroe), 165 pounds Pyne (Marines), vs. Cleer (Ft. Monroe), 157 pounds; Bounstine (Marines), vs. Cavey (Ft. Monroe), 143 pounds. FRENCH STAR PRESSED BY JACOBS

Baltimore Boy Bows by 7-5 and 6-3 to Borotra.

By GAYLE TALBOT.

NEW YORK, March 15 (A.P.).—The national indoor tennis meet, a bulky business to begin with, began to get somewhere today as Jean Borotra, France's old master, and Berkeley Bell, one of America's chief hopes, battled through to the quarter-final round.

Stealing a lap on the remainder of the singles survivors, who were busy getting the doubles program under way, Borotra eliminated young Eddie Jacobs, of Baltimore, 7—5, 6—3, and Bell erased Ernest Koslan, of Hamilton, N. Y., 6—2, 6—1.

As a result Borotra and Bell will clash in tomorrow's feature match, the winner to enter the semifinals for the crown the Frenchman now holds. Their meeting comes two rounds earlier than a year ago, when Borotra nosed out the diminutive New Yorker in a five-set final match.

Jacobs' Aces Veterans.

The Baltimore boy, employing a terrific service, aced Borotra repeatedly in the first set and easily held his own until the defending champion broke through in the twelfth game. At that, Borotra had set point five times before he won the deciding point. Jacobs wilted badly in the second set, however.

There is a possibility the ranks of the French invaders will be thoroughly disrupted before tomorrow's play is done. Borotra is regarded as no better than an even bet against Bell, and Christian Boussus, France's No. 2, faces brilliant opposition in Gregory Mangin, of Newark, in their fourth-round match. Antoine Gentien, No. 3 Frenchman, also has a battle on his hands against husky Julius Seligson.

Other seeded players, with the possible exception of Frank Shields, are calculated to breeze through tomorrow's matches without serious difficulty. Shields might be extended by Eugene McCauliff, of New York, ninth seeded American. George Lott and Sidney Wood, Jr., should have it easy for another round.

Doubles progressed through the first and second rounds today without even a minor upset. In addition to his singles activity, Bell teamed with Mangin to race through two matches. The top seeded combination of George Lott and Johnny Van Ryn delayed its debut until tomorrow, business holding Van Ryn at Philadelphia.

Borotra and Boussus, defending doubles champions, looked the part in trimming a New York pair, Irving Raymond and J. W. Kirkham.

Takoma Five In State's Finals

Suburban Schoolboys Defeat Ellicott City, 32-15.

Bozievich Leads in Attack; Game at Baltimore.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 15.—The crack Takoma-Silver Spring five, champion of Montgomery County, advanced to the finals for the Maryland State scholastic basket ball title today by running roughshod over Ellicott City, champion of Howard County, 32 to 15.

For the first half the Howard County standardbearers forced the Montgomery lads to the limit, holding them to a 6-4 score during the first twenty minutes. But shortly after the opening of the second chapter Takoma steamed out in front never to be headed, with Bozievich showing the way as usual.

Bozievich again captured individual scoring honors among the winning players, accounting for five field goals and four free tosses. Townsend led the losers' offensive, scoring 7 points.

Scholastic Golf Is Listed May 14

14 Virginia High and Prep Schools Enter Woodberry Tourney.

Woodberry Forest, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—Fourteen high and prep schools in Virginia have entered the second annual Virginia interscholastic golf tournament to be held here May 14, it was announced here today.

Entries to date are: High schools, Hampton High, Woodrow Wilson High, Portsmouth; John Marshall, Richmond; Jefferson, Roanoke; Lynchburg High, Covington High, Lee High, Staunton, and Lane High Charlottesville. Prep schools, Augusta Military Academy, Christ Church School, McGuire's School, Staunton Military Academy, Virginia Episcopal School and Woodberry.

Under the plan of the tournament, an individual championship and a two-man team championship is determined. The entire tournament is played off in one day, each contestant being required to play 36 holes. The individual with the low medal score for the day is declared individual champion, and the school team with the low gross score is awarded the team championship.

On the afternoon preceding the tourney there will be staged a driving contest for distance and direction. This contest was won last year by S. J. Snead, of Hot Springs High School, with a drive that carried 244 yards and rolled 24, for a total of 268. All contetsants will be guests of Woodberry Forest.

Virginia Golf Body Will Meet on April 9

Richmond, Va., March 15 (A.P.).—The Virginia State Golf Association will hold its annual meeting here April 9, two weeks later than usual, it was announced today. The association will name the courses and dates for the men's and women's amateur championships, as well as the open.

The two courses at Hot Springs, the Cascades for men and the Homestead for women, are the probable choices for the amateur events, and the week of July 4 is the probable date.

The open is expected to go to almost any club or city which feels it can arrange for the purposes.

Election of officers is also in order at the meeting.

PENNANT BUG GNAWS AT CAREY

Trade Gives Dodgers Real Chance, Says Manager.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 15 (A. P.).—Manhattan's Babe of baseball has lost his Brooklyn rival in the major league outfield circus with the sudden passing of Babe Herman to Cincinnati, but the Flatbush flock presents an extraordinary assortment of talent for 1932, nevertheless.

It includes the "boy wonder" of the 1921 world series, the National League batting champion of 1929, the major league home run king of 1930 and the oldest pitcher in the big show. From left to right in the Brooklyn ensemble, which has been doing everything but a Russian ballet under the direction of Bandmaster Max Carey, these character roles are filled by Waite Hoyt, Frank (Lefty) O'Doul, Lewis Robert (Hackenschmidt) Wilson and John Picus Quinn.

Hoyt's projected comeback, bearing all the earmarks of serious intent, may inject just the tonic the Dodger pitching staff needs. Wilson, upon whose return to form the club staked around $60,000, is figured to fill Herman's place as the slugging mate of O'Doul.

Cuccinello Already In Line.

Meanwhile, even at the risk of exchanging one holdout, Herman, for another, Joe Stripp, in the big deal with the Reds, the prospects are that Carey's infield problems have been solved. Tony Cuccinello, another figure in the swap, was a holdout when he was traded but quickly came to terms with the Dodgers in New York today.

Carey was so enthusiastic today with his share in the six-player swap that he permitted himself, for the first time, to remark that Brooklyn now has "a real chance for the pennant."

"The addition of Cuccinello and Stripp assures us a more consistent batting punch all the way down the line," explained Carey. Last season Cuccinello hit for .315 and Stripp .324 with the Reds, better marks than any of the Dodger regulars showed except O'Doul.

The club loses a colorful figure of the Robinsonian era in Herman, but the Babe's holdout tactics, after falling off in his batting from .393 in 1930 to .313 in 1931, prompted the owners to close quickly on the trade suggested by the Reds. Brooklyn anticipates no trouble bringing Stripp into line, especially as he benefits by the "break" of joining a first division club.

For the first time Carey now figures definitely on his starting line-up. With Stripp on third and Cuccinello, a New York boy, at second base, the infield will be completed with Glenn Wright at short and Del Bissonette on first. Wright's ankles appear sound again, but Bissonette has been laid up with a foot injury. Mickey Finn, Fresco Thompson, Gordon Slade and Bobby Reis, the young third-base star from Hartford, Conn., will be in reserve.

Sluggers in Outfield.

Johnny Frederick, O'Doul and Wilson probably will get the outfield assignments. However, the ponderous Ide Boone has been clouting the ball at a terrific clip in camp and may win the right field job, leaving Wilson to fight it out with Frederick in center.

The camp bulges with pitchers of all ages and description, from 20-year-old Van Mungo, most promising of the five Hartford recruits, to 38-year-old Dazzy Vance, and the ven-

RUTH LIKELY TO SIGN FOR $75,000

Compromise Today on 1-Year Contract Is Expected.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 15 (A.P.).—Unless there is an unforeseen hitch in the great salary conference under the palms, Babe Ruth will sign a one-year contract with the New York Yankees tomorrow at $75,000.

This will mean a compromise between Ruth's demand and Col. Jacob Ruppert's original offer, if it is finally agreed upon, but still will assure the home run king a salary equivalent to that paid the President of the United States. The Babe has been paid $80,000 for each of the past two years.

The colonel and the Babe, after another short talk today, agreed to meet at Ruth's hotel at 11 a. m. tomorrow, at which time each expects to settle their leisurely and friendly differences.

This was specified so that all the war correspondents, photographers and movie outfits with sound will have adequate opportunity to prepare for the proper recording of the momentous event.

Neither Will Admit Compromise.

Neither the colonel nor the Babe would admit that an understanding had been reached, or a compromise effected, but there was every indication of a trend toward peace, harmony and relief for the weary watchers.

"I can not say what will happen tomorrow," explained Col. Ruppert. "I do not think we are far apart. Babe has promised to give me a definite answer. I am hopeful he will sign and that everyone will be satisfied tomorrow morning. Now run along, boys, and let's watch the ball game."

"My original idea is unchanged, but I think we will get together," admitted Ruth.

Ruth and Ruppert conferred, with a wire screen between them, at water front park here, prior to the exhibition game between the Yankees and Boston Braves. The Babe was in uniform and worked out but did not go back to the line-up. He has refused to play in any exhibition games until actually signed, taking the attitude he must protect himself against possible injury.

Celtic Nine to Hold Meeting on Thursday

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., March 15.—An important baseball meeting for the St. Mary's Celtics team will be held on Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ruth Kidwell, on South Pitt street.

Director Corbett will outline plans for the season. The Celtics' leader has arranged for a Virginia trip and already has booked a game in Lynchburg. He hopes to present data on the trip at the meeting.

The reconditioning of Baggett's Stadium will also be discussed. It is proposed to improved the grand stand and diamond, besides grading the outfield, so the Celtics will have the best ball park in this section. Art Ludow is coach of the team.

Three games of basket ball will be played in the junior and senior leagues here on Wednesday. The Boy Scouts will mix with Friends in the junior tilt. Other games find the Columbias vs. Centrals and the Fraters and Temples playing. A large crowd is expected to see the games at Armory Hall.

TUFTS GAINS TITLE.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 15 (A.P.).—Richard S. Tufts, of Pinehurst, scoring a 79 for the last 18 holes today, won the annual tin whistle golf championship with a 72-hole total of 308, one stroke better than Halbert J. Blue, of Aberdeen, the principal other contender.

Rice's Great Catch Stops Orioles

Spears Drive With 2 On; Paves the Way for Nat Rally.

(Sports Editor of The Post.)

BILOXI, Miss., March 15.—By the score of 5 to 4, the Nats celebrated the opening of their exhibition season this afternoon with a victory over the Baltimore Orioles before 500 Biloxi and Gulfport citizens who were treated to world series baseball in this rural setting.

Joe Cronin delivered the hit that won the game, a rousing double to deep left in the ninth inning that scored Sammy West from second base, but Sam Rice contributed the catch that made the victory possible a few moments earlier when he glided far to his left and made a kangeroo leap to come down with a one-handed catch off the bat of Joe Rodgers, on a ball that was labeled for a home run from the moment it cleared third base on a rocket flight to left field.

The native Biloxians were transported with glee and even the visiting citizens from Gulfport, home base of the Orioles, were heard to applaud as the aging outfielder of the Nats, cast for a substitute role this season, sprinted across the terrain like some sprightly greyhound and collared he ball as it was about to pass over his head. First base and third base were occupied and the score tied at 4-4 when visions of a Baltimore victory evaporated with Rice's catch.

Orioles Prove Troublesome.

The Orioles took kindly to the pitching of the Nats' rookies, Bob Friedrich and Lynn Griffith, and twice wrested the lead from Washington, but big Frank Ragland, pitching the last three innings, held them scoreless, thanks to Rice's catch and another sensational fielding effort by young Ralph Boyle, late of Baltimore, in right field.

The Nats' bats boomed in the third inning, sending out four successive hits that brought home two runs and wiped out a one-run lead the Orioles had gained off Friedrich in the second inning, when big "Buzz" Arlett crashed a double to center field and scored on Heine Sand's single to the same sector.

Buddy Myer launched this rally with a double to left field, and in succession, Heinie Manush and Sammy West singled to right and Joe Cronin sent a bristling grounder through the box to account for the two runs that gave the Nats a lead which was short-lived.

Don Heffner, Oriole second baseman, stepped full into the picture in the fifth inning with Lynn Griffith pitching, when he whistled a hard liner to the distant fence between Rice and West for a home run that brought Sand and Kenna scampering to the plate ahead of him for three runs. Both Sand and Kenna had singled to start the inning.

Harry Gumbert, the victim of the Nats' two-run stand in the third inning, gave way to Joe Mellon, who pitched three scoreless frames, but Wally Tauscher, his successor, an erstwhile member of the Nats, saw Washington tie the game off his pitching in the seventh and win it in the ninth.

Cronin's Triple Features.

Going into the seventh two runs in arrears, the Nats speedily evened matters when Sam Rice doubled down the third base line and rode home on Cronin's triple to dead center, a colossal clout that would have been a home run in midseason. Cronin also scored when Ralph Boyle singled down the first base line.

With one out, Ragland walked Carlsten in the ninth but disaster was averted when Boyle raced in from right field to make a shoestring catch of Jordan's liner. McGowan doubled to left center to put the potential winning run on third but then it was that Sam Rice contributed the piece de resistance of the afternoon by his catch of Rodgers' fly.

Pinetzki Shipped to Town; Faces Roebuck Tomorrow

Little Leo, Wrestling's Carnera, in Battle of Beef at Auditorium; Turner Picks Gusty Rasslers for Other Bouts.

ONE of rassling's three drawing cards, the gigantic and hamhanded Leo Pinetzki (the other two are Londos and Lewis), lumbers into town today on his special flatcar, prior to meeting a 250-pound pygmie named Tiny Roebuck, tomorrow night in the feature match on Matchmaker Joe Turner's card of obese tableaux.

Pinetzki was rudely forced to work 30 minutes on the stubborn chassis of Mr. Roebuck two weeks ago at Madsion Square Garden, and was so wrought up over having to remain on view for so long a time that he is reported to have demanded this next meeting between the two. It is simply an academic question with the Polish Corridor. His record of flattening everybody he met in America in less than ten minutes had been rudely interrupted.

Little Leo, as has been admitted once or twice before, weighs somewhere between 275

COADY UPSETS DOPE IN TAKING TROPICAL PARK FEATURE

Gelding, 22-1, Scores by A Head

Clean Play Is Nipped at Wire; Glenside Third.

Capsheaf Sets Track Record in Taking Baby Race.

TROPICAL PARK, Fla., March 15 (A.P.).—W. C. Weant's gelding Coady, after a string of indifferent performances, suddenly found his racing legs here today and got up to score a hair-raising victory in the South Miami Beach Claiming Purse of 1 mile. The son of Cherokee nipped Clean Play by a head on the wire, while Glenside took the short end of the purse a length and a half back. Coady returned $45.80 for $2 and ran the 8 furlongs in 1:39 2-5.

Buddy Ensor was trying for a double astride Clean Play, but his mount was not quite good enough. The big disappointment of the race was Scott Free, who carried the bulk of the play and finished fourth in the field of six. He was shut off at the first turn after breaking slowly and never was prominent in the running.

Clean Play, Glenside, Run Selves Into Defeat.

Clean Play and Glenside ran themselves into defeat by speeding along like a team to the stretch where their early efforts began to tell. Coady was rated close up and came around the field when called on rounding out of the backstretch. He first overtook Glenside and then wore down Clean Play in a bristling drive through the final straightaway.

Capsheaf, a C. V. Whitney colt, led home a large field of juveniles in the opening half-mile dash, the son of Blondin establishing a new track record of 0:48 flat. Favorite at $5.40 for $2, Capsheaf registered easily by a length and a half over Opinion. Strait Jacket got clear of early trouble to take third money, a like distance behind. Capsheaf outbroke his opposition and stole a wide lead, with Opinion always the chief threat. Golden Planet broke fast, but was knocked right out of contention.

Prince Hotspur Winner at Fair Grounds.

New Orleans, March 15 (A.P.).—Prince Hotspur, winner of only two races in eighteen starts, came through with a surprise victory in the Post Parade feature decided over 1 mile at the Fair Grounds today.

The 3-year-old son of Dunlin, carrying the silks of Joseph Leiter, closed strong in the stretch to defeat J. J. Robinson's Renaissance by a head. S. W. Labrot's Springsteel was third.

Princess Camella, a stablemate of the winner, finished among the also rans, but because of her presence in the race, the entry paid only $5.60 for $2. Prince Hotspur ran the 8 furlongs in the slow time of 1:40 1-5.

FRANC JEWELERS MEET.

The Franc Jewelers will meet next Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock at the Franc Jewelry Co., Seventh and G streets northwest, to organize for the coming baseball season. All candidates are urged to attend. R. J. Thring will pilot the nine this season.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—THE HEATHEN, $3.00, $2.70, $2.50; ZEGORA, $5.70, $3.40; DEDICATE, $3.00.

THE HEATHEN went to the front with a rush and drew away into a commanding lead, raced in hand to top of home stretch and responded with a game effort when challenged. ZEGORA gradually improved her position and was taken to the outside of leaders at top of home stretch. DEDICATE, in trouble and messed about on back stretch, slipped through next the rail rounding the far turn, but hung when put to a drive.

FOURTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:11. Off at 4:12. Winner, W. C. Weant's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—COADY, $45.80, $14.10, $5.90; CLEAN PLAY, $4.60, $4.10; GLENSIDE, $3.60.

COADY, taken in hand in early stages, was rated off the pace, moved up on outside rounding the far turn and, wearing CLEAN PLAY down, outgamed him at end. CLEAN PLAY had lot taken out of him racing GLENSIDE into submission and hung last sixteenth. GLENSIDE, a factor to stretch turn, hung when put to a drive. SCOT FREE broke very slowly. WESTKO quit.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:38. Off at 4:39½. Winner, H. C. Hatch's b. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MONTANARO, $6.60, $4.80, *$4.40; BOUNDING DEEP, $3.40, $2.70; BRAGGADOCIO, $4.50.

MONTANARO, off forwardly, was taken to the outside of leaders in run down the back stretch, went to the front at half-mile pole and raced in hand remainder of trip. BOUNDING DEEP, under restraint first half mile, moved up in resolute fashion when called on, but could never get to the leader. BRAGGADOCIO broke fast and raced forwardly all the way. ANGRY LASS closed strong.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $800; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won ridden out; place, easily. Went to post at 5:07. Off at 5:08½. Winner, C. Grayson's ch. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—EL PUMA, $24.20, $11.10, $5.50; CHIEF'S TROUBADOUR, $5.00, $3.80; PHANTOM ROCK, $4.50.

EL PUMA, taken back off the early pace, gradually improved his position after passing the half-mile pole, came through on inside entering home stretch and fought it out with CHIEF'S TROUBADOR all last furlong, but could not get up in time. PHANTOM ROCK lost ground by making wide turn into home stretch. He hung after making a bold effort at furlong pole. LINE OF FIRE broke rapidly, but dropped out of it after going half a mile.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHICSU, $4.50, $3.90, $3.10; CORBEAU, $11.10, $6.00; TACK, $3.20.

CHICSU, shuffled back at start, reached contending position entering back stretch, was rated close at far turn, moved into command when called on around bend and held on to gamely in final drive. CORBEAU broke well, but was outrun early. He closed rapidly after six furlongs and was wearing winner down. TACK, hampered at start, worked his way up gradually and was next best. MOROCCO closed ground in the final quarter. MY SIS quit.

—Tropical Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

TROPICAL PARK, Miami, Fla., March 15.—Two of the fastest sprinters ever to race over the new Tropical Park course—BACCIOCCO and TRAITOR—meet tomorrow in the fourth event at 5½ furlongs. BACCIOCCO is selected to win. In his last start, the H. Rossacher horse won at this distance in 1:05 3-5, showing a return to his best form. TRAITOR also won his last start, beating Fervid and other speedy ones.

These two horses are at equal weights, and it is believed the short route favors BACCIOCCO. Mills usually rides the latter. LADY LEGS, which won her recent start, will be close to the leaders.

FIRST RACE—WANDEROO, a C. V. Whitney juvenile, which in his last race ran third to Lady Sunbeam, beaten only a half-length for first money, may equal the track mark set today for a half-mile in 0:48 by his stablemate, Capsheaf. PANCOAST is rated the contender. WOCO should get third money.

SECOND RACE—Without the semblance of class, the second race may go to NARDO. ALLEUS ran well last week, first time out in Florida, finishing third to Move Along in a slow 6 furlongs, and may be the runner-up in this sprint. LADY ARA should get third money. NARDO ran with better ones, and was a close fourth to Black Watch.

THIRD RACE—CHILETTE, favorite Monday and beaten out a head by Parties, is selected. CHIEF'S CAMILLE is considered dangerous and should hold the place. She was second to Nonjoyce last week and will be a keen contender. Throw out HARUM SCARUM'S last effort, which was far below his real form, he should be in the money.

FIFTH RACE — O. A. Simmons' GRIFFIN, which beat Morocco, holder of a track record at Hialeah, only has to repeat that race to win the fifth. Mills will again ride GRIFFIN, insuring good handling. LAWYER has the edge on the others. He has won several races in competition with fair platers. OUR PAL won his last start and should be in the money in this race.

SIXTH RACE—SUN TEATIME gets the call. He won his last start easily against Lapidary. PREPARE is dangerous. In his last start he was third to Common. SPAN FAIR should hold the others safe. He was a close second to Bill Southam.

SEVENTH RACE—Four of the six horses in the seventh race won their last starts, and the other two were in the money. WAR SAINT, which won his last two races, is approaching top form and has speed at a distance. This race is a mile and a quarter, and all conditions suit him. FAIR BILL also was an easy winner a few days ago; should get the second award. BATTLING ON has a chance among these, as is shown by his last race, in which he finished second to Please.

TRADE GIVES DODGERS CHANCE, SAYS CAREY

erable Quinn. Hoyt and Watson Clark, the talented southpaw, should do heavy duty. "Pea Ridge" Day, the Arkansas hog caller, has shown good stuff. Fred Heimach, Hollis Thurston, Babe Phelps and Joe Shaute have experience; Krider, Mattingly, Gallivan, Jones, and Austin Moore show promise. Carey probably will split the difference in making his final choices.

Behind the bat, Lopez, the Tampa terror, will be assisted by Clyde Sukeforth, obtained from the Reds to replace Ernest Lombardi, as well as Val Picinich.

Lacking anything like speed, Brooklyn must rely on pitching, punch and a wholesale return to form among its veterans. Nearly all the club's outstanding stars last season went into a tailspin.

POJELLO AND GEORGE ON CARD

Bowser Stars Show at Bolling Field on Monday.

AFTER considerable dickering, Matchmaker Goldie Ahearn, of the Bolling Field Athletic Association, has lined up one of the best all-star wrestling shows ever offered locally for the Bolling Field Armory next Monday night.

Two more matches of exceptional merit will be closed today.

Due to the unusual expense contracted in closing this card ladies will not be admitted free of charge.

Reservations are being accepted today at Goldie Ahearn's, 500 Ninth street, or through Metropolitan 6367.

Clearwater, Fla., March 15 (U.P.).—Seven home runs were clouted today as the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Phillies, 9 to 8. Five of the long hits were made by the Phillies, Chuck Klein garnering two, and his teammates—Lee, Whitney and Bartell—accounting for the other three.

Hack Wilson batted the ball out of the park for the first of Brooklyn's two homers. The former Cub connected when the bases were loaded. Reis made the second Dodger homer. The game was decided in the eighth, when the Dodgers scored one run on an error by Bartell, with Slade's single. Clyde Sukeforth, new Dodger catcher, participated in the game.

Tampa, Fla., March 15 (U.P.).—Neither Ernie Lombardi nor Wally Gilbert, obtained from Brooklyn by trade yesterday, joined the Reds today, but word was received they would come over from Clearwater tonight. Both Sidney Weil, president, and Dan Howley, manager of the Reds, stated emphatically today that Babe Herman's release was not on the market and that they expect him to be Cincinnati's right fielder this year.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Tony Cuccinello, Brooklyn's new second baseman, who was born and raised at Long Island City, within a few miles of Ebbets Field, was so overjoyed at the news he had been secured from Cincinnati by the Dodgers he showed up at the Brooklyn office today and signed a contract. He had been a holdout with the Reds. Terms were not announced.

Cuccinello was obtained, along with Joe Stripp, third baseman, and Clyde Sukeforth, catcher, in a trade which sent Floyd (Babe) Herman, slugging outfielder; Ernest Lombardi, catcher, and Wally Gilbert, third baseman, to Cincinnati.

It has long been the little Italian's fond hope that some day he could play ball for his "home town" team. He was dissatisfied at Cincinnati and it was accepted as inevitable, when he balked at his contract this spring.

Three singles, a double by Eddie Moore and two walks accounted for the runs which tied and won the game.

Young Stanley Hack, Cubs' new third baseman, who a year ago was still a bank bookkeeper, got a double, two singles and a walk in five times up. Gabby Hartnett duplicated his feat of yesterday with a home run.

In the second round of an interservice bout Barrett spied an opening and let go with a mighty swing aimed at the chin of his opponent. Instead of his opponent kissing the canvas, Barrett did. He had thrown his shoulder out of joint and had to be carried from the ring.

SCIENTIFIC LEADERS URGED FOR FUTURE

John A. Reilly Says Bankers Now Must Be Men of Broad Knowledge.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The necessity for gradual development of scientific executives, due to the vastness of today's banking field and the increasing complexity of its problems, was described by Vice President John A. Reilly, Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., in a talk over Station WRC, yesterday, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club in its vocational guidance program.

The modern bank executive, he declared, should possess excellent judgment, imagination, common sense and breadth of mind, if he faithfully performs his daily duties. A lack of vision on the part of the banker is fatal. His hand is on the pulse of business all the time. The greatest reservoir of credit lies within the immediate control of banks.

Few vocations, he said, calls for more diversified knowledge than does that of a banker. It is therefore essential that the beginner in banking enhance his chances for promotion by definite training for future work. Some of his educational pursuits should embrace the following subjects: Money and banking, commercial law, accounting and business English. In his talk he outlined the functions of a bank and gave a brief summary of its various departments, including new business, statistical, analysis, general service, purchasing, trust, savings, bond and commercial units.

Wilfred Bancroft's Rise.

Wilfred Bancroft, who has just been elected treasurer of Lanston Monotype Machine Co. to succeed Joel G. Clemmer, who died last November, became interested in the company in 1897, when he was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and was employed as special apprentice in the shops of William Sellers & Co., Philadelphia.

Directors of American Security & Trust Co. declared yesterday the regular 3 per cent quarterly dividend, payable April 11, to stockholders of record at close of business March 31.

Whaling Industry Joins Heavy Gains for 1931

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—There were no wails in the whaling industry during 1931.

In its annual report Anglo-Norwegian Holdings, Ltd., of Montreal, states that the operating whaling companies controlled by it, increased their net profits 27 per cent for the year over those of 1930. The report was made public here today.

Among the prosperous returns noted were those of the Anglo-Norse Co., whose surplus, reserves and undivided profits amounted to $888,141 against $652,388 for 1930. The Falkland Whaling Co., with a capital of $730,000, had cash in hand before dividends amounting to $399,461 compared with $325,327 last year.

Other companies reported similar gains.

Wheat Import Quota Increased by France

Paris, March 15 (A.P.).—The Ministry of Agriculture today increased the amount of foreign wheat permitted to enter the country from 25 per cent to 30 per cent of the total amount used in bread making.

MATCH ISSUES END RUSH OF LIQUIDATION

Markets Regain Composure; Many Swedish Groups of Shares Advance.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—The storm of selling in the Swedish match issues in leading world securities markets subsided abruptly today.

With the passing of the first shock of the suicide of Ivar Krueger, famous Swedish capitalist, markets generally regained their composure. Many of the Swedish match group of securities actually recovered part of yesterday's drastic declines, in New York, London, Paris, Berlin and other markets.

In the New York market, Eastman Kodak, which declined late yesterday at the first word of the death of George Eastman, showed no further response to the news of the death of its founder. Mr. Eastman had withdrawn some time ago from active management of the company, and his personal holdings had been reduced to only 17,000 shares. The stock closed at $75.37, up 2 cents, after selling up to $76.50.

Kreuger & Toll advanced 37 cents to $2.50 in New York, then lost its gain, ending the day unchanged. The turnover was approximately 240,000 certificates, against 270,000. International Match preferred closed at $13, up 62 cents, after advancing to $13.75.

Kreuger & Toll and International Match bonds also made moderate gains, while the Swedish crown strengthened in the foreign exchange market.

France Holds Large Block of Match Stock

Paris, March 15 (A.P.).—Stock in the Kreuger & Toll Co., one of the enterprises of Paul Kreuger, Swedish "match king," who committed suicide here last week, was stronger today on the Paris bourse.

The quotation at the close was 61 and the high during the day was 65. Yesterday the stock was at 50.

The financial newspaper L'Information estimated that the total French capital invested in all Kreuger enterprises was $74,000,000.

The Agence Economique Financiere made public an estimate that banks had invested only $4,000,000 of this amount and that the rest was scattered among the public.

OIL QUOTATIONS.

THE MARKETS AT A GLANCE

STOCKS regained their bearings after Monday's hectic trading and recovered most of the lost ground. A boost in steel prices was partially offset by bearish talk of February rail earnings. Kreuger issues recovered slightly.

BONDS were irratic and fractionally lower, with the U. S. Government's sagging a bit with the list.

CURB stocks and bonds were heavy. The market is awaiting a sign.

WHEAT regained the ground lost in Monday's high-pressure selling, principally on crop damage reports from the Southwest.

WALL STREET SEES FINISHED STEEL RISE

Trade Said to Have Planned Price Boost for Weeks; $2 Gain Expected.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Apparently well-authenticated reports in Wall street say that finished steel prices in all districts will be advanced $2 a ton on April 1.

The Inland Steel Co., at Chicago, has taken the lead in the upward revision, announcing today a raise of that amount on steel-sheet quotations for the second quarter.

It was stated that inquiry among the large producers brought forth the information that the industry as a whole is committed to the increase and that it will include sheets and bars, representing about half of the industry's total tonnage of finished products and may include most other finished items.

It was also said that producers feel that the projected rise may have helpful effects in breaking down the price cutting that has been waged in the industry since last November.

The trade has been working toward a price increase for several weeks, and the beginning of the general upward revision today was the most hopeful news which has come from the steel centers in many months.

Prices have been demoralized for several months by severe competition to keep plants running, and little business has shown any profit.

With the slight spring upturn in demand which began to be felt at Youngstown two weeks ago a determined effort apparently was launched by the big producers to firm the price base.

This in itself will stimulate business, say some of the leaders in the industry, for the recently declining scale of prices has worked against all large orders for future needs. Instead, all buyers have been operating on a hand-to-mouth basis.

Cleveland Banker Notes Recovery

Cleveland, Ohio, March 15 (A.P.).—Business conditions are better in March than they were in December, January or February, says Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co. and nationally known economist.

"This," adds Col. Ayres, "despite the fact business activity is not greater now than it was then. The improvement," he explains, "is in the fundamentals rather than on the surface. It is present in fact, even though it is to but a slight degree reflected in the figures.

"In recent weeks there has been a long series of developments that are either directly conducive to business improvement or are safeguards against continued decline. Even a partial list of them makes an impressive array. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is in effective operation, and has made a considerable number of loans to railroad and to financial institutions. The Glass-Steagall bill has fortified this work everywhere."

GOLD MOVEMENT.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Today's gold transactions involved an increase of $189,800 in the country's monetary stock.

There was a shipment to France of $12,500,000, the first to that country in a fortnight or more. A shipment of $10,000,000 to the Philippines also was reported.

These exports were more than offset by a decrease of $12,700,000 in the earmark account.

STOCKS CUT LOSSES WITH A FINAL RALLY

Prices About Unchanged; Bond Trend Is Down; Curb Is Heavy.

What the Stock Market Did	Tues.	Mon.
Number of advances	146	68
Number of declines	284	419
Stocks unchanged	149	111
Total issues traded	579	598

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Selling pressure relaxed in the stock market today, but there was insufficient buying power to give much tone to the late recovery which reduced or eliminated earlier losses.

Gains and losses were so evenly distributed at the close that the final standard statistics-Associated Press composite was about unchanged. Nevertheless, fractional declines prevailed in a representative list of leading industrials. Rails were frankly heavy most of the day, but steadied toward the end. Total turnover dropped to 1,471,420 shares.

Neither foreign nor domestic markets appeared to be further concerned over the Kreuger death. The firmer tone of London, Paris and Berlin security exchanges stimulated enough repurchases by shorts to give local prices a fair lift during the morning, but this recovery was undermined by recurrence of selling in carrier stocks which dragged downward until the last hour.

Chesapeake & Ohio made a new low for the year and, with Santa Fe, was off nearly 2 points net. Missouri Pacific preferred and Chesapeake Corporation were also soggy.

Union Pacific was erratic, but finished fractionally higher. Canadian Pacific, an exception in its group, rallied 1⅝.

Eastman Kodak held firm.

Federal Loans Sag.

The United States Government group, for some weeks the leader in improved investment sentiment, finally joined the sagging movement, and losses of fractions to nearly a point were recorded by all of these loans except Treasury 4¼s, which closed slightly higher.

Issues of the Kreuger companies rallied substantially at one time, but were unable to retain much of their recovery. Kreuger & Toll and International Match liens finished between 1½ and 2 points higher.

The railways again proved discouraging to the followers of this department. A few half-hearted attempts to rally some of these mortgages made but little headway.

Sales totaled $10,150,000, slightly higher than those of yesterday.

Curb Market Heavy.

The curb market developed a slightly heavy tone in the afternoon trading after holding fairly steady during the forepart of the session.

The pace of trading slackened, however, and the heaviness appeared to be largely in sympathy with the big board. The turnover was, roughly, 180,000 shares, off 20,000 from yesterday.

Reports from Chicago say that the Inland Steel Co. has formally announced second-quarter sheet-steel prices which show an advance of $2 a ton on the average.

Bankers' acceptances outstanding on February 29 aggregated $919,381,880, a decrease of $41,674,522 from January 31 and the lowest volume since September 30, 1927, the American Acceptance Council announced today. The present volume is less by $600,465,604 than the amount outstanding at the end of February, 1931.

Postal Savings had 1931 net profit of $621,923, equal to $3.81 a common share, compared with $671,702, or $4.12 a share in 1930.

BUSINESS INCREASED BY NEW YORK LIFE

Insurance Company Reports $21,944,989 Added to Total Income.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—Despite the economic stresses of 1931, Thomas A. Buckner, president of the New York Life Insurance Co., today informed policy holders that, circumstances considered, the year was a very satisfactory one for the company.

During the year, Mr. Buckner stated in his annual report, the company's assets were increased by more than $101,000,000 while the gain in total income was $21,944,989. There are now, he said, approximately 2,000,000 policy holders insured for a total of more than $7,650,000,000.

The report showed the company's assets on December 31 last aggregated $1,890,144,880 and its liabilities $1,770,472,137. President Buckner stated that all securities listed among the assets were valued as of market quotations on December 31, instead of June 31, 1931, as permitted by the national convention of insurance commissioners.

The report expressed optimism regarding the future outlook for the railroads and called attention to the fact that the "amount of the company's railroad bonds in default of interest is so small that it is of no material consequence."

In conclusion Mr. Buckner expressed disapproval of "excessive taxes" imposed on life insurance savings. The company's reserve of $6,463,925 for taxes, he said, is equal to more than 10 per cent of the policy holders' 1932 dividends.

New life insurance production in February was 8.6 per cent less than in February, 1931, and the aggregate for the first two months of the year was 1.2 per cent below that for the same period last year, it was announced today by the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

For the two months' period the total was $1,778,172,000, contrasted with $1,800,272,000 last year.

Hoover Orders Inquiry On 6-Hour-Day Problem

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday signed a resolution authorizing the Interstate Commerce Commission to conduct an investigation as to the possibility of establishing a 6-hour day for railway employes.

Stockholm Exchange To Reopen March 21

Stockholm, March 15 (A.P.).—The Stockholm Stock Exchange, closed Saturday because of the death of Ivar Kreuger, will reopen on March 21, it was announced today through the Swedish News Exchange.

EMPIRE TRUST CUTS QUARTERLY DIVIDEND

Wall Street Briefs Record Slash as Fourth in Banking Circles.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—The Empire Trust Co. of New York today declared a quarterly dividend of 50 cents, placing the stock on $2 annual basis, compared with $3.20 previously. The dividend is payable April 1 to stock of record March 19.

This is the fourth important New York bank to lower its dividend rate this year, the previous reductions being the National City Bank, Chase National and the Manhattan Co.

Chase Reduces Wages.

Employes as well as stockholders of Chase National Bank of New York, on next April 1, will be asked to take a cut in their regular stipend received from the bank. The bank announced today that a salary reduction affecting all officers and clerical staffs would go into effect on that day "coincident with the return of the stock of the bank to a 15 per cent annual dividend basis." The new dividend rate is $3 annually against $4 paid last year.

Over the pay-cut plan, employes receiving less than $1,200 a year will not be affected. Employes receiving from $1,200 to $5,000 will be reduced 5 per cent in pay, and all employes and officers receiving over $5,000 will be cut 5 per cent up to that amount and 10 per cent on any amount received in excess of the $5,000 figure.

Revenue freight loadings for the week ended March 5 were announced today by the American Railway Association as totaling 559,439 cars, an increase of 23,941 cars above the preceding week, but 163,776 below the corresponding week in 1931.

COTTON STAGES GAIN AFTER AN EARLY LOSS

May Contracts Lead Advance to 6.90; Liverpool Hit by Liquidation.

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—After holding fairly steady during the morning, cotton eased off following declines in wheat, but firmed up again in the late trading on a renewal of trade buying and covering.

May contracts which had sold down to 6.81 closed at 6.90, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 1 to 5 points.

The market weakened during the early afternoon in sympathy with weakness in wheat and a reactionary tone in the stock market, but lower prices seemed to attract an increased demand from the trade, causing a general rally.

All active positions sold at new highs for the day on this late advance, with October selling at 7.29, or about 9 points up from the lowest. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

A private report estimated ginnings for the season at 16,461,454 bales and stated that a partial survey of planting intentions pointed to a decrease of about 12 per cent in acreage.

The New York Cotton Exchange service placed the world's consumption of American cotton for the first half of the season at 6,150,000 bales, or 153,000 bales above their preliminary estimate.

Liverpool cables reported local and foreign liquidation with a poor offtake in that market, but said the British home trade in cotton cloth was good with yarns improving.

Exports today were 22,639 bales, making 6,383,367 so far this season.

2d Quarter Trade To Be Under 1931

Forecast Is Based on Car Loadings Estimate in Ohio Valley.

Columbus, Ohio, March 15 (A.P.).—Business conditions for the second quarter of 1932 will be slightly under those for the corresponding period of 1931, according to estimated car loadings for the Ohio Valley district, made here today at a meeting of the Ohio Valley Shippers Advisory Board.

The estimate for coal and coke loadings disclosed that a 7 per cent decrease for the next quarter is anticipated. It was estimated 512,000 cars will be needed for these products.

Following are some of the estimates on car loadings for the next quarter, as compared with the same period in 1931: Grain, 20 per cent decrease; flour mill products, 20 per cent decrease; fruits and vegetables, 20 per cent; live stock, 10 per cent; gravel, sand and stone, 5 per cent increase; lumber, 5 per cent increase; petroleum, 11 per cent decrease; iron and steel, 12 per cent decrease; cement, 11 per cent decrease; brick and clay products, 18 per cent decrease; automobiles, 10 per cent decrease.

Butter Registers New Low Record

Chicago, March 15 (A.P.).—Storage standard butter for delivery next November opened trading today on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange at the lowest price ever recorded for that option since the exchange was organized. The first sale was at 20½ cents a pound and the market later broke to 20 cents.

Last year initial dealings in the November delivery were at 30 cents a pound and the lowest price reached during 1931 was 23⅞ cents, in April.

Today's prices represented a loss of nearly $2,000 a carload, compared with a year ago.

A shortage of butter holdings exists now, compared with last year and the five-year average holdings, but forecasts indicate possibilities of extremely heavy production in the next few months.

This, combined with the present economic conditions, made traders pessimistic.

NEW EXPORT TRADE RULES GRAIN PRICE

Crop Damage in Kansas Helps Advance, Which Recovers Early Loss.

Chicago, March 15 (A.P.).—Somersaulting backward almost 2 cents a bushel from early advances today, wheat made a vigorous, late upturn, and finished with losses about overcome.

Weakness of securities was largely responsible for the temporary setback, but brisk export demand had a tonic effect, purchases from Canada and the United States being estimated as high as 2,500,000 bushels.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅜ cents lower, corn at a shade decline to ¼ cent advance, oats ⅛ cent off to ⅛ up, and provisions varying from 10 cents down to 2 cents advance.

Giving fresh buoyancy to the wheat market was word that France had increased her import quota 5 per cent, making the total now 30 per cent.

Another stimulating factor was that North American wheat export business included about 500,000 bushels of hard winter wheat from the United States. It was asserted that this grain brought the Chicago May price, f. o. b. the Atlantic.

Unfavorable official crop reports from the Western third of Kansas, together with adverse unofficial advices relative to prospects from Dodge City, Kans., to Dalhart, Tex., also were an incentive to buyers.

Baltimore Announces South American Line

Baltimore, March 15.—Steamship service between Baltimore and the west coast of South America will be resumed for the first time since 1925 with the sailing of the Quaker Line steamer Clemente for Cristobal on March 21. Regular sailings every fourteen days will be maintained.

At the same time, Baltimore's shipping service to the West Coast of the United States will be increased to nine, as the Quaker Line will ply to San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Portland, Seattle and Tacoma.

The eight intercoastal lines serving Baltimore at present have refused to accept cargo for the Canal Zone and Baltimore shippers, who have been compelled to route the Canal Zone traffic through other ports, have been requesting such a service for years.

In addition to the service to Cristobal, which will make possible transshipment to west coast South American ports from Baltimore, the Quaker Line will offer a service to Boston and Albany.

U. S. Exports of Grain Drop 190,000 Bushels

(Associated Press.)

Grain exports last week from the United States amounted to 821,000 bushels against 1,011,000 bushels the previous week, and 424,000 bushels during the corresponding week of last year.

Commerce Department figures yesterday gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those of the week before: Wheat, 726,000 bushels against 945,000; barley, 72,000, against none; corn, 16,000, against 50,000; oats, 7,000, against 11,000; rye, none, against 5,000. Canadian grains exported last week from United States ports amounted to 628,000 bushels against 1,014,000 bushels the previous week while exports of North American wheat flour were 149,000 barrels, against 130,000 barrels.

Banks Agree to Carry Federal Water Loans

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—The present management will continue in control of the Federal Water Service Company, as a result of the decision of the Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co. to carry the company's $4,400,000 bank loan, now on a demand basis, for not less than three years, it was announced today.

The agreement provides that through an exchange of securities with the Central Hanover and the Chase National Bank, the reorganized Federal Water Service Company is to acquire approximately $4,500,000 of dedentures and notes of the Southern Natural Gas Corporation. C. T. Chenery, president of the Federal Company, announced today that there will be a new and independent board of directors of the Federal Company.

Fox Sued for $692,821 By Two Stockholders

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—William Fox, theater owner, was named defendant in a suit for $692,821.50 filed in supreme court today by Louis and Morris Golde, stockholders in Fox Theater Corporation.

The Goldes charge Fox falsely told them that the United States Attorney General had sanctioned a proposal to combine the corporation with Lowe's & Fox Film, Inc., and that as a result they bought 2,000 additional shares in the open market for $51,137.50. Before Mr. Fox told them of the proposed merger, they said, they had planned to sell the 22,000 shares they already held.

A motion to examine Mr. Fox before trial will be argued tomorrow.

Pacific Gas Reports Larger Net for 1931

New York, March 15 (A.P.).—The Pacific Gas and Electric Co., in its preliminary report for 1931, issued today, shows gains in net income as well as in gross revenues and total assets.

Net income of $24,792,382 was equal to $2.79 a share on 6,905,659 average shares outstanding during the year. This compares with net income of 1930 of $21,404,141, equal to $3.07 a share on a smaller number of shares.

Standard Oil Boosts Gasolene Quotations

Cleveland, Ohio, March 15 (A.P.).—An increase of half a cent a gallon in the retail price of gasoline in Cleveland was announced today by the Standard Oil Co.

The new prices, effective at midnight tonight, will range from 14½ to 19½ cents.

The Boston Edison Co. will endeavor to finance itself this year through the medium of new stock, shareholders were informed at the annual meeting today. The company has obligations amounting to about $70,000,000, maturing in the fall and winter. The management is said to contemplate rights for the stockholders.

Certain interests in Wall Street have in the past turned out some accurate forecasts of General Motors' quarterly earnings, based on the monthly sales figures. It is said that such interests, after analyzing sales for January and February, tentatively estimate first quarter earnings at about 30 cents a share. This would compare with 61 cents a share earned in the March quarter last year.

Swedish Money Gains 25 Points on Market

The Norwegian rate rose a few points and then fell back to the previous close. The Danish quotation crossed 20 cents, closing at 9.94, up 5 points.

Sterling and the French franc were steady in common with other European currencies. The Japanese yen strengthened on reports that the present government might be replaced by one opposed to inflation and favorable to peace in China.

London cables closed at $3.63, up ¼ cent.

PROPOSALS

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF the Supervising Architect, Washington, D. C., March 14, 1932.—Sealed bids, in duplicate, subject to the conditions contained herein, will be publicly opened in this office at 3 p. m., APRIL 15, 1932, for furnishing the materials and performing the work required for installing a complete elevator plant in the U. S. Post-office, extension, remodeling and enlargement, at Washington, D. C. All prospective bidders are hereby notified that, prior to the award of the contract, the right is reserved by the supervising architect to require any or all bidders to submit a "statement of facts as to qualifications to furnish elevators in strict accordance with the specifications" in detail of such data as may be required, including the business and technical organization of the bidder available for the contemplated work, financial resources, building experience, material proposed to be used, &c. The United States expressly reserves the right to reject any bid in which the facts as to business and technical organization, financial resources of building experience compared with the project bid upon, justify such rejection. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a performance bond of 50% of the contract price. The prevailing rate of wage shall be paid all laborers and mechanics employed on the project as provided in the Act of March 3, 1931 (Public No. 798). Drawings and specifications may be obtained from this office. JAS. A. WETMORE, Acting Supervising Architect. 16.18.21

When Washington Was Younger—No. 223

FEW persons will recognize this scene, photographed in 1865, as one of the busiest downtown intersections of today. At first glance it might be taken for the main street of a small town, but ask any old-timer and he will tell you that it is the intersection of Fifteenth and F streets northwest.

On the extreme right may be seen the headquarters of the United States Sanitary Commission, which was razed long ago to make way for the Washington Hotel, Lowdermilk's Book Shop now stands on the site of one of the adjacent buildings.

Traffic problems in those days were unheard of. In contrast to present-day scenes, one may perceive faithful Dobbin patiently waiting for his master to return. What a difference that unpaved street would make in the 4:30 rush hour of today!

A NEW FIELD OPENS.

Monday morning we will start in cooperation with the General Electric Co. a campaign to establish marketing methods for a new and different General Electric product, the new FLAT PLATE IRONER.

Three men will be selected for this work—men who are looking for a brand-new field with real opportunity and are willing to study and work to realize it.

Those selected will be given a thorough training under the personal supervision of an expert in this new line.

Please call Wednesday morning. NATIONAL ELECTRICAL SUPPLY CO., 4th floor, 1330 New York ave. nw. Ask for Mr. Pohlmann.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE GREAT BOX OFFICE ROBBERY.

("New York Theater Box Office Robbed."—Headline.)

"YES, it was the toughest experience I ever had," said the bandit in a confession to the police. "Still, when a man goes up against those box office guys he's got to expect the worst.

• • • •

"I dunno what ever gave me the nerve to rob a box office, anyhow. I must have been crazy. Anyhow, I went there, pushed my pistol into the window and waited for the ticket seller to notice me. Well, he ignored me completely. I stood there for what seemed hours before he paid any attention to me. You know how it is.

• • • •

"Finally I had to attract his attention by firing a couple shots. Even then he was pretty reluctant to ask what I wanted. Then, before I could say a word, he piped in one of those box office voices: 'All I can give you is a couple in the last row. They're not together, but they're good seats.'

"'I didn't come here for any good seats,' I told him.

• • • •

"Then I saw I had to do something drastic. So I fired another shot at him and shoved my head clear through the box office window and said, 'I guess you don't know who I am.'

"'Sure, I do,' he said. 'You're Walter Winchell.'

"'No, I'm not,' I told him.

"'Sobol?' he said next.

"'Wrong again,' I told him.

"'Oh, I know now,' he said, looking very mean. 'You're Congressman Sirovich.'

"'You're not even warm,' I told him, but by that time I realized that box-office men were even tougher than I had thought, and so I knew I had to do something desperate to get any satisfaction. So I pulled out a second pistol!

• • • •

"WELL, he didn't bat an eye. All he did was give me a hard look and demand that I tell him who I was. I said, 'I'm a bandit,' and he said, 'I can't help it. And no matter who you are, there aren't any seats closer to the stage than the last row. Why don't you try the speculators?'

• • • •

"That was more than I could stand, and so I let go at him with both guns."

"Did you hit him?" asked a listener.

"How did you get the thousand dollars the papers say you got?"

"That's where the sad part comes in. He handed the money to me but when I got home I found they were fake bills!"

• • • •

JUST A SUGGESTION.

FRANCE has restored an embargo on American fruits. Appeals have been made to Washington. Possibly something could be accomplished if the State Department would warn France that an apple a day keeps the debt collector away.

• • • •

• • • •

Mr. Alfred E. Smith announced some weeks ago that he was not in the race for the Presidential nomination, and now that the returns from New Hampshire are in he must feel more positive of it than ever.

• • • •

Add similes: As self conscious as a radio announcer smoking a cigarette while working on a cigar program.

• • • •

Plane Lands First Time Inside Active Volcano

Seattle, Wash., March 15 (A.P.).—A special dispatch to the Times today from Anchorage, Alaska, said Pilot Frank Dorbandt and two companions, braving deadly gases, landed their plane yesterday inside Aniakchak Volcano. It was the first time in history, it was believed, a plane has been set down inside an active crater.

Dorbandt was returning from an 1,800-mile fur buying trip over the Alaska Peninsula and the Aleutian Islands. His companions were George Emery, of Seattle, and George Johnson, Anchorage photographer.

EPISODE 15
COUNT CORBEAU SEEMED TO RESENT THE IDEA OF VANESKA, THE DANCER, SITTING AT ANY TABLE BUT HIS NOW, NOW, COUNT, DON'T BE LIKE THAT!
THE ONE YOU CALL "PEEG" IS A VAUDEVILLE HEADLINER, AND THE OTHER IS THE FAMOUS PAINTER, WARREN WRIGHT. OF COURSE YOU'VE HEARD OF HIM!
NON, I DON'T TEENK SO!
C'GARS - CIGARETTES!
HELLO, CHERI. I NEVAIR SAW YOU HERE BEFORE!
ALTHO QUITE SMITTEN WITH THE CHARMS OF VANESKA, THE COUNT WAS NEVER ONE TO IGNORE A PRETTY FACE
CERTAINMENT, I BUY ZE CIGARETTE, - OUI, OUI! AT LEAST FOUR PACKAGE FROM YOU, CHERI!
I SAT AT HIS TABLE ONE NIGHT! HE THINKS HE IS ABSOLUTELY IRRESISTIBLE, THE POOR GOOF!!
MEANWHILE WARREN WRIGHT, THE ARTIST, DECIDED THAT IT WAS TIME FOR HIM TO LEAVE THE "CLUB CERISE"
I'VE GOT A FULL DAY TO-MORROW, BOB! I THINK I HAD BETTER GO!
LISTEN, KID, WAIT A MINUTE; YOU MAY GET AN ORDER FOR A PORTRAIT!
SEE WHAT HAPPENS NOW!!

BUCK ROGERS, 2432 A. D. Buck Takes Chance More strange adventures in a full color page every Sunday. By Phil Nowlan and Dick Calkins

WITH KILLER KANE AS HEAD MAN, I KNEW WE HAD A REAL REVOLUTION ON OUR HANDS - UNDER FULL ROCKET BLAST I FLASHED FOR THE SIXTH MOON AND HUER'S CAPITAL. NOT UNTIL THE LAST MOMENT DID I SWING THE LITTLE SPINNER SHIP END OVER TO USE ITS MAXIMUM ROCKET POWER TO RETARD OUR SPEED.
IN THE CONTROL CABIN WE CLUNG DIZZILY TO THE MACHINERY.
B-BUT YOU'RE NOT HEADING FOR THE POLAR TUNNEL!
NO! REVERSE THOSE SPINNER ROCKETS! I'M GOING TO LAND AT THE PALACE!
DOWN WE CAME LIKE A COMET— ENGULFED IN OUR OWN ROCKET EXHAUST!
KAXLA WAS TERRIFIED.
OH BUCK! WE'LL ROAST FROM THE HEAT OF THE ROCKET GASES!

I'D LIKE TO LIGHT UP SOME REAL TOBACCO IN THIS GOOD OLD PIPE.
AND THEN GIVE IT TO WASH FOR A PRESENT! AIN'TCHA GOT ANY SENSE? PUT THAT DOWN!
(Copyright, 1932, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
OH NO! T'WOULDN'T HURT IF HE DID LIGHT UP ONE!... A PIPE IS NO GOOD TILL IT'S BROKE IN; HEARD WASH SAY SO!
WELL THEN..... IF THAT'S THE WAY HE LIKES 'EM..... LET'S BREAK 'EM IN, AND HAVE 'EM READY FOR 'IM...

ALL AUSTRALIA IS CELEBRATING HIS SAFE RETURN—AND WHAT A HIT IT MADE WITH MILLIE'S MOTHER WHEN BIM'S VALET AND CHAUFFEUR MET THEM AT THE DOCK— AND KIND OLD BIM SAW THAT SHE WAS WELL CARED FOR— AND CASHED HER CHECK FOR FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS—
3-16
IT WILL BE A BUSY GRIND FOR BIM FROM NOW ON— GETTING THINGS BACK IN SHAPE— FIRST THE BARBER—
WELL— WE CERTAINLY MISSED YOU, MR. GUMP— AND WE'RE GLAD YOU'RE HOME ALIVE—
THEN HIS TAILOR— AND THE HATTER— ALL OF HIS WARDROBE WAS LOST ON THAT ILL-FATED VESSEL—
FLAGS - CROWDS - EVERYWHERE BIM GOES—
HURRAH FOR BIM GUMP-
THEN DOWN TO HARD WORK— THE MEETING WITH HIS TRUSTED AIDS—
SHALL WE GO AHEAD WITH THE PLANS?
CALL THE CONFERENCE AT ONCE— AND START THE EXTENSION NOW— WHEN LABOR IS WILLING— AND WE HAVE THE MONEY— THERE IS BUT ONE ANSWER— LET'S GO!
